PRESIDENT WILL FACE CONGRESS WITH ARMS PLEA

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—President Roosevelt hinted today that he may suggest outright repeal of the neutrality act when he addresses the special session of congress, opening Thursday.

Asked at his press conference if he might abandon his original proposal to repeal the embargo on arms to belligerent nations, in favor of a proposition to wipe out all neutrality law, thus returning the United States to a status under the principles of international law, the President hesitated and then advised correspondents to wait until they read his message.

Sources close to the White House have indicated that a return to international law is desired by the administration.

Would Nullify Loan Ban.

This would permit the sale of munitions to Great Britain and France and also permit those countries to obtain credit for their purchases in circumvention of the Johnson act, which prohibits loans to war debtor nations.

If the neutrality act were repealed American vessels could transport war munitions and the purchasing nations could make their own credit arrangements with American manufacturers.

The senate group headed by Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] has announced its intention of battling outright repeal of the act with as much vigor as in opposition to repeal of the arms embargo.

[Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential candidate in 1936, and a number of western senators and congressmen passed through Chicago yesterday en route to the capital. Details of their neutrality views may be found on page 17.]

Address Set for 2 P. M.

The President will appear in person before a joint session of the two houses when the special session opens, the White House announced.

The time of the President's appearance was tentatively set for 2 p. m., Chicago time, it being necessary for the senate and house first to adopt a resolution calling for the joint session.

The President was assured by Speaker William B. Bankhead and Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley that congress, assembling at noon, can complete its organization quickly and pass the resolution.

Mr. Roosevelt started writing his message this afternoon. It will deal exclusively with the neutrality issue, he said.

Funds Await Regular Session.

The President will not include recommendations for appropriations to carry out expansion of the army, navy, marine corps and coast guard, which he has ordered under authority of a proclamation of "national emergency," it was indicated. The regular session beginning next January is expected to supply these funds.

The President has no further plans at present for expansion of the nation's armed forces, he declared. Future action rests in the lap of the gods, he remarked.

The President would not comment on Adolf Hitler's Danzig speech. He started to listen to it, but was interrupted by the arrival of callers.

Messages Deluge Lawmakers.

Senator Borah has received 8,000 letters, 3,000 telegrams and 2,000 postcards thus far, his office reported, with 98 per cent of the senders indorsing his stand.

This monumental mail was having an appreciable influence upon those congressmen who have declared in favor of the President's contention that the United States must be permitted to sell arms and munitions to Great Britain and France. Administration spokesmen were modifying their assertions that only 27 senators are opposed to repeal of the arms embargo.

There was much speculation concerning the outcome of the White House conference tomorrow at which the neutrality question will be discussed by the President, nine other Democrats and six Republicans.

Threatened by Slot Machine Toughs, Says Tavern Owner

A tale of intimidation by slot machine syndicate hoodlums was told yesterday by a suburban tavernkeeper called before the state liquor commission to show cause why he should not be denied a license. It was the first time the inside story of the slot machine syndicate's grip on taverns had been told under oath.

Attorney General John E. Cassidy had objected to renewal of the licenses of some 20 on the ground that the taverns operated slot machines. He presented evidence to show that the state highway police had raided taverns in Cook county on Aug. 23 and seized 110 machines. The state police were assigned to the task after the attorney general received reports that the Cook county sherif's office was ignoring slot machine gambling.

Threats of Harm Disclosed.

The principal witness yesterday was Forrest Walbaum, who operates the Shady Oaks resort in the portion of Elgin lying within Cook county. He testified that two men known to him as Nick and Jimmy had put three slot machines in his place after two other men had threatened him with harm unless he consented.

The machines remained for six months, Walbaum said. He added that he was given from $15 to $20 each time the machines were opened [about three times a week] and said this was supposed to represent 40 per cent of the profits.

Tells of Deputies' Visits.

Cook county deputy sherifs were frequently in the place, the witness asserted, and saw the machines being patronized, but did not interfere.

"Did you feel that some mysterious force would harm you or your family if you refused to let the men put the slot machines in?" asked Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the liquor commission.

"Yes," replied Walbaum, who was testifying under the guidance of his attorney, Charles G. Seidel of Elgin. "I have a wife and a little boy 9 years old. Until Aug. 22 we lived at the tavern. One of my neighbors had a bomb thrown through his window. I had no desire to have the machines in my place.

Machines Are Installed.

"Last spring two rough looking men called on me two or three times and asked me if I was going to play ball with them—would I put the machines in or not. I told them I didn't know. After the last time, Jimmy and Nick appeared with the machines."

"What arrangement was made about your share?" asked Joseph Londrigan, assistant attorney general, who had presented evidence in a score of other slot machine cases during the day.

"I was to get 40 per cent, but I never knew whether I got it or not."

Testifies of His Fears.

"Yes," the tavernkeeper answered. "I was afraid, and I let them go on their own way. I didn't want anything to happen to my family. I told my customers many times I didn't want the machines and wished they were out.

"Deputy sherifs were in often enough and they knew the machines were there."

"Do you feel sure that the sherif of Cook county, through his deputies, absolutely knew you had slot machines operating on the premises?" Smith asked.

"Well, his men were in often enough, and the machines were in plain sight," Walbaum answered.

"Would any one coming in the place be able to see the machines?" asked Londrigan. The witness replied that they would.

[A list of tavern owners other than Walbaum who were cited for slot machine violations will be found on page 19.]

Sherif "Not In"

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE made an effort yesterday to reach Sherif Thomas J. O'Brien to ask him about the charge that his deputies had visited a Cook county tavern where slot machines were operated and had done nothing about it. The sherif was not in.

9 WOMEN, 3 MEN ON JURY; ALL MAD

Panel Dog Tired, Unable to Reach Verdict.

BY MARCIA WINN.

It was not merely men against women, or women against men. It was also, and especially, women against women in the sad, indecisive battle that ended yesterday in the Criminal court.

The first women to be locked up overnight for jury service in Cook county concluded their deliberations at 2:30 p. m., almost 24 hours after they began. With them were three men. They emerged into the courtroom of Judge Benjamin P. Epstein tired, worn, and speaking neither to one another nor to the men. They also emerged without a verdict.

The case they were hearing was a comparatively minor one. Isador Starkman, 45 years old, owner of a junk yard at 1154 Hastings street, was accused of receiving stolen property. He now will have a retrial, with 12 jurors hearing the case at $5 a day apiece.

The Judge Waits.

The case went to the jury late Monday. Judge Epstein waited and waited for a decision, but it didn't come. At 10 p. m. the jury was locked up for the night and the jurors' families were notified, much to the chagrin of husbands such as Harry Paul, 909 Wilson avenue, who said indignantly: "Women don't belong on juries. They can't deliberate. Give them a good looking lawyer, and that's all you need!"

Again yesterday morning Judge Epstein waited and waited. Finally he summoned the jury and asked for the foreman. It turned out to be a forelady, Mrs. Lillian Ferrante, 29, of 7711 Greenwood avenue, who, despite the bright blue and chartreuse feathers that shot into the air from her black hat, drooped miserably.

Something to Cherish.

There was no likelihood, she told the court, of reaching a verdict soon. Judge Epstein looked at the crestfallen group, each edging away from the other, and tried to cheer its members. A conscientious difference of

KAUNAS INVITED TO RETAKE CITY SEIZED BY POLES

Red Navy Blockades Estonian Coast.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Sept. 19.—Soviet Russia and Germany today were reported to have offered to share their conquest of Poland with little Lithuania, from whom Poland seized territory by force of arms in 1920.

The Reds and the Nazis were said to have invited the Lithuanian army to occupy Vilna [Wilno], the historic Lithuanian capital. After the conquest of this city and surrounding areas in 1920 an unofficial state of war existed between Lithuania and Poland until last year, when Poland, again by force of arms, compelled the Liths to recognize the territory as Polish.

Made to Lith Commander.

Gen. Stasys Rastikis, Lithuanian commander in chief, returned today to Kaunas, present capital of Lithuania, from Germany, where the high command of the German army was reported to have told him to occupy Vilna.

Soviet military attachés were said to have confirmed the German suggestion, telling Rastikis, to "come and get it."

Soviet troops which had occupied Vilna were reported to have withdrawn in order to permit the Lithuanians to march in. Whether or not the Lithuanians will send their forces into the city is expected to be decided upon by officials in Kaunas by tomorrow.

Slovakia Gets a Slice.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Slovakia, protectorate of Germany, which served as a base for Nazi troops advancing into southern Poland and which allowed Slovak volunteers to join the German army, is being rewarded for its coöperation. Germans declare Slovakia will be permitted to retain a strip of southern Polish territory bordering Slovakia which their volunteers occupied. The strip has a population of between 30,000 and 40,000 inhabitants.

REDS BLOCKADE ESTONIA

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Sept. 19 (AP).—Reports reaching here from Tallinn, Estonia, tonight said the soviet navy had blockaded Estonia's coast.

The reports said the harbor of Tallinn was under particular surveillance and that no ships were allowed to enter or leave.

The action was assumed to be in retaliation for the failure of Estonian authorities to prevent the escape of the interned Polish submarine Orzel yesterday from Tallinn.

Tass, the soviet official news agency, had announced early today that "measures" were being taken by the Red Baltic fleet because Polish and other submarines were hiding in neutral Baltic ports.

Particular mention was made in the Tass communique of the escape of the Polish submarine from Tallinn. It was charged that Estonian authorities had abetted the escape.

Soviet Russia's present sea base on the west is Leningrad, on the Gulf of Finland, and Russia is known to want a Baltic base.

Battle Two Hours for Vilna.

MOSCOW, Sept. 20 [Wednesday] (AP).—The Red army general staff early today announced the capture of the northeastern Polish city of Vilna, ancient capital of the Lithuanians, "after two hours' fighting."

On the southern front, in the Ukraine, the announcement said, soviet troops pressed into the outskirts of Lwow.

"On Sept. 19 Red army troops continued pressing Polish troops and by the end of the day had occupied:

"In the north, in western Byelo-Russia, the town of Vilna, which was taken after two hours' fighting; the towns of Velika, Berestovitsa, Pruzhany, and Kobrin.

"In the south, in the western Ukraine, the towns of Vladimir, Volynski, Sokol, Brody, Bobrka, Rogatin, and Dolina. Cavalry and tank units entered the northeastern and southern outskirts of Lwow."

Flyers First to Be Sent; Train Army Divisions

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 19.—Canada's immediate contribution to Great Britain in the European war is to be a contingent of trained airmen, the cabinet announced tonight.

The dominion also will immediately raise and train an infantry division to be available for the war front as and when required as an expeditionary force. It was believed this division would be ready for service overseas early in the new year.

A second Canadian division will be organized, trained, and held in readiness for future requirements. There are 16,000 men in a division.

Double Naval Personnel.

Additionally, Canada will double her naval personnel, build a large number of anti-submarine and minesweeping craft, and intensify air force training.

As regards the naval services, the government announced it was coöperating with the British navy for the protection of Canada's east coast, helping to protect departing convoys for a considerable distance from the Canadian coast, actively developing minesweeping operations, and expanding its anti-submarine measures.

Canada will consult with the British government regarding the construction of larger ships here. Canadian industry will be geared up to meet any demand by Britain for essential supplies from this country. A way will be found to make Canadian dollars available to the British government to purchase these supplies. This is expected to involve the repatriation of Canadian securities held in London and, later on, the granting of credits.

Announce Cabinet Shakeup.

In a cabinet shakeup Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced that Defense Minister Ian Mackenzie would become minister of pensions and National Health and Labor Minister Norman McL. Rogers would be defense minister. Pensions Minister C. G. Power was made postmaster general, and Postmaster General Norman A. McLarty was appointed minister of labor.

The change was believed designed to meet recent criticism of Mackenzie. Alleged irregularities which arose in connection with the award of a contract for the manufacture of Bren machine guns for the Canadian and British governments to a Toronto firm resulted in unfavorable publicity for the defense minister, who was technically responsible for the granting of the contract.

Rogers, new defense minister, is a former professor of history and economics in Queens university and a veteran of the last war.

Pursue Submarine.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 19 (AP).—The commander of the navy dockyard here said tonight that "fairly reliable reports indicated that a submarine may have been operating off the Nova Scotia coast today." During the search for the suspected submarine a Canadian destroyer dropped a depth charge in a "suspicious area," the commander, H. E. Reid, declared. It was not known whether the charge took effect.

While the navy did not reveal the spot where the depth charge had been dropped, shore observers said a destroyer discharged one off Chebucto head, at the mouth of the outer Halifax harbor. A spout of water shot skyward behind the warship, they said.

JUGO-SLAVS REPORTED RECOGNIZING RUSSIA AND CONCLUDING PACT

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Sept. 19 (AP).—Negotiations for the recognition of soviet Russia by Jugo-Slavia and for a nonaggression pact were reliably reported to be nearing completion tonight. Jugo-Slavia and Moscow have not heretofore had diplomatic relations.

Voja Gorgevic, former Jugo-Slav agriculture minister, now president of the Serb peasant coöperatives, flew to Moscow a few days ago. He returned yesterday and left today for an undisclosed destination.

Czarist Russia went to the aid of Serbia, the nucleus of post-war Jugo-Slavia, when Austria laid down the ultimatum that led to the world war in 1914. Russia has cultivated friendship with Bulgaria, and a Russo-Jugo-Slav entente would put pan-Slavism virtually on the plane of 25 years ago.

GERMANY WILL NEVER GIVE UP, FUEHRER WARNS

Assails British; Calls Conflict Useless.

CHAMBERLAIN'S REPLY.

Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain is expected to reply to Fuehrer Hitler today. A summary of his speech will be broadcast over W-G-N at 9 a. m.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Adolf Hitler today entered the former Free City of Danzig as its liberator. He was cheered by hundreds of thousands.

Hitler came to Danzig from Zoppot, a suburb on the bay northwest of Danzig. He drove into the city, standing erect in his automobile, and he spoke in the historic Artushof [Guild hall].

Hitler denounced his enemy, England, and poured scorn on the Polish government and the Polish high command. He indicated that he was convinced his military forces were able to smash England as completely as they defeated the Poles.

Tiny Loophole for Peace.

A high Nazi leader said Hitler's speech left a tiny loophole for England to enter peace negotiations.

"But the loophole is so small that England would have to get down on her knees to call for a truce," the Nazi added.

Hitler declared Germany was determined "to fight to the end."

Referring to British statements that the war might last for three years, the Fuehrer cried:

"It will be dependent upon us if the war lasts that long.

"If it should last three years the word capitulation will not stand at its end, nor will it stand at the end of the fourth, fifth, sixth, or seventh year.

"They [Britain and France] are not facing a Germany of Bethmann-Hollweg but a Germany of Frederician time [Frederick the Great]."

[Dr. Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg was chancellor of imperial Germany before and during the greater part of the world war.]

Calls War Useless.

"May God who blessed our weapons enlighten those of other nations and make them realize how useless this war will be," Hitler cried.

He said the world war had only losers and no winners. He made a threat that the moment may come when Germany shall resort to certain weapons that others cannot combat.

"Some persons say our people are not so enthusiastic as in 1914. They are more so, but it is in their hearts," he asserted. "They are inspired by fanatical energy and determination."

Hitler spoke of the "eighteen days'" war in Poland as "unparalleled in history" and cried that "'with horse, with men, and with the sword' the Lord defeated our enemies. We now hold a line from Brest-Litovsk to Lemberg [Lwow]. Since last night endless columns of Poles have been marching westward as prisoners. Three hundred thousand have been captured."

Praises Fighting Forces.

He paid tribute to the genius of the general staff and to the infantry, "which again displayed its mastery, its courage, its military knowledge." He praised the new German weapons and the air force, "which protect German living space."

Hitler mocked the English. He intimated that they "now seemed meek" with fear of German retaliation because they had sent bombers over Germany shortly after relations were broken off. The Danzigers roared their approval.

The Fuehrer asserted that soviet Russia and Germany had discussed their plans regarding the future of eastern Europe. "When the world learns how modest our demands are it will no longer believe the English claim that we want to conquer the world—that we want to take the Ukraine," he continued. "England should be happy that it now can learn through our agreement with Russia that our plans are not boundless, but limited—Germany's wishes are lim-

PUPPET REGIME IN POLAND SEEN AS RED, NAZI AIM

Germany Circulates Maps of Possible Borders.

CERNAUTI, Rumania, Sept. 19 (AP).—Establishment of a new Polish régime, friendly to Germany and soviet Russia after partition of Poland by those powers, was predicted today in reports from across the Polish frontier.

Maps mailed from Germany were circulated here showing such a partition which would leave only about one-third of Poland as a buffer state between its powerful neighbors.

Informed persons said a new government, replacing the régime of President Ignace Moscicki and Foreign Minister Colonel Josef Beck, would sign an immediate peace with Germany and Russia.

Show Possible Division.

Significance was attached to the maps, although they were not regarded as official. They envisaged Russia as getting all of eastern Poland from a line drawn from south of Przemysl to the East Prussian frontier northwest of Bialystok.

The map makers assumed that Germany would take the territory west of a new frontier which would start below Katowice, extend north nearly to Lodz, then loop westward near the present German frontier and finally swing northeast to join the East Prussian border.

Poznan [Posen] and Bydgoszcz [Bromberg] would be incorporated in Germany. Lwow [Lemberg] and Wilno [Vilna] would become Russia's.

The map indicated about one-third of Poland would remain as a buffer state without access to the sea and without its industrial districts.

Poles and Russians Fraternize.

Soviet occupation of Polish territory across the frontier from Rumania continued apparently without resistance. There were no reports of bloodshed. To Poles the advent of the Russians meant relief from two weeks of almost continuous bombings. Poles and Russians fraternized in the occupied regions. However, a clash of Poles and Ukrainians was reported at Kuty near here.

Rumanian and soviet military authorities opened negotiations for reopening the frontier over which thousands of panic-stricken Poles have fled. It was estimated 100,000 had entered Rumania. News of the negotiations caused those stampeding farther into Rumania to falter and then stop.

Some Poles appeared at the bridgehead hopeful of returning to their homes with most of their possessions carried on their backs. Many others, however, moved on into Rumania, hoping to rebuild their fortunes and lives elsewhere than in conquered Poland.

Continue with Harvest.

Picturesquely clad peasants peacefully harvested corn, pumpkins, and hay in nearby fields. The frontier was almost back to normal after the wild confusion that reigned as late as last night.

One of the incidents most startling to the peasants took place on Sunday morning when two soviet tanks ambled across the bridge onto Rumanian territory, remained for 15 minutes while the crew looked around and then departed into Poland.

Foreign diplomats and Polish refugees who escaped into Rumania described a ceaseless German bombardment in towns and cities of unconquered sections of Poland.

They reported towns were almost blasted into the air ahead of the German advance.

Trucks Bombed on Road.

On the road from Warsaw east to Siedlce Americans said they saw where German bombers, attempting to shatter telephone and telegraph lines, had annihilated a Polish army truck convoy and had bombed 15 civilian motor cars. Several were overturned with bodies of their occupants scattered about. Several Polish autos on Cernauti streets were marked by machine gun bullet holes.

The Japanese ambassador to Poland, Shuichi Sakoh, departed with his staff for Bucharest. The Japanese were the last of the diplomatic missions accredited to Warsaw to leave Poland.

The last American diplomat to leave, Leland Harrison, third secretary of the embassy in Warsaw, on his way to Bucharest, said Polish Jews made up more than half of a terrified mob which fled into Rumania from Zaleszczki when Polish border guards opened the barrier.

Prefer Russian Masters.

The guards also scurried into Rumania. The Jews had been held at the Polish border for several days by Rumania's refusal at first to grant them entry. Many Polish Jews at the outbreak of hostilities moved into Polish cities near the Russian frontier preferring to risk a soviet occupation than German conquest.

Polish staff officers and foreign military observers entering Rumania estimated Polish army losses during the 18 days of bitter fighting at 50,000 to 100,000 killed. The same sources estimated German losses at 35,000 to 50,000 killed.

Gen. Lev Prchala, commander of the Czech Legion formed in Poland after Germany's absorption of Czecho-Slovakia, told the Associated Press 15,000 of his men had been captured by Russians.

Prchala said he had been halted by Russians en route to the Rumanian border, but was released quickly. He said he would go to France to offer his services there.

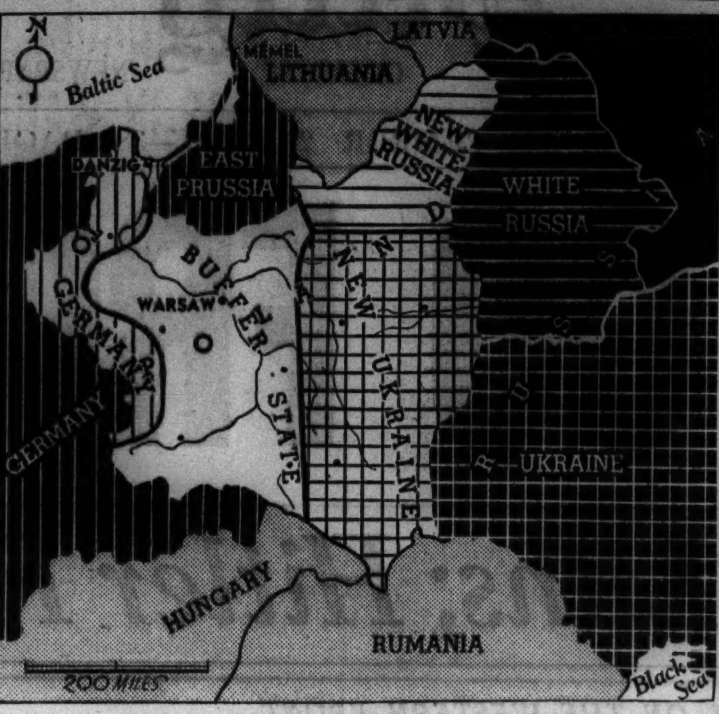
Hungary Receives Refugees.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 19 (AP).—Prominent Hungarians today formed a committee to aid Polish refugees. One committee, of which Mme. Nicholas Horthy, wife of Hungary's regent, was reported to be patroness, arranged for Hungarians to take Polish women and children into their homes for the duration of the war. Frontier reports said two Polish infantry battalions crossed from Sianki and Uzok and were received with honors by Hungarian border guards.

May Locate in France.

PARIS, Sept. 19 (AP).—Sources close to the French foreign office reported today the possibility that Polish President Ignace Moscicki and high Polish government officials might eventually seek refuge in France if and when Germany completes her conquest of Poland. Definite plans still remain to be made, these sources said.

Partition Map from Germany



Maps mailed from Germany and received in Rumania yesterday showed this partition of Poland, which would leave about one-third of Poland as a buffer state between Russia and Germany. The maps were regarded as significant, although not official.

ROME, Sept. 19.—Serious faced groups of Italians crowded around radios in Rome today, waiting to hear if Fuehrer Hitler, speaking in Danzig, would bring them a message of peace or war. An Italian summary of the speech was broadcast after Hitler ceased talking.

Italians were surprised by the Fuehrer's failure to submit a peace offer, which many thought certainly would be the next move on the German program after the conquest of Poland.

However, Hitler's references to Premier Mussolini's last-minute effort to avert war and his mention of an eternal frontier with Italy brought some comfort to Italians.

Suppress Threat to Neutrals.

Hitler's failure to mention the Rome-Berlin axis ties and the absence of a demand from him of help from Italy also were viewed as reassuring factors by the man in the street.

Hitler's remark, as quoted in English translations broadcast from Germany, that "it may not even be possible to spare neutrals" was not included in the Italian summary. This statement made a deep impression on representatives of neutral countries here. They feared that it might foreshadow Hitler's next move, since he apparently does not intend to suggest a peace conference at this time.

Some Italians expressed belief that Germany intends to push to the west soon, leaving Russia to look after the situation in the east.

It was pointed out that although England, with vast resources, may be able to last years with the war stymied by the Maginot and Siegfried lines, Germany cannot and will have to bring the conflict to a conclusion, even if it means violating the neutrality of some countries.

Franco Cancels Visit.

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP).—It was officially anounced tonight that the scheduled visit to Italy of Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish dictator, had been postponed indefinitely.

200,000 TO JOIN IN SPECTACULAR LEGION PARADE

$10,000,000 Session to Open Monday.

Facts you may not know about the twenty-first annual national convention of the American Legion that opens in Chicago next Monday:

1. Hotel men announced last night that some 25,000 rooms have been reserved in advance for the legionnaires and their families.

2. On Tuesday the highlight of the convention will be a 15 hour continuous parade down Michigan avenue. In it there will be 200,000 marching men and women led by 1,000 drum majors, and 500 brass bands. A drum corps will pass any given point along the avenue every two minutes from 9 a. m. to midnight.

3. Statisticians of the Association of Commerce figure that the visiting legionnaires and their families will spend approximately $10,000,000 during their four or five days in Chicago.

Neutrality to Be Discussed.

Legion chiefs say that this year, with a new European war already a grim fact, this reunion of American soldiers who so well remember the last world war takes on a significance it has never had before. During it the assembled veterans will voice their views on American neutrality. By adoption or rejection of their committees' resolutions, they will express their ideas of what the federal government should do.

Advance meetings will be held Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, at which the various committees will prepare their resolutions.

Stephen F. Chadwick, national Legion commander, will address the Chicago Bar association tomorrow night.

Commander Chadwick will call the opening session of the convention to order at 9:30 a. m. Monday in the Coliseum at 1513 South Wabash avenue. Music and addresses by Mayor Kelly, Mayor Carson of Portland, Gov. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Secretary of War Woodring will follow.

Million to See Parade.

Tuesday will be the day of the most spectacular event of the session, the American Legion parade. In magnitude this annual demonstration is one of the greatest in the world. It will start at 9 a. m. at Ohio street and move southward down Michigan avenue until it turns east on Balbo drive to march to Soldiers' field. There it will circle the inside of the stadium before as many thousands of people as can find seats. The convention headquarters expects that at least one million persons will view the parade before midnight.

An indication of the convention's importance to the Legionnaires can be realized from the distances many of them are traveling to get to it. Dr. M. H. Li, a Chinese and commander of the department of Hawaii, is bringing a delegation from Honolulu. Several representatives are expected from the Philippines.

Charles Dewey, a prominent Legionnaire of Chicago, is reported to be hurrying through war zones to get back from Poland in time to attend the large tea party he and his wife are scheduled to give on Sept. 27 for the Legionnaires' wives.

French and British to Attend.

Maj. Gen. Andre Gaston Pretelat of France has crossed the Atlantic, despite the war, to greet the assembled Legionnaires. Other French generals, commanders of veterans organizations, and military attachès also are scheduled to attend. Brig. Gen. E. R. Fitzpatrick and Col. G. R. Crosfield of Great Britain are reported now aboard the S. S. Mauretania enroute to America to attend the convention.

Jack Benny, the radio and screen star, is expected to arrive to attend the Spectacle of Stars at Soldiers' field on Wednesday evening, Sept. 27. He is to drive from the Chicago and North Western station in his 1906 Maxwell car full of cheering legionnaires.

Morton Downey, radio tenor; Eddie Cantor, comedian, and Victor McLaglen and Shirley Temple, movie stars, are scheduled to be present, coming from Hollywood for the occasion.

Ann Sheridan, the "oomph" girl of the movies, will ride a snow white horse in the parade Tuesday. She will wear a dazzling white riding habit, and will follow just behind National Commander Chadwick, well at the head of the parade.

Father Swears Son

Maj. H. M. Keller swearing in his son, Bradley, as member of marine corps reserve.

A marine corps reserve officer last night swore in his own son as a private in the battalion he commands. In a ceremony at the civic center in Hammond Bradley Keller, 17 years old, of 1646 East 77th street, was accepted as a member of Company C, 9th battalion, by Maj. H. M. Keller, commander.

Maj. Keller served through the world war with the marines. He organized the battalion in 1928, and the company of which his son is now a member two years later. The major is manager of the claims department of the Northern Indiana Public Service company. His son was graduated last June from Morgan Park Military academy.

JAPAN SEES NO HOPE OF EASING U. S. RELATIONS

Claims America Seeks to Rule Pacific.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Sept. 19.—Official circles, surveying the latest trends in American-Japanese relations, were said today in prominent reports in the leading newspapers, to hold that the present state of affairs admits of no optimism.

The basis for this, it was declared, is the increasingly strong stand the United States is taking in the far east, augmenting naval strength in the Pacific, and the American contention that more than 600 cases of damage to American property by bombing and other military activity in China by the Japanese forces remain unsolved, as a result of which American public opinion is unusually adverse to Japan.

"Following the decreasing Anglo-French influence in the Far East, due to the war, the United States is threatening to come forward and undertake to protect their rights and interests in China, thus giving rise to a greater likelihood of Japanese-American friction," observers declare.

They point out that a survey of American naval plans clearly shows that the United States is preparing for a strong front in Asia. The fact that American naval authorities have announced maneuvers scheduled for Hawaiian waters and also will strengthen Pacific fortifications is interpreted as being aimed at naval supremacy in the far east.

CANADIANS GEAR THEIR RESOURCES TO NEEDS IN WAR

Emergency Statutes Put Into Effect.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 19 [Canadian Press].—Canada's economic resources have been geared to wartime needs through ten statutes enacted at a special session of parliament and nearly 100 orders in council since Aug. 25.

In addition to orders calling up the naval, military, and air forces, important measures have had to do with mobilizing industry, control of foodstuffs and prices, censorship, control of foreign exchange, and taxation to boost revenue.

Emergency measures started Aug. 25 when the government appropriated, by governor general's warant, $8,000,000 for expenses of calling out the nonpermanent militia.

Orders calling out the militia were issued next day and other orders on that date appropriated $7,500,000 for immediate aircraft purchases and established naval control of all shipping.

Series of Orders Adopted.

A long series of orders adopted Sept. 1 called parliament to meet in emergency session Sept. 7, proclaimed that a state of "apprehended war" had existed since Aug. 25 and that the war measures act of 1914 was in effect giving the government almost unlimited powers, called out the naval reserve, established censorship, put the active militia on a war time basis, recalled 500 former members of the Royal Canadian Mounted police and authorized engagement of 1,100 special constables.

On Sept. 3, an order was issued establishing the wartime prices and trade board to control prices and distribution of essential foods and on Sept. 5 an order required all Canadian shipping to obtain a license from the transport department before sailing from any port.

Regulations governing trade with the enemy were contained in an order issued Sept. 7 and on Sept. 9 a board was created to receive and record volunteer service offers for civilian service. That day another order established the agriculture supply committee to facilitate mobilization of farm production.

Sets Up Supply Board.

On Sept. 10 came the proclamation of a state of war between Canada and Germany.

On Sept. 12, when Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King was obtaining approval of parliament to create a new ministry of munitions and supply, he announced that the government, under authority of the war measures act, was setting up a war supply board to act until it became necessary to have a full time ministry. This board, clothed with wide powers, is being organized.

On Sept. 15 the government adopted orders in council setting up a foreign exchange control board with power to license import and export of all goods, money, or securities. The board was empowered to use the stabilization fund of some $60,000,000, created in 1935 when Canada's gold reserve was revalued at $35 an ounce, to maintain the external value of the Canadian dollar.

A budget adopted Sept. 12 was followed by passage of a bill empowering the government to spend $100,000,000 by orders in council up to next March 31.

Other measures adopted at the five day session of parliament increased tarif, excise and income taxes, and incorporated the Canadian patriotic fund to collect and distribute money for the care of dependents of those who serve.

GERMAN TROOPS CAPTURE 105,000 POLES IN BATTLE

Nazis' Fight for Warsaw Still Is Raging.

BERLIN, Sept. 20, Wednesday (AP).—Germany, still opposed in government, abandoned Poland by widely scattered forces, reported today the capture of 105,000 prisoners after crushing a Polish army in one of the biggest battles on the eastern front.

The high command's announcement of victory on the Bzura river [the Kutno front] came as military activity was reported resumed at Warsaw. At the same time it was announced that fighting had ended near Gydnia with the occupation of the naval harbor.

Until yesterday a force of 2,000 to 3,000 Polish troops had waged a desperate fight against heavy odds west of German conquered Gydnia, once Poland's seaport. The fight in the Gydnia sector was raging when Fuehrer Adolf Hitler arrived at nearby Danzig yesterday for his triumphal entry into that city.

Communique Describes Action.

"The battle near Kutno ended yesterday southwest of Wyszogrod. One hundred and five thousand prisoners were taken but the number is increasing steadily. The amount of war material captured cannot be estimated presently. Enemy losses in dead and wounded are enormous.

"Along other fronts the enemy has practically given up resistance with the exception of a point northwest of Lwow where fighting with strong scattered enemy forces still continues.

The communique on the battle in the Kutno sector referred to a nine day engagement along the Bzura river north of Lodz and 80 miles west of Warsaw.

One curious phase of the engagement took place when by some freak circumstance a detachment of Germans was surrounded by Poles, who in turn were ringed by other German forces. Nazi planes dropped food and gasoline to their men caught in the ring within a ring. Germans said their trapped forces were rescued Monday night.

More to Besiege Warsaw.

The German triumph in the Lodz area apparently relieved thousands of Nazi troops for the attack on the Polish capital, from which the government of President Ignace Moscicki fled several days ago.

The German high command declared fighting was resumed at Warsaw when an emissary failed to appear to negotiate on the surrender of the city, which was demanded by the Germans on Sunday.

"The city is being defended by the Poles without regard for the population, which is over a million strong," said an earlier communique.

[Warsaw's defiance of the German army's demand for surrender was broadcast again by the Polish capital's radio last night after a day-long shelling and bombardment. The announcer recited in English a story of devastation resulting from the 12 day old siege. "Warsaw presents a very pitiful sight," he said. "Buildings, monuments, museums, and art galleries are in ruins. We will fight to the last drop and never surrender."]

German sources reported turbulent conditions approaching civil strife in Warsaw. They asserted the civilian population was being given every opportunity to flee.

From fugitives who already have left Warsaw, the Germans declared, came reports that the capital's food supply is virtually exhausted.

Entrenched on Heights.

The finally defeated Poles at the tip of what was the Polish corridor [Pomorze] were entrenched in positions on heights west of Gydnia known as Oblosz and in the village of Ochshoeft.

Correspondents who had gone to Danzig for the Hitler speech were taken to the scene and watched the battle from a distance of only two miles.

German land, sea, and air forces were reported pounding at the Polish force. The writers saw three German waves advance on the fortified positions during an hour's stay and each time the Nazis won some 10 yards more of hotly contested ground.

The land forces were supported by scouting planes which dropped signals to guide the artillery. Also blasting away at the Poles were the 28 centimeter [about 11 inch] guns of the German cruiser Schleswig-Holstein, anchored 10½ miles away in Danzig harbor.

Foresaken by Air Force.

Apparently the Poles were cut off from the outside world. Prisoners taken by the Germans were said to believe the British were about to come to the aid of the small garrison.

The Poles also seemed to have no anti-aircraft guns, for the scouting planes flew low and were not bothered.

In southeastern Poland, the city of Lwow [Lemberg] was called on to surrender to the Germans, the communique said.

Northwest of Lwow, it was reported, some fighting units of the enemy were destroyed and about 10,000 prisoners were captured. In eastern Poland near Pinsk some isolated Polish units were reported trying to escape to safety in the Pripet marshes.

Turning to the western front, a communique said yesterday, "insignificant artillery and reconnoitering activity took place at some points in the Saarbruecken region. It was observed that our opponents were doing manifold trench digging. Fighting actions in the air did not occur."

Mention Sunken Warship.

The communique added:

"The air force yesterday conducted only individual raids [in Poland]. On the whole, their operation on the eastern front was no longer necessary."

The concluding paragraph said:

"The sinking of the airplane carrier Courageous as announced by the British admiralty was confirmed by a report of the German submarine which attacked the carrier."

Military sources indicated a conference between Nazi and soviet army commanders would be arranged soon to discuss control of Poland pending adjustment of political issues involved. Informed circles freely admitted that Hitler and Josef Stalin had reached agreement as to the steps to be taken in regard to Poland's future.

Berlin newspapers printed maps showing the line held by Nazi forces, and some observers interpreted this as a possible new boundary between a greater Germany and the soviet.

The press said 95,000 square miles of Polish territory out of a total of 150,051 had been occupied by German troops.

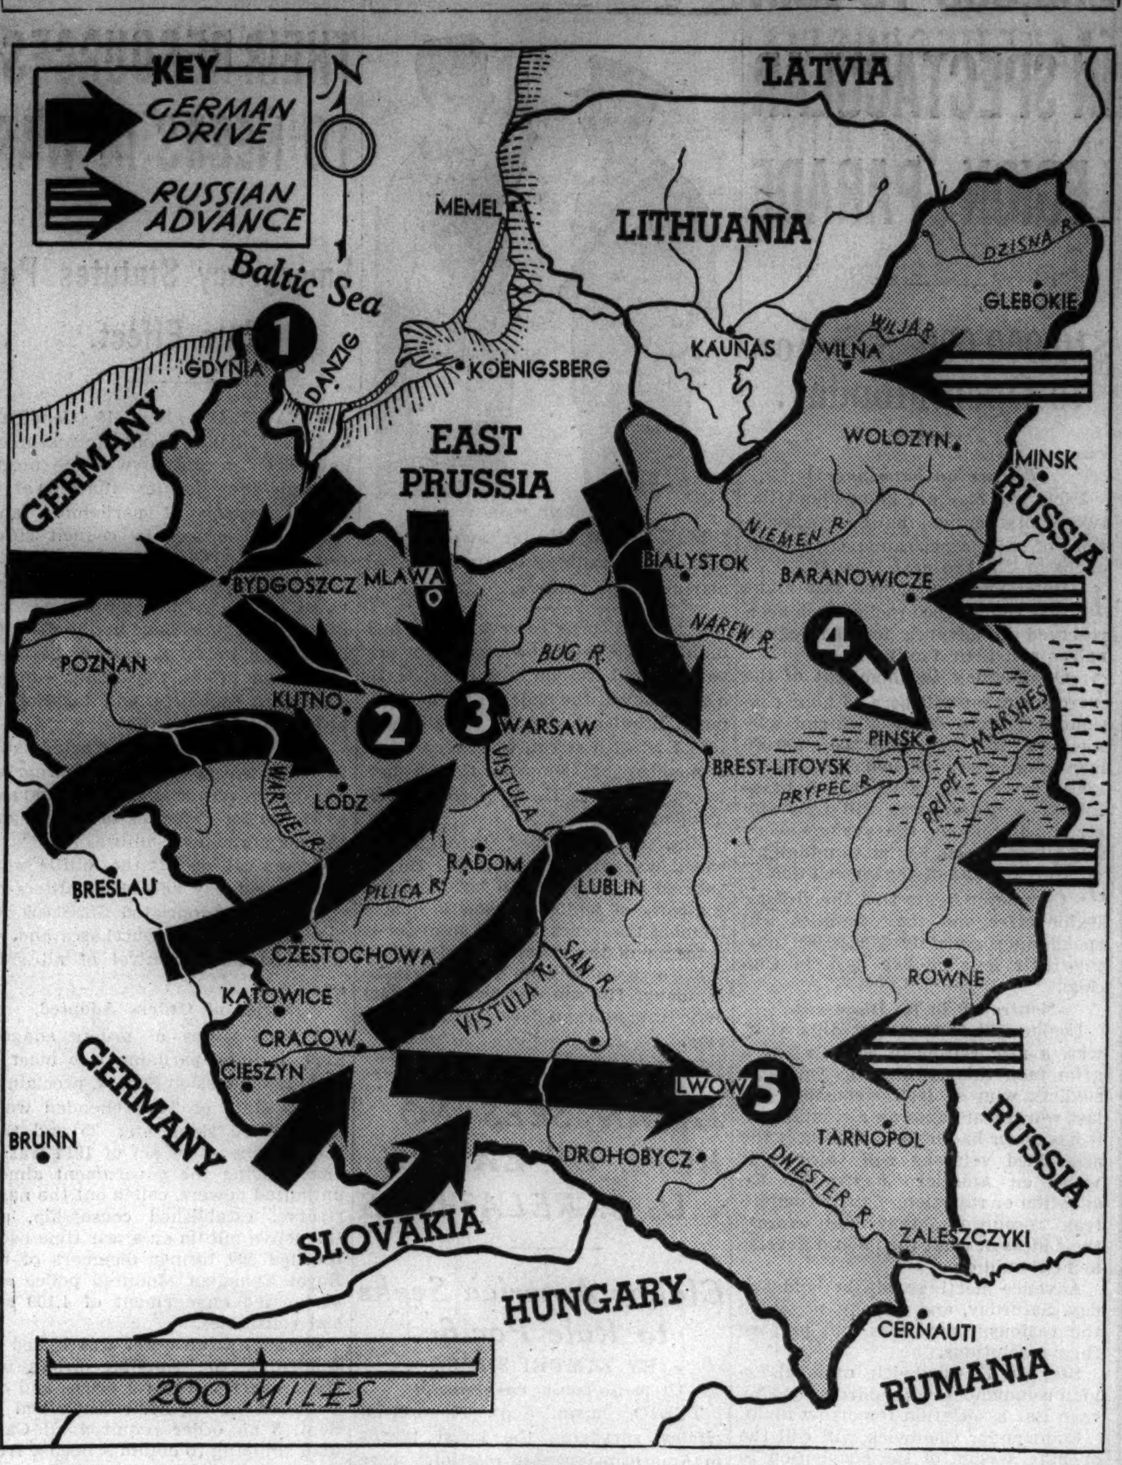
Japanese Envoy Arrives.

Confirmation of the German view that the Polish state no longer exists was seen by official circles in the fact that neither France nor Britain has declared war on Russia for invading Poland.

The arrival in Berlin of Gen. Count Juichi Terauchi, member of the Japanese supreme war council, and three high staff officers was regarded in official circles as significant and characterized as "very symptomatic."

As a mark of special honor, it was learned, Terauchi will be taken to the eastern front to see the German army in action and confer with Hitler.

Germans Elated at General Staff's Strategy in Poland



The general staff of the German army is pleased with the tactics employed in the war with Poland. The first aim of the Nazis was to divide the Polish forces into comparatively small groups by encircling movements and then defeat each separately. German armies therefore aimed these encircling drives against three points, at Bydgoszcz, at Warsaw, and at Brest-Litovsk. Poznan was left open because of German fortifications on the border to the west. Other points on the map are: 1. Fighting ended at Gdynia with occupation of harbor. 2. Germans announced more than 100,000 Poles in pocket north of Lodz captured. 3. Warsaw resisting in 12th day of siege. 4. Few isolated Polish troops seeking safety in Pripet marshes. 5. Germans called on Lwow to surrender.

MUSEUM ALARM! NEW EXCITEMENT FOR WAR RELICS

A burglar alarm sounded at 8:30 last night in the Chicago Historical Society building at North avenue and Clark street. Three squads of city policemen responded. So did three from the park district. A small detachment from the American District Telegraph, a watch service, also joined in the rush.

The concentrated force surrounded the building, prepared to seize and overcome any vandals who might have designs on the historical treasures inside. Lincoln Park Policeman Louis Schwitzenberg and a watchman opened the front door, pistols in hand.

Out walked the bell ringer. He is Dudley Hill, 13 years old, 2712 North Parkside avenue. "I am very much interested in the civil war," he said. "I went in to look at some relics this afternoon and they locked me in. What I want now is some supper."

FRENCH CABINET TAKES UP RUSSIAN PROBLEM TODAY

Details of Strange War in West Revealed.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 19.—Premier Edouard Daladier conferred tonight with the army's commander-in-chief, Gen. Maurice Gustave Gamelin, and three cabinet aids, Champetier de Ribes, Robert Coulondre and Alexis Leger.

There was no official hint of the subjects discussed. It was conjectured, however, that the conference took up political problems that will come before a meeting of the council of ministers tomorrow. These problems are Russia's coöperation with Germany in Poland and German Chancellor Adolf Hitler's speech, with its bid for peace and threats against the democracies. There was no indication tonight that the French will be in the least moved by Hitler's avowal of his readiness to wage a long war.

Another issue expected to go before the ministerial council is the proposed dissolution of the communist party in France.

Both Sides Make Attacks.

Tonight's communique of the French general staff gives the following report of today's action on the western front:

"A local enemy attack in the region east of the Blies river has been repulsed. Activity of enemy aviation in the same region."

The Blies is a stream about 11 miles east of Saarbreucken on the Saar front. Several German companies were reported to have attacked at dawn. Some observers said the attack indicated the Nazis were raiding for prisoners, apparently in preparation for an offensive on a large scale.

[A dispatch from Basel, Switzerland, stated the French attacked today from bases on the Blies and at Sarreguemines and advanced at least a mile and a half, taking the German villages of Bebelsheim and Wittersheim. French control of a road to Wittersheim was said to mean the Germans were in an untenable pocket on the east bank of the Saar river and south of Saarbruecken. Nazi troops were reported evacuating a dozen villages in the pocket.]

It's a Strange War.

Light is thrown on the strange war being fought on the western front by details now available. The Germans have done absolutely nothing to interfere with concentration of the French armies back of the front.

No towns in the battle zone, railways, bridges, or other military objectives have been bombed by the Germans and there has been almost no long range shelling of the French lines of communication except near the front.

On the Anglo-French side, not a bomb has been dropped on a German objective back of the front with the exception of the British attacks on Wilhelmshaven and the Kiel canal.

Visitors who have returned from the frontier zone report they saw children playing in the streets of villages only a few miles back of the Maginot line.

Flyers Raid with Impunity.

Even the reconnaissance flights and propaganda bombardments carried out by the Anglo-French aviation have seldom encountered German antiaircraft fire.

When French pressure becomes too insistent, the Germans reply, but they leave the initiative to the French. As a result, French losses in two weeks of fighting were fewer than those suffered by a single division in one day's fighting in certain battles of the world war. German losses are believed light, despite heavy pounding by the French artillery.

A possible explanation is that Germany hopes to weaken France's fighting spirit by a "peace offensive" and that the French have refrained from provoking action to enjoy, for the first time in modern history, an undisturbed general mobilization.

Some Fear Big Nazi Smash.

Mobilization can be considered completed. Some observers believe the real war may not get under way before spring. Others expect a terrific German attack, perhaps through Holland and Belgium or Switzerland.

Estonia Blockaded

Blockade of the coast of Estonia by the soviet navy. No ships are allowed to enter or leave the harbor of Tallinn. The action was said to have been taken because of the escape of an interned Polish submarine.

CHARGE POLISH TROOPS GASSED HITLER SOLDIERS

Galician Refugees Try to Regain Homes.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—While guns are firing in Central Poland, many villages in Galicia do not even know that war has broken out. This was learned by a member of THE TRIBUNE'S Berlin staff, who has just returned from Rzeszow and Jaslo, about 180 miles south of Warsaw. Scattered Polish troops still are lurking there in forests waiting for a chance to escape in the direction of their villages without being taken prisoner by the Germans.

The purpose of the trip, organized by the German high command, was to take a small party to a former Polish hospital in Jaslo, near Cracow, where 14 German soldiers are fighting death from what the Germans said was mustard gas.

Gassed While at Work.

One of the victims told the party that he and his comrades, belonging to sapper units, had been ordered to repair a bridge and were gassed while doing it. An officer who showed the bridge explained that the Poles had tried to blow it up but had made only three holes in it.

In the biggest one, he said, they had placed a mine and connected it with wire to barrels of oil. When the sappers arrived on Friday, Sept. 8, the first man to yank away the barrels was killed by mustard gas escaping from the mine, the officer asserted.

The next day another group arrived to take up the work. They were also gassed and are in the hospital. One of the men slept in the uniform he wore when he was working. The skin of his entire body was burned.

Four of the men have died. This is the only known incident in which mustard gas was used in this war, according to the Germans.

On the roads of Galicia thousands of poverty stricken refugees are trying to regain their homes. Women carrying babies, their shoeless feet deep in mud, beg for rides or food.

Troops Pick Up Refugees.

Big lorries of the German army which transport equipment and food to the front have received orders to pick up the refugees in the village town halls when they deliver their equipment and to carry them as far toward their homes as possible without detouring.

In villages and towns Jewish stores are closed and marked with the star of David, placed there by the Nazis as they take over the country.

Freak of War

Artist's conception of curious phase of German-Polish engagement west of Warsaw, in which a German detachment was surrounded by Poles who in turn were ringed by other German forces. Nazi planes dropped supplies to their surrounded troops, who were finally rescued.

BACK PAGE MAP WILL GUIDE YOUR NEUTRALITY PLEA

Tribune Prints a Help for Contacting Congress.

THE TRIBUNE today publishes the first of a series of maps intended to aid readers who desire to communicate with their United States senators and congressmen concerning President Roosevelt's proposal for the amendment of the present neutrality law.

The map published on the back page of this edition covers Cook county and shows the boundaries of the ten districts in the county. With it is published a list of the congressmen from those districts. The names of the two congressmen-at-large and the two senators from Illinois also are included.

Session Opens Tomorrow.

The special session is to be convened tomorrow.

A letter or telegram to a United States senator should be addressed to him at the Senate Office building, Washington, D. C. A message to a member of the house of representatives should be addressed to him at the House Office building, Washington, D. C.

President Roosevelt issued the special session call last Wednesday. Every day since then there has been a steady increase in the number of letters and telephone calls to THE TRIBUNE concerning the proposal to abolish the present embargo on the shipment of arms and munitions to belligerent nations.

How the Maps Will Aid.

Many readers wanted to be told the names and addresses of their senators and representatives. Usually the applicant was not sure of the number of his congressional district. For that reason THE TRIBUNE adopted the plan of publishing the maps.

Five other maps will follow the map of Cook county published today. They will be those of the states in which THE TRIBUNE is most widely read—Illinois, Indiana,, Iowa, Michigan, and Wisconsin. Each will show congressional district boundaries and will list the senators and congressmen.

BRIDGES WARNS OF COMMUNISTS IN HIGH PLACES

Council Bluffs, Ia., Sept. 19 (AP).—Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] tonight called upon the national administration "to sweep the communists and their fellow travelers out of its councils and the burocracy of Washington."

In a speech at a Republican meeting here the senator said he "feared the sympathetic understanding which the New Dealers have of Stalin and his American cohorts." He accused Stalin of following a course in Europe "calculated to bring about chaos" and termed the communists "wreckers of government, armies in the field or of our own industrial plants."

Turning to domestic issues, he declared the "burden of debt and taxes which it [the New Deal] has placed upon the American people has made recovery impossible."

The steel industry's tax bill last year totaled $96,500,000, he said, and "put the industry in the red nearly $15,000,000."

WAR PRISONERS PROTECTED BY UNITED STATES

Act for Britain, France Under 1929 Treaty.

Alexander Kirk.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—One of the extraordinary duties thrust upon the American government by the war is to see that British and French prisoners of war get fair treatment in Germany. This duty arises from America's agreement to look after French and British interests in Germany.

The American embassy in Berlin and various consulates will carry on the necessary inspections which in time may embrace tens of thousands of men. They will expect German treatment to follow the provisions of a treaty regarding prisoners of war signed in Geneva in 1929 by Germany, Great Britain, France, the United States and 43 other nations.

The American diplomatic corps in Germany, is under the direction of Chargè d' Affaires Alexander C. Kirk, of Chicago, there being no ambassador.

Coercion Is Barred.

Under this agreement prisoners are given a wide range of rights over which the protecting power—in this case the United States—has the duty of inspection.

Prisoners of war must at all times be treated humanely and protected. Reprisals against them are prohibited

No coercion may be used to obtain information about their army or country.

All personal effects, including money, remain their property.

Prisoners may not be placed in prisons but in buildings or barracks affording all possible guarantees of healthfulness. Their living quarters, food and water must be equal to those of troops at German base camps. They have the right to medical attention and admittance to hospitals.

Officers must be separated from the rank and file. They need salute only German officers of an equal or higher rank.

Labor Is Permissable.

Germany may utilize the labor of British and French prisoners, but the labor must have no direct relation with war operations. Wages must be paid. Officers are exempt from work unless they ask for it.

The prisoners will be permitted to send mail and to receive mail and parcels containing food, clothing, and books.

Prisoners may be punished for infraction of camp rules, but the punishment may not be corporal; it may not be more severe than that provided for German soldiers with regard to the same offense.

THE STORE FOR MEN

Marshall Field & Company

presents here each day observations intended to be of value to those it seeks to serve.

A MECCA OF MERCHANDISING

By CALEB

DESPITE many weeks of one-o'clock Saturday closing, the summer visitor volume of our establishment has been record-breaking. Tour-guide, personal service, and information facilities have been taxed to the utmost; so much so that the monthly totals suggest, in relation to a single store, the expression "staggering."

Four factors, of course, patently account for this fine patronage parade. One is the recent upturn of general business. Another is Chicago's location as a geographic crossroads of summer travel, and vacation center in its own right. Third—the transcontinental traffic occasioned by the simultaneous Fairs; and fourth, the reputation which time and international tradescope have themselves woven about the name "Marshall Field and Company."

These in combination have brought the midsummer throngs—hundreds of thousands of every imaginable age, creed, race and place of residence. As one of their number was overheard to remark: "It's like a commercial pilgrimage that one makes to a merchandising Mecca." A not unapt description: for in terms of merchandise alone, the vast aggregation of lines represented on our nineteen floors has been assembled, literally, from every trade-point of the civilized world. No matter from what country he hails, the sightseer is likely to find some product speaking to him of home, far away from home.

The sales opportunities in such an impressive visitor-volume are but a small part of the values we, as hosts, derive from contact with these thousands of guests. They bring us invaluable new lessons: in popular taste, popular trend, popular preference; a forever changing "world viewpoint" that vividly illumines and enhances the character of our ideas, policies and practices. When the Maharajah of Tipura and his lovely sister, for example, ordered a shipment of folding couches for delivery to Calcutta, we learned to see merchandise of the Occident through the eyes of the Orient. And the same psychology of customer reaction applies to each busy day.

Tremendous patronage such as this, however, automatically reminds us of the admonition: Noblesse oblige. Rank and reputation are rightly enviable. But they also impose a necessity for continuing to deserve, whose only price, like that of safety, is eternal vigilance. Factually and figuratively, we try to keep forever "on our toes," in step with the peremptory pace of our customers.

THE TORPEDO IS THE MIGHTY FIST OF A SUBMARINE

Explosives Controled by Sensitive Machinery.

The shark of naval armament is the torpedo. It is the true arm of the submarine, and in construction is itself a miniature automatic submarine, steered and controled by sensitive machinery, as surely as if it were manned by a crew of Lilliputian seamen.

Its destructive powers are demonstrated by its record during the world war, when torpedoes launched from German U-boats sank more than 5,000 ships, among them armored cruisers. Already it has made itself felt in the present European war, and its increased effectiveness is reflected in the fact that in the case of every ship where a hit has been registered to date, not one escaped going to the bottom.

Improvement Is Rapid.

The improvement made in torpedoes is indeed one of the outstanding advances achieved in naval armament since 1918. During the world war the torpedo was relatively slow, traveling at a speed of about thirty knots. An alert ship's crew sometimes could spy out the tell-tale wake and by quick action on the helm steer out of the torpedo's course.

But dodging the latest torpedoes will not be easy, for the newest types have speeds of more than fifty-five knots, in excess of sixty-three miles per hour.

At the same time, the perfection of range finding devices will materially lessen the chance of the submarine's quarry to escape. Among these is the "Iswas," developed by Admiral Naismuth of Great Britain. It is a device which enables a submarine commander to determine the exact course of any enemy craft he may wish to attack.

Torpedoes Are Expensive.

The cost of a torpedo was and is high, probably in the neighborhood of $10,000, but if it can be fired with the assurance that a hit will be scored and an enemy battleship or merchantman valued at many times its own cost sunk, it is cheap at the price to any combatant.

The range of torpedoes during the last war was about 10,000 yards, with 18,000 possible in extreme cases, but it was a rare case when a submarine commander did not elect to fire from much closer range. His calculations in aiming were obviously simplified at closer striking distance, and a shorter range allowed less opportunity for the enemy ship to escape either through altering her own course or through deflection of the torpedo.

The modern torpedo was perfected in 1868 by Robert Whitehead, a Scotch engineer, and present day types retain the general structural characteristics imparted by him.

Made in Two Sizes.

Torpedoes are cigar-shaped and are now made in two sizes—the 21-foot, with a 21-inch diameter, and the 18-foot, with an 18-inch diameter. The 21-inch torpedo is in general use in ocean engagements and carries a charge of 500 pounds of TNT in its warhead. During the world war, the Germans used TNT charges, but the British and their allies favored wet guncotton.

Every torpedo is divided into a number of chambers. One contains explosive, another air compresed to 2,500 pounds per square inch, and a third the machinery that propels the torpedo and holds it to its course.

On the torpedo head is a striker, a rod which, upon making contact with a ship, is driven back against a percussion cap which explodes a primer. The primer in turn explodes the main charge. Safety devices which are released during the course of the torpedo's run prevent any explosion while the torpedo is being ejected from its tube on the submarine.

Use Steam for Motive Power.

During the last war, compressed air provided the motive power. Passed through a reducing valve, it was fed to the engines at uniform pressure, maintaining an even speed throughout the course of the torpedo's run.

At present, the motive power is steam. Alcohol and air are burnt in a generator to convert water contained in a flask in the balance chamber into steam, which is then passed to the engine.

Intricate mechanisms hold the torpedo at any desired depth. The spring on a hydrostatic valve can be set to exert a force equal to the pressure of the water at any given depth. Any variation from the set depth is automatically adjusted. In addition, a servo-motor, an auxiliary engine, operates the horizontal rudders.

A gyroscope is employed to maintain the torpedo on a true course, as is a heavy pendulum, swinging fore and aft, which inclines the diving-planes to restore the torpedo to the horizontal position in case of any sudden up-and-down movement. Dual propellers, rotating in opposite directions, neutralize any tendency of the torpedo to swerve from its course.

Point of Contact Important.

In an attack on a capital ship, the torpedo would be dispatched at a depth of 15 to 18 feet to strike the vessel's vitals. In ships of less draft, of course, the torpedo would run closer to the surface. The destructive effect of a torpedo is a problem for ballistics experts. It naturally would be governed by the location of the hit and the thickness of the ship's armor. Four torpedoes striking a dreadnaught with 13 inch plate might not sink the ship, but they would certainly send it to dry dock for six months.

During the world war torpedoes were ejected from the tubes by compressed air. The new method is to employ the gases from a powder or cordite charge, which impart a greater initial impulse than air. The firing takes place after the whole submarine is trained like a gun. When the enemy ship is brought into focus on the commander's instruments he merely presses an electric button to send the torpedo on its way.

Compensating water ballast prevents any disturbance in the equilibrium of the submarine during the firing of a torpedo. Once its torpedoes are fired, the submarine attempts to escape. This may be done by submerging to the greatest possible depth and stopping all motors so that motor noises cannot be heard and betray its position, or by attempting to dodge close to the surface. The commander's only job, once he has launched his torpedoes, is to get away as fast as possible.

But against this terrible underwater danger surface craft have their own methods of defense and retaliation. These will be outlined in another article to be published soon.

DIVING PLANES: One on each side
PENDULUM WEIGHT: Inclines diving planes to restore torpedo to horizontal in case of sudden up-and-down movement
GYROSCOPE: Holds torpedo on set course through vertical rudders by resisting any tendency to deviate
AIR VESSEL: Supplies air under pressure of 2,500 lbs. per sq. in. to engine; air also gives stability to torpedo FUEL BOTTLE: (Alcohol)
SERVOMOTOR: Operates steering mechanism.
HYDRO VALVE: Water pressure on valve, adjusted before firing, holds torpedo at desired depth.
ENGINE: Operated by steam and gases generated by burning air and alcohol. It is started by tripping of air lever (A) as torpedo leaves firing tube.

Bond's Greet Legion with Open Arms

Starting next week, the American Legionnaires will again storm the city and again Chicago and its citizens will take to its heart the rank and file of the men who more than two decades ago took up their arms and went forth to fight the good fight. From nearly every village—town and great metropolitan center in the United States and from the far flung corners of American possessions will come the hosts of American Legion members.

Old Times Relived.

Through the years since their victorious return from overseas they have met in annual conclave to greet each other affectionately as befits men who as brothers-in-arms faced death together on the shell torn battlefields in foreign lands during those dark days of what we shall probably remember as the first world war. This particular American Legion Convention meets at a time when cataclysmic events are happening daily in far away places.

Shells scream and burst — battle planes and bombers fill the air—the messengers of death and destruction are again on the loose in territories many of which are only too well known to Legionnaires.

Something to Think About.

With the warm hand clasps and cheery greetings this year will be the sober background thoughts of what is going on over there and how it will affect the destinies of our own great country.

Needless to say, there will be a new and more serious trend in the convention thoughts and activities this coming week than in any of the gatherings in years past. However, there is one thing we know and that is that this year as in years past the Legion will face and answer its problems in its typically American manner—HONESTLY.

The convention will have its serious moments, of course, but there will be no lacking in gaiety and carnival spirit when the Legionnaires start the ball rolling next week.

Bond's Are Hosts.

To the great American Legion, Bonds offer the facilities and conveniences of its five great Chicago stores. Bonds stores in Chicago, as elsewhere throughout the country, are headquarters for official Legion uniforms. September twenty-fifth will soon be here and the convention cheers will be roaring to the far reaches of the city. What is more natural, then, you Legionnaires of Chicago and environs than the desire of your mother, wife, or sweetheart that you participate fully in every phase of this great convention. To get into the full spirit of the occasion you will want to be in an American Legion uniform—now nationally official. The "Legionnaire," in spite of the fact that it is hand tailored under Union conditions and fully guaranteed as to specifications, is priced extremely low. The uniform cloth is regulation weight blue serge — guaranteed mothproofed and stamped. It carries the state seal on left shoulder, regulation stripe on trousers, Legion Medallions on lapel, Legion buttons on coat and pocket flaps and the regulation belt of full grain leather with belt hooks.

Not Too Late.

There is still time enough for those who desire one to get the new nationally official Legionnaire outfit at Bonds. Comrade Tom Nolan, official Legionnaire outfitter, is ready and waiting to serve you.

Bonds want everyone attending the convention to feel that their stores have a hugh WELCOME for them. Visitors are cordially invited to make use of any or all of the five great Bond Stores located in the Chicago area. American Legionnaires, we salute you!

U-BOATS SINK 2 BRITISH CRAFT; 3 OTHERS GET AWAY

One Shelled 50 Minutes Without a Hit.

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP).—The sea duel between Great Britain and German submarines continued today. Official announcement was made that two British trawlers, the Lord Minto and the Arlita, had been sunk without loss of their crews and that three other merchant vessels had eluded submarines. One reported a U-boat shelled it for 50 minutes without scoring a hit.

Britain's losses since the beginning of the war were set at approximately 30 vessels.

The admiralty announced that 682 survivors of the aircraft carrier Courageous, which was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine, had been accounted for. Among them were 72 officers and 610 seamen. Five hundred and seventy-eight are missing, including 18 officers. The list was reported "final."

Crew Tells of Attack.

The 3,395 ton Baron Lovat, carrying sugar, was one of three vessels the admiralty said had eluded U-boats. The crew came safely ashore at Greenock, Scotland, and reported that they dodged gunfire of a submarine off the Irish coast and later heard an explosion, which they believed destroyed the attacking U-boat. The admiralty's account continues:

The crew said the submarine, apparently short of torpedoes, shelled the Baron Lovat for 50 minutes without registering a hit, while the ship plowed ahead at full steam.

"'Then she submerged suddenly,' a deck hand said, 'and there was a violent explosion. Water shot high. The Baron Lovat shuddered and we thought a torpedo had hit us, but we were safe and the submarine itself must have been the victim.'"

The two other vessels said to have eluded submarines were the Rothesay Castle and the Baharistand.

Vestpocket Battleship Bombed.

An authorized interview with John Smith, 19 years old, who dropped the first British bomb of the war, disclosed that the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee was the principal victim of a raid on Kiel, Germany, on Sept. 4.

Referring to reports that the German liner Scharnhorst was being converted into a warship at Kobe, Japan, the ministry of information said Britain had been informed by Japan that arming of German craft in Japanese harbors would not be permitted.

BERLIN, Sept. 19 (AP).—The German high command indicated today that the submarine that sank the British Courageous had escaped. A communique said the sinking of the warship "was confirmed by a report of the German submarine which attacked the carrier."

The British admiralty had reported that the submarine was believed to have been sunk.

American Cargoes Seized.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—The state department was informed by the American embassy in London today that the cargoes of two American freighters have been seized by the British. The freighters are the Saccarappa and the Shickshinny, which sailed from Savannah, Ga., and were reported bound for German ports. The state department, it was reported, does not now contemplate diplomatic action on the seizures. An official said Secretary Hull was studying such cases and has not formulated his policy.

Nazis Seize Finnish Ships.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 19.—A German warship seized the Finnish steamers Suomen Polka, 1,175 tons, and Vega, 974 tons, near the Norwegian coast, it was reported today, and took them to Hamburg. This was the first reported German interference with Finnish shipping. The ships' cargoes consisted of woodpulp, plywood, and cheese consigned to England.

THIRTY GERMANS DENIED PASSAGE ON ITALIAN SHIP

Operators Fear Seizure at Sea by British.

New York, Sept. 19 [Special].—Thirty persons with German passports were refused permission today to sail for Europe on the Italian liner Rex.

The action was in accordance with an order from the line's office in Genoa, Italy, which denies passage to persons with German or Czechoslovak passports.

Although no explanation was given, the order was believed intended to prevent an excuse for the British searching Italian ships on the seas and capturing enemy nationals found aboard.

Among those escorted off the ship was Baroness Ruth Oppenheim, wife of a wealthy German banker. She planned to return to Cologne, Germany, to look after her three young children.

Baron Afraid to Go Home.

She and her husband arrived Aug. 28 from Germany with the intention of making a tour of South America and visiting relatives in California. The baron will remain here indefinitly to escape possible capture by the British.

Three hundred other passengers were aboard the ship. Among them were 15 Americans, nine in first class. They included Dewey W. Smith, vice president of the Studebaker Export corporation.

The story of the American freighter Artigas being stopped at sea by a German submarine was told today by a sailor. William Niectpiel told in Philadelphia about the submarine incident on Sept. 8, two days out of Cardiff, Wales. The ship's registry and destination were demanded before it was allowed to proceed.

Aboard the freighter were 26 Americans returning from Europe.

Five congressmen were among 602 passengers who returned today from Europe on the United States liner President Harding. They had been delegates to the interparliamentary union at Oslo, Norway.

Warn Against Propaganda.

The representatives issued a joint statement warning the American people against propaganda which would bring this country into the European war.

The congressmen were Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], Thomas S. McMillan [D., S. C.], Louis C. Rabaut [D., Mich.], and Dewey Short [R., Mo.].

In connection with an investigation to determine whether the United States liner American Trader had violated the embargo act, Robert C. Swanton, assistant secretary of the Winchester Repeating Arms company, said today his firm had a consignment of .22 caliber cartridges aboard the ship.

Swanton said the shipment, consigned to London, did not violate the embargo act, which applies only to ammunition larger than .22 caliber.

The American Trader is one of seven American ships held here by striking seamen after they had been scheduled to go aboard to return stranded Americans. The men have refused to take the vessels out unless paid war bonuses.

Thousands Still in Italy.

The Italian liner Vulcania left Trieste, Italy, today with several hundred Americans aboard. According to the latest census of foreigners, there were 13,075 American residents in Italy on May 31. Hardly more than half of those, perhaps only a third, have left for home.

Italian boats will make many more trips to return those in Italy as well as those coming from France, Germany and Switzerland. Once the Americans enter Italy, they can not return to America by any other route, because visas no longer are procurable even for Switzerland.

Many Americans may become stranded there because the return fare has been increased and must be paid in dollars.

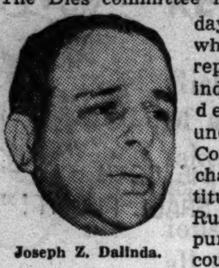
FURNITURE WORKERS STRIKE.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 19 [Special].—Fifty-five members of local No. 707, United Furniture Workers of America, a C. I. O. affiliate, went on strike today at the Blackhawk Furniture company because they said the company refused to sign a contract.

BARE RED CLAIM OF U. S. OFFICIAL AID IN SHIP DEAL

Soviet Memo Given to Dies Committee.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—The Dies committee investigated today a document which said soviet representatives induced the state department, under Secretary Cordell Hull, to change its attitude toward Russian warship purchases in this country from opposition to positive coöperation.



Joseph Z. Dalinda.

The document added that the agent's activities led to "several cabinet meetings at which a definite governmental policy was laid down" under which the state and navy departments "were advised and later instructed to give all possible assistance."

The document was an unsigned memorandum which Rhea Whitely, committee counsel, said was taken from the files of Joseph Z. Dalinda of New York, associate of Sam Carp, Russian born exporter. The latter testified yesterday he had sought to purchase battleships and other war materials for the soviets in this country in 1936 and later.

Memorandum to Carp.

The memorandum, of which Dalinda disclaimed any knowledge, was addressed to Carp and referred to "your Washington representative and his associates." Dalinda identified Preston McGoodwin as the "representative" and himself and Scott Ferris as the "associates."

In previous testimony McGoodwin was identified as an aid to Charles Michelson, publicity director of the Democratic national committee, and Ferris as a former congressman and now Democratic national committeeman from Oklahoma. Ferris said at Oklahoma City he received a $32,000 fee from Carp's company for regular services as an attorney and there was nothing irregular about the transaction.

The memorandum, which was read by Whitely, said that "it is not widely known" that the work of Carp's Washington associates had resulted in changing a "negative" state department attitude toward the Russian ship deal to one of "positive coöperation."

Tells of Hull's Rôle.

"Secretary Hull presented the case to his superior," the memorandum continued, adding: "As a result of this the matter was discussed at several cabinet meetings. The state department and proper navy authorities were advised and later instructed to give all possible assistance to advance your plans in connection with the building of a naval ship for the U. S. S. R.

"Mr. T. ascertained everything from the big chief himself, as also from all of the other high authorities."

Under Whitely's questioning, Dalinda said the "Mr. T." in the memorandum could have referred to Alexander Troyanovsky, former Russian ambassador to this country, and that "the big chief" was President Roosevelt.

Secretary Hull, commenting on testimony of yesterday regarding Carp's employment of McGoodwin, said at his press conference today he knew nothing about McGoodwin's reported influence with the department.

Dalinda, who immigrated from Russia in 1915, said he now is an American citizen and is engaged in developing patents, including those for military improvements.

RETIRED FARMER DIES.

UNITED FRONT FOR WHAT?

The White House conference today as a preliminary to the extra session of congress opening tomorrow is another in the series of attempts to use an alleged national emergency as the excuse for the united front. Stephen Early of the presidential secretariat said Mr. Roosevelt felt that this was no time to be labeling persons Democrats and Republicans. He had called in the national leaders, including the titular heads. Most of the conferees are members of congress. Mr. Roosevelt will address remarks to the two branches Thursday, giving his views on the course to be pursued in American neutrality.

The united front theory travels on the assumption that in a grave hour for the United States of America politics should be adjourned, partisanship liquidated, and, going to the logical conclusion, opposition relinquished. These are profitable assumptions for persons who want to have their own way and who will try to get it by putting some opprobrious labels on any one whose opinions are contrary to the desires of the government.

There is at present no national emergency other than the one which has persisted all through the two terms of the present administration. No guns are leveled at America, the country is not facing an ultimatum from any other power, no threatening demands are made on it, and no threatening voices are raised against it. No foreign nation is creating a crisis for it. Any crisis it encounters will be made by itself. For the present it is the wish of all other nations to remain on good terms with the United States.

Whatever emergency could arise must be created by the government. United fronts, with the submergence of opposition, are formed after grave national decisions are made, not while they're under discussion and in abeyance. While they are under discussion it is more than the privilege, it is the duty, of every responsible person to use his best judgment for the welfare and protection of his country. He is not to be silenced by an appeal to national solidarity for a common cause to which the nation has devoted itself, and he is not to be hushed up by appeals for all patriots to rally to the support of their government and their country.

The executive department has been adopting the tone of a worried national government confronted with the problems of national peril which require the undivided loyalties of the American people. This is a fraud and a dangerous deception. The only decision America has made thus far on the subject of neutrality is contained in the present act which Mr. Roosevelt desires amended. No emergency has arisen under this act concerning the United States in the slightest. The only loyalty required of American citizens is a continued devotion to the rights of free speech, to the prerogatives of congress to make laws, and to the cause of peace.

We are not at war, we are not at present anywhere near war, and if the wisdom of the people continues to prevail with them and with congress, we shall not have war. Efforts to create a sudden emergency by repeated impositions upon the good sense of the people constitute about the only danger America has of getting into a critical condition.

THE NEW DIVISION.

The new plan of organization for the division adopted by the United States army is a great improvement over the organization that we sent into the world war. Extensively tested by maneuvers of an experimental division in Texas, the new organization proved that it possessed speed and striking power far in excess of its predecessor.

Elimination of the brigades is a good thing. In 1917 brigades were more for military and political patronage than for use. No brigadier was killed or wounded during the war. It was probably too much to ask the army to give up its brigadier generals, but they have been made staff officers, eliminating a useless step in the channel of command. Another useless step of command, which might well follow the brigade to oblivion, is the artillery battalion. If battery commanders are competent, the battalion commander becomes a mere passer-on of orders from regimental headquarters.

The reduction of men in the artillery is another step in the right direction. Men are nothing but targets. It is the weapons they serve that do the work. In the last war we had fifty men to be shot at for every cannon to shoot. This was fully twice as many as were needed, and the use of horse transportation, now eliminated by motorization of artillery, was not the sole cause of the excess personnel. There was a terrible waste of man power in our world war army, due to assignments to useless duties that only increased the number of men under fire.

The new division is comprised almost wholly of fighting troops. Supply has been relegated to separate organizations, where it belongs. It goes without saying that unless the service of supply is reorganized and brought up to date as the fighting organization has been, the fighters cannot fight.

Also, the new division is as yet a paper organization. Paper divisions are worthless in battle. The army is short of modern artillery. The fine new semiautomatic rifle is being produced in infinitesimal quantities only. Many other vital items of equipment are lacking.

Instead of debating whether the United States shall supply the empires with munitions, congress should turn its attention to arming our own troops with modern weapons. Until it does so, we will not have an effective army.

REUNION IN BREST-LITOVSK.

The Russians and the Germans are together again at Brest-Litovsk. The Russians still call themselves Reds, as they did in the meeting in 1917. The Germans are the Nazis and not the monarchists. Lenin's Russia has disappeared with the execution, exile, or imprisonment of nearly all the bolshevists who at the first meeting were trying to make a peace with imperial Germany then at the flood tide of its military successes. It was doomed within the year.

The Russians and the Germans in their Brest reunion twenty-two years after their first meeting are consulting on the new partition of Poland in the old imperialist fashion. The Reds and the Nazis are brothers in arms, their forces joining over the dead body of the nation with which both less than a year ago had treaties to keep the peace and prevent aggression. Twenty-two years ago the two were enemies in thought and action.

Imperial Germany had gone into the conference with fair promises, the first of which was that it was not its intention to annex territories occupied during the war or deprive nations of their independence. Lenin was pulling Russia out of the war and his revolutionaries for a brief instant thought that they were about to get a peace without losses, either territorial or financial. They were quickly undeceived. The German annexations, veiled by pretenses of self-determination, would take the Baltic provinces and the Ukraine and cut deep into Russian territory and resources. The money exactions, also veiled, would bleed the Red revolution white.

Trotsky, at the end of the protracted and stormy conferences, made his disastrous experiment with nonresistance. He would not sign the peace. He would not make war. "We cannot affix the signature of the Russian revolution to terms which carry oppression, grief, and embitterment to millions of human beings," he shouted to the amazed representatives of Germany and Austro-Hungary. "We cannot sanctify outrages. We are leaving the war." He thought he was. The Germans recovered from their amazement. Their armies swept through undefended Russia until they were within thirty miles of Petrograd and had reached the Black sea. Then Lenin made the peace which Trotsky had persuaded him to refuse.

Brest-Litovsk called forth Wilson's speech of the fourteen points containing so much of the language of today. "What we demand in this war therefore is nothing peculiar to ourselves. It is that the world be made safe and fit to live in, and particularly that it be made safe for every peace loving nation which, like our own, wishes to live its own life, determine its own institutions, be assured of justice and fair dealing by other peoples of the world, as against force and selfish aggression."

The Russians and Germans are back at Brest, fraternizing over the division of spoils. The kaiser is at Doorn. The German republicans are dead. Trotsky is in exile. The other old bolos have been murdered and their ashes dishonored. The present actors are new, but it is the old stage and the lines of the play are the same.

GET OUT OF THE PARLOR.

For a time, now, when the moon rises high and the crisp leaves rustle in the soft breezes of the night, the four thousand or more young people who park each evening in the forest preserves can croon their sweet nothings in full, joyous harmony with nature. The forest preserve police, wise men, completely respect the privacy of such courting, even under its more modern and dissonant title of "flinging woo."

But the cold weather is coming. Besides that, there are comparatively few lucky swains who can command the family car for a journey to the woods, or to park in the lush seclusion of the lesser known tendrils of the outer drive and boulevards. Something ought to be done.

Most houses and flats have comfortable, commodious rooms known variously as drawing rooms, living rooms, or parlors. A plebiscite of all the Johnnies and Marys in the land would probably reveal there is no spot, however sequestered or remote, that even compares with a parlor as a scene for letting down the hair and flinging woo—especially a parlor with a good fat shelf of poetry on the side.

The obvious course for parents is to get out of the parlor now and then. Any clear thinking adult will see how difficult it might be to extol daughter's corn colored locks while papa is three feet away messing with his war maps. It is perfectly evident you can't be a hero demonstrating how you executed that end run with mamma sitting by, trying to get in a good, snappy version of Aunt Jane's operation. And if the folks start bringing out the family album, with all those cute little baby pictures, good night!

Those night club swing bands and double feature pictures are pretty awful things to endure, but, for the sake of our young, we could submit once a week anyway. Or maybe a good bridge game in the kitchen would suffice. But we parents have got to remember our own spooning days now and then. We have got to get out of that parlor.

THE COTTON TRADE IS GOOD, BUT NOT FOR US.

[New York Sun.]

The department of commerce, in its publication Textile Raw Materials, provides some reading matter which the department of agriculture might find of interest. Imports of cotton into the United Kingdom, for example, in 1938-1939 showed a decline of more than 850,000 bales from the 1937-1938 season; this was entirely at the expense of American cotton. Japan imported more cotton in June of this year than in the same month of 1938, but imported less American cotton than a year ago. In the first five months of 1939 Brazil exported 50 per cent more cotton than the corresponding period in 1938, increasing its shipments to Japan, Germany, China, France, and Italy. Cotton growers in the state of Sao Paulo, Brazil, are reported to be planning to increase cotton acreage by 10 or 15 per cent. The department of commerce underlines this report to emphasize it. Cotton delivered at Bremen in the 1938-1939 season, compared with that delivered in the year previous, showed a heavy decline in American cotton, a slight decline in cotton from other sources.

Will the statistics to be found in Textile Raw Materials, taken along with similar figures for the past, persuade Secretary Wallace that the cotton policy followed since 1933 has resulted merely in diverting part of the export cotton trade the United States once had to Brazil, India, and other countries?

A postcard contributor tries to tell us that in speaking of Kipling's "The City of Dreadful Night" [Sept. 16] we were guilty of a boner. He wants to know when we will refer to John Milton's "Venus and Adonis." Will he kindly take a look at the third story in Kipling's "In Black and White"? . . . Yes, we know about James Thomson's "City of Dreadful Night," and so did Kipling, for he put the title in quotation marks. . . . All this is a matter of small importance, except that whenever there is a soul in darkness we try to spread the light.

HEARTS ACROSS THE SEA.

There is a brotherhood in art,
A fellowship of mind and heart.
Whether poets be Irish or German or Greek,
There's the same thought back of the words they speak.
Whether a painter be English or Russ
He paints the same scene for the rest of us.
Italian or French though a singer may be,
He sings the same notes in the very same key.

There is a sisterhood of mothers,
A soul communion above all others.
A mother's a mother, when all is said,
Whether she's yellow or black or red,
And her heart is loving and tender and mild
For every other mother's child.
And the woes of children all over the earth

Lord, what are these mothers and artists for
But to tell Thy world there must be no war!

When Moody Preached and Sankey Sang.

Tom Tallmadge is in error in timing the early gospel crusade in Chicago of Moody and Sankey as "during the eighties" [Sept. 14]. It was in the fall of 1876 that Moody and Sankey stirred Chicago as it seldom has been before or since with a long series of meetings in a large tabernacle, constructed by John V. Farwell at Monroe and Market streets. It was a one story structure that was later transformed into a business block. Nearly ten years later, in January, 1886, Moody conducted a short campaign at the Chicago avenue church, but his famous singing partner, Ira D. Sankey, was unable to be with him in Chicago at that time.

FAVORITE SEASON.

How pleasantly comes Autumn to our land!
Not here does it bring dismal fog, cold rain,
And endless damp; but soft, on every hand,
It strolls approaching down a rainbow lane.
And many tints of yellow and of gold;
Strange reds and purples, too, that make one feel
As if it were the work of artist bold.
With clear bright blue of summer glows the sky;
Unnumbered gay hued blossoms strew the ground;
While fields and orchards smile at passersby:
In all the year could fairer scene be found?
Somewhere the Fall may be a season gray,
A time of melancholy, sad and drear,
Where summer's end is greeted with dismay

CARRYING ON WITH A PEPTIC ULCER.

CAN one go about, carry on his routine business, and—at the same time—harbor an ulcer in the stomach or duodenum? Well, thousands do. Some are unaware of the situation and they interpret such symptoms as heartburn, belching, and distress merely as indigestion. Manifestations of this nature are frequently deceiving. They may be far more noticeable in the spring and fall, ceasing entirely during the summer months when almost every one spends considerable time out of doors and consumes lighter meals with more vegetables. Many of these patients feel perfectly well until cooler weather — when back comes a burning or boring pain an hour or two after eating. Relief usually follows the drinking of a glass of milk.

It is highly desirable, of course, to banish discomfort of this sort with a full knowledge of what is wrong. Hence an X-ray study to determine the condition of the walls of the gastric pouch and duodenum is indicated. But all too often this is out of the question—pocketbooks won't permit it—and the physician is obliged to make a diagnosis on physical signs and a careful record of symptoms. In case of doubt it may be wiser to adopt a modified régime than to dismiss the matter with a wave of the hand. This should be emphasized particularly if the patient recalls that for a month or so each autumn—he experienced the same manifestations.

The main object of treatment is to reduce the acid in the gastric juice and thus get rid of its irritating effect upon the ulcer. Instead of taking large quantities of sodium bicarbonate or some other alkali, foods which stimulate acid production should be avoided. This means the omission of meats, soups, and gravies. In addition, spices, chocolate, and cocoa must be eliminated. Tobacco is forbidden temporarily and as much rest as possible should be obtained.

In the presence of such complaints—if malignancy has been ruled out and if there is no bleeding—many will do well on the following schedule:

Each waking hour the patient is advised to imbibe from one-half to a full glass of milk. This is the corner stone of the plan. Orange juice is used at breakfast and supper and the rest of the diet consists of one egg—served in any style except fried — with a half dozen soda crackers. While this is well nigh akin to starvation the decrease in weight will not be great. Within two or three days many will report that pain has disappeared and that they no longer "burp." But this does not signify that healing has occurred. Quite the contrary, in fact, as a long time may be required for recovery.

Gradually, within a week or two, the food allowance is increased with cooked cereal in the morning and mashed potatoes and boiled rice at noon and in the evening. By the third week—if comfort is fairly well established—strained vegetables such as asparagus, carrots, cabbage, cauliflower, green string beans, spinach, and tomatoes may be added. Care must be taken to shun all cellulose, or fiber.

At the end of a month boiled or broiled fish may be allowed with ripe banana, custards, gelatin, and ice cream. Thereafter, the menu is reasonably general, but well balanced, with the inclusion of lean beef and chicken. The milk program is continued with a half pint at midforenoon and midafternoon. During the entire period, vitamins A and D are supplied artificially. Orange juice furnishes C.

It should be emphasized that no victim of stomach ulcer should be without expert medical guidance. The course outlined above offers reasonable safety if a dozen visits can be made to a competent medical adviser during the first five or six weeks. The advantage lies in the fact that this management may be utilized with the patient who has a minor lesion and who is engaged in his usual work. At first there will be some drop in avoirdupois, but it will be regained as soon as the more generous food allowance is resumed. Even a loss of ten pounds—except in one who is extremely thin—need not be regarded as significant.

No one should permit signs of dyspepsia to persist for long without proper safeguards. Digestive tablets may be about as dangerous as the disease—they are likely to cover up important signposts.

FAVORS SILVER STAR IDEA.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 18.—A TRIBUNE reader from Highland Park suggests a silver star organization of women to keep America out of war. Here is a campaign for such an organization:

1. Have resolutions passed by women's clubs, send letters to congressmen urging an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the use of conscripted land troops anywhere but on the two American continents, the island possessions of the United States, and the Philippines.

2. Urge congress to build for the future a navy equaled by none and a strong standing army.

3. Make careers in the army and navy possible for college graduates.

4. Every woman interested in keeping her boys at home should write at least five of her friends urging them in turn to write their senators and representatives and to write five others.

The senior senator for Illinois declared he would vote millions for defense but not one dime to send boys to Europe. Fine. Let us put this principle into the constitution. We are at war with no one; we are threatened by no one. Let us mind our own business and cut out the hysterics. E. K. J.

[Other letters indorsing the silver star idea were received yesterday by THE TRIBUNE from F. L. T., A. W., Mrs. A. C. K., Beatrice M. Devaney, J. C., Mrs. E. F., Lida Browning White, E. O. Becker, L. E. M., Mrs. Paul F. Stein, Mrs. C. S., Mrs. Herbert P. Brumder, Manghild Julin, Mrs. O. H. Hewes, "A Mother," Mrs. H. F. C., E. L. C., and Mrs. Philip Doyle.]

THEIR WORK CONSTITUTIONAL.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The "taxpayer" who wrote you about married women working evidently has had his viewpoint distorted to a degree where he apparently thinks it is a crime for a married woman to work and that he is exposing something. May I remind him that under our constitution a married woman has as much right to work as a single woman and barring a constitutional amendment will continue to have that right. Laws prohibiting married women from working are obviously unconstitutional.

The writer employs four women, all of whom are married. The work is exacting and were I to increase my staff I cannot think of any single woman who would be capable of handling our work although I do know several other married women able to handle it.

Young, unmarried women generally regard a position as a stopgap until marriage and therefore have little interest in a position beyond their weekly pay check. Married women who work are ambitious, capable, and are generally making a lifetime career of their work. Single women should concentrate upon making themselves more efficient; in which case, they would find little difficulty in finding and holding positions.

LABOR'S SHORT WAVE STATION.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—THE TRIBUNE today carried a dispatch headlined "Move to Close Labor's Chicago Station W9XAA." It was from the Associated Press, and said the federal communications commission intended to deny a renewal of license for international broadcasting station W9XAA, short wave station of the Chicago Federation of Labor.

This is erroneous and might lead some people to the conclusion that the commission was denying us radio facilities which we desired.

The Chicago Federation of Labor, through the directors of WCFL, Inc., decided over two years ago to discontinue operation of W9XAA. The station has been closed down ever since then. The directors of WCFL decided to ask the FCC's permission to sell the equipment of W9XAA to a Utah company which operates broadcast station KSL at Salt Lake City. The FCC is reported to have denied this request.

Friends of labor who might interpret this article as meaning that labor was in danger of being denied radio privileges which it desired may dispel their fears.

The reason for discontinuing operation of the short wave station—W9XAA—was that an expenditure of over $90,000 would have been required to increase power to at least 5 kilowatts or more as required by new rules of the radio commission. In addition, the management felt that it desired to concentrate its energies on the development of as fine a regular broadcast station as possible, primarily interested in reception in the United States rather than in special and highly expensive programming aimed by beam transmission at other continents of the world. JOHN FITZPATRICK,
President, Chicago Federation of Labor.

BASEL, Switzerland — Whole villages are reported to have been depopulated in Alsace because of sympathy with the French. Muehlhausen has been reduced to a vast shambles by the Germans, it is reported here.

NISH, Servia — More than 400,000 Austrians have attacked along the whole Servian frontier, but have been repulsed with heavy losses.

PARIS—A French offensive movement along a 266 mile front from the Swiss border to the Netherlands is reported to have begun. Several million men are on each side. The war office says that because of the vast extent of the battle line results cannot be correlated for about a week. The public is told that victory in any particular spot will not be decisive and that many separate battles are likely to be fought before victory or defeat can be assigned to either side.

LONDON—Thousands of stranded Americans are sailing today from Liverpool, Naples, and Rotterdam.

WASHINGTON — The government was advised by Germany that it will do all in its power to help evacuate Americans safely.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Chicago, Sept. 12 [Friend of the People].—I was born in Germany and at the age of 4 years I went to Canada. My father was a naturalized Canadian citizen. I was married in Canada to a Canadian and in 1924 we came to the United States on a visit. In 1928 I was granted a divorce in Chicago and in 1930 I married an American citizen. I have one child by my second marriage. What procedure should I take to become an American citizen? I have never left the United States since 1924. E. A.

It is suggested that the inquirer call at this office with any papers the inquirer may have regarding the entry into the United States in 1924, in order that the exact immigration status may be ascertained and appropriate advice given.

FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,

EXECUTOR'S FEE.

Chicago, Sept. 14 [Legal Friend of the People].—My father died leaving a will my brother and I being heirs. My brother is [1] administrator charging no fee. There is no money, only real estate.

2. What should our lawyer charge us to probate will? We sold the home which is in this will and which is still in probate court. We posted a bond to sell and it was sold by a real estate man, but lawyer had to handle it on account of it being in probate.

3. What fee should he charge us?

R. E. D.

1. The personal representative named in a will is called an executor.

2. There is no statutory fee except that the executor's fee is fixed at not over 6 per cent of the personal property or the proceeds of sale of real estate, and in our opinion the lawyer's fee should come out of this.

Germany Ready for 7 Years' War! Hitler Warns England and France in Fiery Speech at Danzig

'WE WILL NEVER SURRENDER,' NAZI DICTATOR CRIES

Calls Victory in Poland Unrivaled in History.

ited, but these limits will be defended to the utmost.

"Nobody can fool with us—that has been proved to the world in these last eighteen days. What the borders will finally look like will depend on Russia and Germany. Germany has her demands and they will be fulfilled in one way or another.

"One thing is certain—Poland will never again revive in the shape of the Versailles treaty."

TEXT OF SPEECH

DANZIG, Sept. 19 (AP).—Here is a partial text of Adolf Hitler's speech here today:

"For the first time I am treading the soil where German settlers took possession of 500 years before the first whites settled the state of New York.

"Five hundred years longer has this soil been German, it remained German and will remain German—let every one convince himself of this.

"The fate which met this town and beautiful country is the fate of all Germany. The world war, the most senseless fight of all times, counted this town and this country among its victims and left the conviction behind that a similar fate must not be repeated.

"It is too bad that today this world war is apparently forgotten by the main instigators and those chiefly interested in this massacre.

"When this bloody fighting, into which Germany was forced without any war aims ended, a peace was to be drafted for humanity which was to lead to a new resurrection of law and thereby to final removal of all distress.

ASSAILS PEACE TREATY

"This peace was then put before the German people at Versailles, not in free negotiation, but was forced upon us by dictation. The fathers of this peace saw in it the end of the German people.

"Perhaps many men believed this peace to be the end of all distress but it was only the beginning of new trouble. Those who started and those who finished the war at that time erred on one point: they did not solve a single problem, but they created many more problems.

"It was only a question of time until representatives of the German nation would rise up to solve these newly created problems. For the basic problem was overlooked at that time—namely the fact that nations exist. This fact may or may not please one or another British war instigator: there are 82,000,000 Germans united in this lebensraum [living space].

Says Nation Shall Live.

"And these 82 millions want to live and they shall live. Even if it should again not please these instigators. Germany was accorded the worst injustice by the treaty of Versailles.

"If today the statesman of another nation [apparently a reference to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain] feels called upon to say he can not have confidence in the word of a German statesman or the German people then we Germans have the right to say we have no confidence whatsoever in the assurance of those who once unmercifully broke their most solemnly given word.

"I do not want to speak of injustice in the world. Injustice does not seem to be worst in the life of peoples. But the nonsense and stupidity with which peace was dictated in the world ignored all historic, economic, ethnological, and political facts. Conditions were set up then which make one ask whether the men who created them were really in possession of all their senses.

"Lacking any knowledge of the historical development of living spaces, and also lacking and understanding for economics, these people then roamed about Europe, destroyed states, partitioned lands, oppressed peoples and destroyed cultures. Here, too, fate was the victim of these outrages, and the Polish state was a product of this nonsense.

Points to German Sacrifice.

"It does not seem to be known in the world what Germany had to sacrifice for this Polish state. I must say this, however: All territory then united with Poland was the product of German activity, industriousness, and creation. The cultural importance of this territory is based exclusively on the German people.

"Plebiscites wherever held later demonstrated no one longed to live in this Polish state, which was created from the blood of innumerable German regiments and which then was expanded at the expense of the old territory used by Germans for settling—above all, at the expense of any reasonable economic development.

"One thing has been clearly proven within the last twenty years: The Pole who did not found this culture was unable to maintain it. Another fifty years would have been sufficient for this territory to return to the barbarism from which Germans tediously rescued it.

"This cultural decay already was noticeable throughout Poland. Poland itself, however, was a state composed of various nationalities. It was created along the same lines which brought blame to the old Austrian state.

Introduces Hitler

Albert Forster, Nazi leader in Danzig, who introduced Reichsfuehrer Hitler to wildly cheering audience in Danzig yesterday.

'NEVER A DEMOCRACY'

"Poland has never been a democracy. A very thin uppercrust not only ruled over foreign nationalities but also over their so-called own people.

"It was a state of force governed by the night stick, by police and last but not least by the military. The lot of Germans in this state was terrible. There is a difference between a people of less cultural importance meeting misfortune, of being governed by culturally more important people, and a people of high cultural importance being submitted to the tragic fate of rape by a people of lesser cultural importance.

"For, in these lesser important people, all manner of complexes show themselves and barbaric treatment results. Germans have been witnesses of this fate for nearly 20 years. Despite that I attempted here, too, to find a solution which perhaps could have led to a just compensation.

"I have made efforts in the west, later in the south of the reich to settle borders finally and thereby do away with insecurity in these regions and safeguard future peace there.

Praise for Pilsudski.

"Here, too [in Poland], I have attempted to reach the same goal. At that time a man of unquestionable realistic insight and activity existed in Poland. I succeeded in reaching an agreement with Marshal Pilsudski which was to pave the way for a peaceful understanding between both nations, an accord which could not recognize that which the Versailles treaty had created but which, by completely overlooking this treaty, aimed at least at laying the foundation for a reasonable and bearable neighborly relationship.

"As long as the marshal lived it seemed as if this attempt would lead to a diminishing of tension. Immediately after his death, however, an intensified fight against Germandom set in. This fight increasingly embittered and darkened relations between the two states.

"It was hardly possible to look on patiently when in a neighboring country, which had inflicted most serious damage to Germany, the German minority living there was persecuted in an almost barbaric manner.

"The world which sheds tears if a Polish Jew, who emigrated to Germany a few decades ago, is expelled from the reich, remains deaf and dumb in the face of the distress of those who, as a result of the Versailles treaty, had to leave their former homeland by the thousands and millions, especially if they were Germans.

"Germany is a great power and yet had to be a mere spectator while a people and a state of much lower rank manhandled Germans.

Cites Two Grievances.

"Two situations were especially unbearable:

"First, a city [Danzig] whose German character could not be denied, was not only prevented from returning to the reich, but by a thousand ways a gradual effort was made to Polanize it.

"Second, a province [East Prussia] which is cut off from the German reich possesses no direct access, but trafic with this province is dependent on all conceivable chicanery or from the benevolence of this Polish state. No power in the world would have tolerated this situation as long as Germany.

"I do not know what indeed England would have said to a similar peace solution at this cost or how France would have taken it, or even America.

PROPOSALS TO POLAND

"I submitted my attempts for a durable peace, also of this problem, in the form of verbal proposals to the then Polish rulers. These proposals were more than moderate. Danzig was to return to the German reich, an extraterritorial highway was to be built at our cost to East Prussia.

"In return Poland was to receive the freest port rights in Danzig and obtain the same extraterritorial approach. In return I was prepared even to guarantee the borders, despite the situation which for us was hardly bearable, and finally to allow Poland to participate in guaranteeing the Slovak state.

"I do not know in what state of mind the Polish government was when it declined these proposals. I do know, however, that innumerable millions of Germans took the view that I went too far. As an answer, Poland gave the order for the first mobilization. On the strength of that wild terror set in.

Tells of Polish Threats.

"My request that the then Polish foreign minister [Josef Beck] visit me in Berlin in order to discuss this question once more was declined. Instead of to Berlin, he traveled to London.

"There came then those weeks and months of increasing threats which even for a small state would have been hardly bearable, for a great power in the long run impossible.

"They racked their brains in Poland whether they should destroy our army before or behind Berlin, the Polish marshal [Edward Smigly-Rydz] who now has lamentably left his army in the lurch declared that he would hack Germany and the German army to pieces. Then began a martyrdom for our German nationals who in tens of thousands were abducted, mishandled or killed in the cruellest manner.

"Sadistic beasts vented their perverse instincts on them. The entire world saw and looked on without turning a hair. At first they believed the German nation continually would stand for all that from such a laughable state, because Poland had been told this was possible by a certain place—by that place in which the general war agitators have been sitting for the last century.

Assails British Leaders.

"There the Poles were even given a guarantee that in case their own resistance was not sufficient they could always make sure of the assistance of the other. The decision was put into their hands to begin war. For these men, to be sure, Poland was only a means to an end. For today they declare quite calmly that it is not primarily a question of Poland at all but of the German régime.

"I have always pointed to this danger which exists in fact, that without further ado men can arise in a land and unceremoniously preach war as a necessity. I mean Gentlemen Churchill, Eden, Duff Cooper, etc. I have pointed out how dangerous that is in a land where one never quite knows whether these men soon would not be in the government. I was told then that never would be the case. In my opinion they now are the government.

"At that time I never left any doubt that Germany would not capitulate under any circumstances in the face of threats of the power of these men. This, my answer, then was most severely attacked, for gradually a certain practice developed in the democracies, namely:

Speaks of Discipline.

"In democracies one may agitate for war, there foreign régimes, statesmen, and heads of state may be attacked, slandered and villified for there freedom of speech and press reigns.

"In authoritarian states one may not offer resistance against that, for there discipline rules, and only in states without discipline is it accordingly permissible to agitate for war because in disciplined states the answer may not be given.

"At that time I determined slowly to inform the German people of the doings of this criminal clique. And the German nation slowly has been brought to that point of defense which I hold necessary in order not to be surprised some day.

SAYS POLES DIDN'T COME

"I believe that in the last days of August it still would have been possible, to be sure without the British guaranty and agitation of these apostles of war, to reach an understanding. At one time England itself sought to bring us in direct conference with Poland.

"I was ready for that. The Poles were the ones who did not come. I sat with my government for two days in Berlin and waited. In the meantime, I had worked out a new proposal which was read to the British ambassador sentence for sentence at the beginning of the first day.

"My foreign minister in addition gave him clarifications. The next day came. Nothing happened except the Polish general mobilization, new acts of terror and attack on our reich's territory.

"Even in international life one may not continually mistake patience for weakness. For years I looked on these continuing provocations with boundless fears.

"What I myself often suffered during this long period, only a few can estimate. For, hardly a month, hardly a week passed in which some sort of committee did not come to me from this territory, pictured the unbearable situation of Germandom and repeatedly pleaded with me to intervene.

Insists Peace Was Possible.

"Again and again I requested them still to try. Year after year it continued this way. But I constantly warned that it finally must end. After months of waiting and always new proposals, I finally decided to speak with the Poles in the language which the Poles believed they were able to speak to us. Even in that moment peace still could have been saved.

"Friendly Italy, the Duce, stepped in and made a mediation proposal. France was agreeable. And I also declared my agreement. England caused this proposal to be rejected and instead believed it could send the German nation a two-hour ultimatum with impossible demands.

"The English deceived themselves in only one way: They mistook the the present German régime for the régime of November, 1918, which they supported, and the German nation of today with the then deluded German nation.

Ultimatums Rejected.

"Ultimatums can not be presented to the Germany of today. The German reich is not willing to be talked to in such a tone. I know that if Poland chose war it did so because others pushed it into it, those others who believe that through this war they would perhaps do their largest world political and financial business.

"It will not be their greatest business, however, but their greatest disappointment. Poland chose to fight because certain statesmen of the west had assured it that they possessed concrete evidence of the worthlessness of the German army, of lesser value of our armament, of the bad morale of our troops, of a defeatist attitude within the reich, of a discrepancy which was said to exist between the German people and its leadership.

"The Poles were encouraged that it would be an easy matter for them not only to resist but also to throw our army back. Thereupon Poland set up its campaign plan with the advice of western general staff officers. Since then 18 days now have passed and hardly ever in history could the saying be expressed with more right: 'With horse and man and wagon the lord defeated them.'

Their Days Recalled

70,000 Prisoners Taken.

"Our troops now are drawn up in a long line from Brest [Brest-Litovsk] to Lwow and northward. In this moment endles columns of the defeated Polish army are marching as war prisoners since yesterday from the region around Kutno. This forenoon there were 70,000 already.

"All the Polish army standing west of this line will surrender within a few days, will lay down its arms or we will destroy them. The German army has taught the Polish statesmen a necessary lesson. Marshal Smigly-Ridz erred in direction. Instead of in Berlin, he landed in Cernauti [Rumania]. With him is the entire government and all the seducers who have driven the Polish people into this madness.

"German soldiers, however, have done their duty in the highest possible manner on land, sea and in the air. Again our German infantry proved to be an incomparable master. Its bravery, courage and activity often have been aimed at but never reached.

Lauds Air Force.

"New weapons, our motorized units, have proved their worth. The sailors of our navy admirably fulfilled their duty and above all the German air force is on guard protecting German air.

"Those who dreamed of shattering Germany and lay in ruins German cities are no longer to be heard from because they know that for every bomb falling on a German city five or 10 will fall on their cities.

"They should not pretend that they want to resort to this type of warfare out of humanitarian reasons.

"But the Polish soldier fought bravely at many places. The leadership in the medium ranks was fair, in the higher ranks it was bad and the organization was Polish.

300,000 IN NAZI CAPTIVITY

"At this moment roughly 300,000 Polish soldiers are in German captivity. Nearly 2,000 officers are amongst them and many generals. I must mention, however, that besides the bravery of many Polish units admitted by us, there are the foulest deeds that have happened anywhere else in the last few decades.

"There are things which I, as a soldier who fought in the world war but only in the west, never learned. Thousands of massacred German nationals and fiendishly slaughtered women, girls and children, innumerable German soldiers and officers who fell into the hands of opponents were massacred; eyes were gouged out and they were bestially mutilated.

"The worst, however: This Polish government has openly admitted through its own broadcasts that parachute soldiers of the air force have been murdered. One must ask whether under such conditions one should still limit the method of warfare.

"I have no knowledge that any of our democratic statesmen deemed it worth while to protest against this barbarism.

Charges Civilian Sniping.

"I have given orders to the German air force to lead this war humanely, in other words, only against fighting troops. The Polish government and the army command gave their civil population orders to conduct the war as ambush snipers. It was very difficult to maintain one's patience.

"I would like to emphasize that the democratic states should not believe that things must remain that way eternally. If they want it differently they can have it. Even here my patience can come to an end.

"Despite this treacherous manner of warfare, our armies conquered this opponent with lightning rapidity. One English newspaper wrote a few days ago that I dismissed one general because I had counted upon a lightning war and was bitterly disillusioned by the slowness of these operations.

"This article seems to have been concocted by the same strategist who gave the Poles strategic advice for lining up their armies.

"We have attained that state of affairs in Poland which perhaps enables us now to speak reasonably and calmly with the representatives of this people.

Explains Soviet Position.

"In the meantime Russia found itself in a position on her march into Poland for the protection of the interests of White Russian and Ukrainan nationals.

"Now we see that in England and France this collaboration of Germany and Russia is looked upon as a tremendous crime. An Englishman wrote that this is perfidiousness in the fact that an attempt of collaboration of democratic England with bolshevist Russia failed, while on the contrary the attempt of National Socialist [Nazi] Germany with bolshevist Russia succeeded.

"I should like to explain right here: Russia remains what it is and Germany will remain what it is. But both régimes see clearly that neither the Russian nor the German régimes want to sacrifice even a single man for the interests of the western democracies.

"The lesson of four years of war suffices for both states and both peoples. We know exactly that alternately one or the other could be honored with the call to jump into the breach for the ideals of the western democracies.

Calls British Assertion "Lie."

"We are of the opinion from now on to look after our interests ourselves, and we find we can represent them best if the two greatest peoples and states come to terms with each other.

"This is the easier since the British assertion of the unlimited aims of Germany foreign policy is proved to be a mere lie. I am mighty glad now to contradict those who continuously asserted that Germany had the intention to rule Europe up to the Ural mountains. They will now be happy when they at last learn of the limitation of German political intentions.

"I believe thereby I take another reason for war from them. For, they declare they must fight the present German régime just for these reasons because this régime is pursuing unlimited war aims.

"Well, gentlemen of the British empire, Germany's aims are very limited. We have talked about them with the Russians. In the last analysis we are mostly interested neighbors. Englishmen opine that thereby we may get into conflict.

DOESN'T WANT UKRAINE

"But we shall not. The basis of understanding between Germany and soviet Russia is the removal of this nightmare which bore heavily upon British statesmen. In their view the German régime desires to conquer the world.

"Let us hope that they are calming down now that they know that it is not true that Germany wants to conquer the Ukraine.

"We have very limited interests. However, we are determined to represent these interests in any case. That the German does not stand for joking in that connection should have been proved by the events of the last 18 days.

"How definite the fixation of the state of conditions in this large territory will look depends in the first place upon the two countries which here posess their most important interests.

Accepts Final Boundaries.

"Germany here proceeds with limited, but unshakeable demands, and she will realize these demands one way or another. Germany and Russia will here establish in place of a European danger spot a condition that henceforth can only be adjudged an alleviation of tension.

"If the west declares that this must under no circumstances be done, and if first of all England declares she is determined to oppose this if necessary with war lasting perhaps three, five, or eight years, I should like to reply:

"In the west and south of its reich Germany has accepted final boundaries through serious renunciations. Through such renunciations Germany has sought to bring about a final satisfaction everywhere.

"We believe we would have been successful if certain war agitators did not possess an absolute interest in the disturbance of European peace. Neither against England nor against France have I any kind of war aim, nor has the German nation.

Recalls Gesture to France.

"Since I came to power I have endeavored gradually to bring about again a close trustful relationship, especially with our former world war opponents. I endeavored to remove again all the tension which once existed between Italy and Germany, and I can state with satisfaction that I was completely successful, thanks to the close personal relationship of trust with Mussolini.

"I also sought to accomplish the same status with France. Immediately after settlement of the Saar question, I ceremoniously renounced all border revision in the west. I set the entire German propaganda in the service of this conception and eliminated everything which could have given Paris occasion to doubt or be concerned.

Pronounces Poland's Doom.

"My offers to England are known. I had only the great aim of being able to reach a sincere friendship with the English people. If all that was met by rebuff and if England believes today it is necessary to wage war against Germany, then I would like to make the following answer:

"Poland never again will rise in the form of the Versailles treaty. Not only Germany, but also Russia guarantee that.

"If notwithstanding England now undertakes an apparent change of war aims and thereby unveils its real war aims, that namely a war against the present régime in Germany is more important, I want to make the following answer:

"Fundamentally I have so educated the German people that every régime which is praised by our enemies is rejected by us. If therefore a German régime would receive the agreement of Gentlèmen Churchill, Duff Cooper, and Eden, then this régime would only be paid and kept by these gentlemen and thereby be unbearable for Germany. It is therefore very laudable for us to be rejected by these gentlemen.

"I can assure these gentlemen of one thing: If they would not lie I would be deeply concerned. I am proud to be attacked by them. If however these peoples think that thereby they can split the German people from me, then they consider this nation either as fickle or as foolish as they themselves are.

CALLS NAZIS 'HE-MEN'

"National Socialism has not educated the people in the last 20 years for nothing. We are he-men who in a long fight have always been attacked by our enemies. What our enemies did to us only increased our followers and created this indissoluble unit.

"And just as the National Socialist party took this battle upon itself through the years and finally emerged victoriously, so the National Socialist German reich and the German people likewise assumes this battle.

"The gentlemen can be assured: Through their laughable propaganda they never again will disintegrate the German people. These propaganda bunglers ought first of all to come to us and undergo a schooling.

STAY OUT OF WAR, IS BANKER'S PLEA IN BIG NEWSPAPER AD

Topeka, Kas., Sept. 19 [Special].—A full page advertisment in the Topeka State Journal today caused more comment than much of the news in the paper. It was a message headed "Keep Out of War," and the space was bought and paid for by J. R. Burrow, president of the Central National bank and the Central Trust company.

The advertisment says that the thing America needs most now is protection from propaganda designed to get this country into war. It urges the reader not to let hatred of Adolf Hitler and his policies lead to the "suicidal thought" that America should go to war. It adds that after we solve our own poblems there will be plenty of time left to attempt the age-old ones of Europe.

"If a nation breaks apart, then it won't be the German nation which is fighting for its rights, which wants no war but which has been attacked. Rather those peoples will fall to pieces who gradually will comprehend how little basis for war their seducers had and that the only reason for war lies in profit and political interests of a very small clique.

Ready for 7 Year War.

"When they say that this war will last for three years, then I can only express my pity for the French poilu.

"At present he knows only that he will have to fight for at least three years. Whether the war will last three years also depends on us. If it should last for three years the word capitulation will not appear at the end of the third year, neither at the end of the fourth, nor the end of the seventh year.

"The German people will not emerge defeated from this fight. Instead it will grow firmer and firmer. If something shatters, it will be those so-called world empires which are solely built upon the suppression and ruling of peoples.

"We do not permit some narrow minded propaganda nincompoop to disseminate that it is only one régime that must be fought against. These people do not lead wars themselves, instead they look all around the world to find those who lead them.

Hitler Accepts Gauntlet.

"They supply cannons and grenades and others supply the soldiers. What an irresponsibility! What would be said if we had ever declared that the régimes in France and England are not to our liking and that hence he must make war.

"What a mean irresponsibility! For such purposes millions of men are hurled into death. We shall see how long these gentlemen who have not been in the field for one hour will hold out in this war.

"There is, however, no doubt about one thing: We accept the gauntlet and we shall fight in the same manner as our opponents. England already has begun the fight against women and children with hypocrisy and lies. They have a weapon which they think is unbeatable, namely, domination of the seas.

HINTS OF NEW WEAPON

"On the seas they say England cannot be attacked and that, therefore, they are justified in waging a war with that weapon against women and children not only of the enemy, but also of neutrals.

"They should have no illusions. The time could rapidly come when we apply a weapon against which we cannot be attacked. Let us hope that they then suddenly do not remember humanity.

"We Germans do not want to do it. It is not along our lines. In this campaign I gave orders to spare cities if possible. Naturally, if a column marches across a market place and is attacked by airplanes, it may happen that somebody else is the victim.

"As a rule we have maintained the principle of sparing cities and civilian populations. At places where idiotic or mad, or criminal elements did not resist, not a single window pane was shattered.

"In a city like Cracow not a single bomb fell into the city except at the railway station and at the airdrome.

Refers to British Blackade.

"If, on the other hand, in Warsaw there now begins a war of civilians, in all streets and from all houses, then, of course, this war will include the entire city.

"It is also up to England to lead the blockade along lines which comply with international law or along lines which contradict international law.

"We shall adapt ourselves to this warfare. There should be no mistake about one thing. The English aim logically no longer is a war against a régime, but a war against the German people, against German women and children.

"The reaction here will be a similar one. One thing will be certain: This Germany does not capitulate. We know exactly what the fate of this Germany would be. Mr. King-Hall, on orders of his masters, has informed us: A second [treaty] but still worse than the Versailles treaty.

[Commander Stephen King-Hall, English publicist, sent a form letter to many Germans in July. The letter denounced Hitler's foreign policy and predicted a catastrophe for Germany in event of war. The German recipients were told that after another war, which Germany would lose, a peace would be dictated "compared with which Versaillers would be child's play."]

Hails German Courage.

"The Versailles treaty was intended to annihilate 20 million Germans. Thus the second may nearly realize this intention. Meanwhile we received further illustrations of how Germany shall be divided up, how southern German countries shall be torn away, what Poland will obtain again, what new states shall be erected, which princes shall be crowned again, etc.

"The German people take due notice thereof and will fight accordingly.

"The German people in the last few weeks gave a remarkable demonstration not only of their inner determination but of actual courage. The German people are much more enthusiastic than in 1914, but now it is not a superficial hurrah patriotism but an emphatic determination.

"It is the enthusiasm of men who know what war is and who have not gone into this war frivolously but who are determined to conduct this war which was forced upon them as was done on the old front.

Hitler Utters a Wish.

"We all know the horrors of these events but are determined to bring them to a successful conclusion, come what may. We have only one wish—that Almighty God who now has blessed our weapons may give other people's light to see how purposeless this contest is.

"We pray he may cause them to reflect on the blessings of peace which they are sacrificing merely because a handful of war agitators want to involve peoples in conflict.

"Whatever burdens may fall to the lot of individual Germans in the next few months and years, they will be easy in view of the consciousness of firm unity which binds our people together.

"I accept you, my dear Danzig compatriots, into this brotherhood of unity, determined never again to allow you to be drawn away. This determination is at the same time a precept for the whole movement and all Germany:

"Danzig was German, is German, and remains so as long as there is a German people and empire for which we are determined to stand until the last breath. This Germany of the German national community of all Germans, the greater German reich. Sieg heil!"

DEWEY BACKER WINNER IN N. Y. G. O. P. PRIMARY

New York, Sept. 19 (AP).—Kenneth F. Simpson, Republican national committeeman and supporter of Thomas E. Dewey in his race for district attorney, retained control of the New York county G. O. P. committee in today's primary.

Simpson's candidates swamped the opposition in his home district, known as the "silk stocking" district, where a faction sought to weaken him. The effort to unseat Simpson was based on his local alliances with the American Labor party, which figured prominently in the election of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and Dewey.

In the Democratic primary Representative James H. Fay, New Dealer elected in President Roosevelt's purge of former Representative John J. O'Connor a year ago, defeated the veteran Tammany leader, William P. Kenneally, for leadership in his home district.

Contesting for the Republican nomination for the congressional seat of the late Bert Lord, Edwin Arthur Hall of Binghamton led in unofficial primary returns from 172 of 291 districts of the 34th congressional district. He received 11,292 votes to 8,333 for Clarence L. Chamberlain.

UNWANTED GIRL TO TELL COURT OF LATE HOURS

Shirley Boese, who was 17 years old last month, will have to explain to Judge Rudolph Desort today or tomorrow why she keeps late hours. Judge Desort ordered her appearance yesterday after reading her mother's ledger.

Shirley's mother, Mrs. Edna Boese Elmstrom, 8020 Vernon avenue, is trying to void the custody order given her when she obtained a divorce. Neither the mother nor the father, Roy Boese, wants Shirley. Both say she is intractable. Judge Desort recently decided to put Shirley on a curfew law in her mother's home. She was to be home by 11 o'clock five nights a week, midnight one night, and 2:30 a. m. the seventh.

Attorney Frank Teed yesterday submitted Mrs. Elmstrom's record of Shirley's last 61 nights. It showed that Shirley stayed home ten nights; on only 16 others was she home by 11 p. m.; six times she came home after 2:30 a. m.; 17 evenings were spent in night clubs or cocktail lounges, and on 23 occasions she went out with 13 different boys.

CONFER ON LABOR ROW AT HOUSING PROJECT TODAY

Representatives of the hoisting engineers' union will meet today with the arbitration committee of the Building Construction Employers' association to discuss a labor dispute on the Ida B. Wells south side public housing project. Edward M. Craig, executive secretary of the association, said the meeting will be held in his office, 228 North La Salle street.

Thompson-Starrett company, 208 South La Salle street, are general contractors on the $6,934,000 job. Miss Elizabeth Wood, secretary of the Chicago housing authority, said yesterday that work started Aug. 24 and has been delayed since Aug. 25 because of the dispute.

At the request of Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d] the labor committee of the city council will hold a hearing on the dispute Friday morning. Ald. William A. Rowan [10th], committee chairman, said he has asked the union, housing authority, and contractor to be represented.

Actress Annabella Returns from France Via Clipper

Port Washington, N. Y., Sept. 19 [Special].—The Pan-American flying boat American Clipper, erroneously reported down off the Azores last night, landed at its Port Washington base at 2:58 p. m. today after leaving Lisbon, Portugal, at 5:45 p. m. yesterday. Among the passengers was Annabella, French movie actress wife of Tyrone Power, who said she had gone to France hoping to persuade her mother to come to this country. Her mother refused, she said, because one of her two sons is in the army and the other expects to be called. Annabella was accompanied by her daughter, Anne Murat, 9 years old.

LONDON CHARGES FUEHRER'S TALK IS FULL OF LIES

Assails His 'Shameful Betrayal' of Promises.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 20. [Wednesday].—The British ministry of information, in a commentary on Fuehrer Hitler's Danzig speech, today charged that the German dictator's statement was "full of the crass misstatements which usually fall from his lips."

The commentary referred to what it termed Hitler's "shameful betrayal" of promises and contrasted his utterances about Poland and Russia today with what he said on the same subjects last year, when he praised the Poles and denounced the soviets.

"It is surprising," the commentary declared, "that a man in his responsible position should venture to convict himself so palpably out of his own mouth."

Chamberlain Speaks Today.

The British government was reported to be closely studying the text of Hitler's address, and Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain is expected to reply to it in his statement to the house of commons today.

The political correspondent of the Daily Express declared in this morning's paper that the British government is keeping in close touch with the French and Polish governments, and that any proposals which may have been made by Germany will be jointly examined.

Hitler, the correspondent said, is regarded as certain to make proposals to the Poles for settlement of the war. These proposals, the correspondent said, seem likely to include the creation of a buffer state between Russia and Germany. Reference in Hitler's speech to the possibility of talking to Polish representatives was taken as an indication that some such plan is afoot.

Insist Britain Will Fight On.

Most London morning papers insist in editorials, however, that it will make no difference in the British government's determination to carry on the war against Germany.

The ministry of information's commentary on Hitler's speech denied the Fuehrer's charge that England is waging inhumane warfare through its blockade of Germany.

"There is no question of Great Britain waging war, as Herr Hitler declares, on German women and children," the commentary said.

"The German government have already declared that there are ample stocks of food in Germany, but the restriction of the import of raw materials is not a measure of which the German government can legitimately complain.

"Finally, Herr Hitler's account of the circumstances attending the outbreak of war is a travesty of the facts. He was determined on war and hoped to the last that Great Britain would not fulfill her treaty obligations to Poland.

Charges "Shameful Betrayal."

"It was only two days after the invasion of Poland when no reply had been received to the British communication, that an ultimatum was addressed to the German government."

Referring to Hitler's statement that he did not know in what state of mind the Polish government could have been to reject his peace proposals, the commentary said:

"The answer is that the Polish government had before their eyes the shameful betrayal of the solemn assurances given by the German government at Munich. They knew that these demands were only the preliminary to further exactions. If Herr Hitler had wished to inspire confidence in his word he should have been less reckless with his earlier promises."

France Spurns Peace.

PARIS, Sept. 19 (AP).—The implied bid of Fuehrer Hitler in his speech today for peace on his own terms was rejected by France tonight. A French commentary issued to the press said:

"France and Britain will not let the dictatorship of Hitler condemn the world to slavery and ruin of all moral values and the destruction of liberty."

SINGLE PERSONS MAKE UP 51 PCT. OF RELIEF CASES

There were 56,454 single person cases, which make up 51.8 per cent of the total number of 109,001 cases on the Chicago Relief administration rolls during August, E. E. Ferebee, CRA statistician, reported yesterday. Relief officials expect the proportion of single person cases on the CRA rolls to increase because the Works Progress administration is supposed to be employing only the heads of needy families.

Ferebee's report also showed that the central intake office, which passes on applicants for relief from half the city, rejected 53.2 per cent of those who applied, while the rest of the district offices were rejecting only 28.7 per cent of their applicants. Each of the latter 10 offices passes on relief applications from its own district.

A report issued last week showed that central intake is more efficient and less expensive in handling relief applicants than are district offices.

Bomb Explosion Causes $200 Loss to Milk Store

The store of the Lincoln Milk company at 1925 South Kedzie avenue was bombed early today with damage estimated at $200. The bomb was exploded at the front entrance and wrecked two doors and five plate glass wndows. William Riffkind, one of the owners, said his employés are all union men and he could give no reason for the bombing.

BRITISH EMBARGO STAND REVERSES ATTITUDE IN '14

Then They Fought Change in American Law.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19.—The confidential files of the state department reveal that in 1914, when an embargo on the shipment of munitions to belligerents was proposed in the senate, both Great Britain and the Wilson administration took the position that it would be unneutral to change the rules while the war was in progress.

Sir Edward [later Viscount] Grey, British foreign secretary, protested to the American government that Great Britain would regard such a change as an unneutral act.

A munitions embargo, proposed in 1914 but never brought to a vote at that time, now is the law of the land and has been since President Roosevelt signed it on May 1, 1937. Now the Roosevelt administration is demanding that the arms embargo be repealed during the progress of the European war. Spokesmen for the German foreign office already have asserted that such action during the course of the war would be unneutral. The Germans are taking precisely the same position taken by the British in 1914.

Files Bared in Arms Quiz.

The confidential world war diplomatic correspondence of the state department was made available to the senate munitions investigating committee, headed by Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], about four years ago, but much of it never has been published. The correspondence relating to the arms embargo proposal covers the period from December, 1914, to Aug. 5, 1915.

The United States of America was engaged at that time in a controversy with Great Britain with respect to the British blockade of Germany. Britain had extended its contraband list to include food and other requirements of the German civilians, and was interfering with neutral shipping.

Not only Germany but America accused the British of violating the recognized principles of international law, as well as their specific engagements in The Hague conventions of 1899 and 1907 and in the declaration of London of 1909. The British ignored the declaration of London on the ground that the house of lords had voted adversely upon it.

Hines Tells Grey's Wishes.

Early in December, 1914, Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock [D., Neb.] introduced a resolution to place an embargo on the exportation of munitions of war to all belligerents. This greatly disturbed the British government. On Dec. 11, 1914, the American ambassador to London, Walter Hines Page, sent this telegram to the state department:

"Sir Edward Grey unofficially expressed the hope to me that the bill introduced by Mr. Hitchcock, aimed to prohibit the exportation by private firms of munitions of war to any belligerent, will not pass. He calls attention to the fact that this would be special legislation passed while a war is in progress, making a radical departure from a long established custom and that for this reason [it would be] an unneutral act toward the belligerents that can profit by it."

Sir Edward meant that the proposed embargo, if imposed during the course of the war, would favor Germany, which was unable to obtain munitions from America because of the British blockade.

Even Bryan Opposed Change.

The state department correspondence discloses that even the pacific William Jennings Bryan opposed the Hitchcock embargo resolution, although he had urged strict American neutrality. Later he resigned as secretary of state when he learned that Undersecretary Robert Lansing was conniving behind his back to put America on the side of the allied powers.

Bryan replied to Ambassador Page that he had given this explanation to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador: "Mr. Hitchcock did not consult the President or state department in regard to his resolution."

In February, 1915, the American government sent identical notes to Germany and Great Britain proposing an agreement among the belligerents whereby, among other things, foodstuffs for Germany would be admitted through the British blockade.

Gerard Makes Proposal.

James W. Gerard, American ambassador to Berlin, proposed to Secretary Bryan "that you say that if Germany accepts the proposition contained in the identical note that the United States will put an embargo on the export of arms unless England and her allies agree to accept the same proposition."

Gerard was suggesting that America use the arms embargo threat as a bargaining weapon to force Great Britain to abide by the rules of international law.

On March 2, 1915, Bryan replied to Gerard: "Department regrets it cannot accept suggestion." On April 4, 1915, the German government, through Count von Bernstorff, its ambassador, appealed to America as follows:

"If it is the will of the American people that there shall be a true neutrality, the United States will find a means of preventing this one-sided supply of arms or at least of utilizing it to protect legitimate trade with Germany, especially that in foodstuffs."

Bryan Gives Reply.

Bryan replied to Bernstorff as follows:

"This government holds, as I believe your excellency is aware, and as it is constrained to hold in view of the present indisputable doctrines of accepted international law, that any change in its own laws of neutrality during the progress of a war which would affect unequally the relations of the United States with the nations at war would be an unjustifiable departure from the principle of strict neutrality by which it has consistently sought to direct its actions. The placing of an embargo on the trade in arms at the present time would constitute such a change and be a direct violation of the neutrality of the United States."

On Aug. 5, 1915, Wilson said, in a memorandum to Lansing:

"We are absolutely unanswerable in our position that these things [the embargo of munitions] cannot be done while a war is in progress as against the parties to it."

In his memoirs, Lord Gray stressed the fact that the Wilson administration did not perceive the importance of the arms embargo proposal as a bargaining asset, or else did not choose to use it to force Great Britain to respect the rights of neutral shipping.

"The blockade of Germany was essential to the victory of the allies, but the ill-will of the United States meant their certain defeat," Lord Gray wrote.

"Germany and Austria were self-supporting in the huge supply of munitions. The allies soon became dependent for an adequate supply on the United States. If we quarreled with the United States we could not get that supply. It was better, therefore, to carry on the war without blockade, if need be, than to incur a break with the United States about contraband."

Military experts estimate the soviet union has at least 2,000,000 soldiers on its western front. Between 500,000 and 1,000,000 men are said to be participating on the Polish front.

A survivor from the British aircraft carrier Courageous said sailors sang and cheered while swimming away from the foundering carrier after it was attacked by a German submarine.

The chief of police of Cernauti, Rumania, estimated 100,000 Polish refugees had entered the city. In the steady stream of trafic were taxis from Warsaw and a fire engine and hook and ladder truck from Cracow.

The Swedish finance ministry has asked the government for 20,000,000 crowns [about $4,000,000] to keep coal prices down. The state will pay the difference between import and market prices.

The duke of Windsor resigned his army rank as field marshal for the lower rank of major general, so that he might serve actively with the British expeditionary forces.

The French government ordered all persons and companies to declare all foreign holdings. These amount to 100 billion francs [$2,200,000,000] centered chiefly in the United States.

The owners of three ships whose sailors refused to sail under the Irish flag made arrangements to change ports of registration so that the British flag could be flown.

EUROPEAN NEUTRALS CONTROL ARMS OUTGO, A SURVEY REVEALS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—An unofficial survey disclosed today that neutral European nations are maintaining a control over the shipment of arms to belligerents. Sweden's governmental supervision dates back to 1779. Sweden has several highly efficient arms factories, but whether she will sell arms to Germany or the western allies has not been made clear.

Norway has no specific legislation covering arms exports but has legislation requiring governmental licenses for all exports, which would of course include arms. Denmark has one large arms plant. For a decade, her policy has been not to sell arms to a belligerent.

The Netherlands recently prohibited the export of arms without first obtaining licenses, and Switzerland maintains a control over arms shipments. Italy believes in the free export of arms and has refused to adhere to international conventions for the control of the arms trafic. All exports, however, are under government control.

NATION BELIEVES IT CAN AVOID WAR, LANDON ASSERTS

Finds Calm Leadership Is Wanted by People.

There is a growing conviction among the American people that this country can remain out of the European war, but they want calm leadership.

This was the view expressed here yesterday by Alfred M. Landon, the Republican presidential candidate in 1936. Landon was in Chicago for several hours, en route to Washington, D. C., where he will attend the White House neutrality conference today as titular head of his party.

He left in the afternoon with several western senators and representatives who expressed varying opinions on the advisability of lifting the arms embargo, as has been proposed by President Roosevelt.

Finds Calm Leadership Wanted.

"What the people want is calm leadership," said Landon. "There has been a definite change in the last few weeks. At the start of the war the people wanted to stay out, but had a fatalistic feeling that they couldn't. This is disappearing. There is a growing, definite conviction that we are going to stay out.

"This is very important. I have been more concerned about this than anything — the psychology of the fatalistic expression that we couldn't stay out, so often heard. When public opinion centers on the thought that we can stay out, then we will stay out."

Landon commented that the European war has diverted American thought from the task ahead—that of choosing a president in 1940. The nation faces no bigger job, he declared.

Warns Convention Is Near.

"War or no war, this is our business, and we cannot neglect our own affairs," Landon continued. "In a few months the nominating convention will be upon us, and we cannot allow a foreign war to divert our attention from this job, much as the administration in power might be willing to have it diverted."

All the senators and congressmen who paused in Chicago yesterday expressed themselves as emphatically opposed to any step that might involve America in a war.

"I voted for the old neutrality law, and I see no reason for altering it now," declared Senator Charles L. McNary of Oregon, Republican leader of the senate. "I will, of course, want to talk to other Republicans before making a definite statement."

Senator Carl A. Hatch [D., N. M.], stated that he favors cash and carry sales of armaments and supplies to the belligerent nations.

"I want no repeal of the neutrality law, however," Hatch added. "I want no return to international law."

"I am emphatically against any change in the neutrality law," declared Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], who was not invited to the President's conference. "Any relaxation of the stand embodied in that law will be a step toward war."

"A lifting of the arms embargo to permit cash and carry sales to the warring countries is sensible and practical," declared Representative Marvin Jones [D., Tex.]. "It would not involve any danger of war. And so far as I am concerned, I will use my every energy against anything that might involve that danger."

His Motto Is "No War."

Representative U. S. Guyer [R., Kas.] embodied in his reply an anecdote of Lincoln. "When peace talks between Lincoln and Alexander Stephens were proposed to end the civil war, Lincoln made a strong statement," said Representative Guyer. "The President said: 'I will write the word "union" at the top of the sheet and Stephens can write under it anything he wishes.' As for me, I write 'no war' at the top of the sheet. Congress can write under that anything it wishes."

Senator Key Pittman [D., Nev.], chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, declined to say what action he expected at the special session of congress, but added:

"I'll say one thing: we are not going to send any American boys to war in Europe."

The Inquiring Reporter

The Question.

Should Russia have invaded Poland?

Where Answered.

In the loop.

The Answers.

W. M. Beall, 1130 East 62d street, salesman—No. It seems to me Poland was a peaceful enough little nation, getting along pretty well in her own way. Both Germany and Russia should have left her alone. Certainly Russia has enough land without grabbing off a chunk of Poland.

Miss Edith Kramer, 440 Barry avenue, court reporter—I do not agree with those who believe Stalin stepped in because he did not trust Hitler. The communist dictator recognized in Hitler a man akin to himself and is wooing him into an allegiance that will benefit both their nations.

Charles F. Cook, 1241 West 78th place, office worker—Russia's stepping in kept Germany from taking the whole thing. I don't think that either nation's claims are justified. Little nations should be permitted to work out their destinies without living in the fear of greater nations' arms.

Miss Josephine Van Gessel, 5555 Ingleside avenue, bookkeeping machine operator—I think it was entirely unfair and a breach of every decency for Russia to send her troops into Poland when Poland is unable to defend herself. Both Germany and Russia are in the wrong.

Mrs. Josephine Oliva, 503 Deming place, clerk—No. Russia is stepping on a prostrate nation. This was the worst of all possible times to advance any claims she might have. I think it's horrible for both Germany and Russia to overrun Poland and slaughter thousands of innocent people.

600 CZECHS FLEE NAZIS AGAIN; BUT FEW REACH HAVEN

CERNAUTI, Rumania, Sept. 19 (AP).—A grueling, zigzag trek across Poland by 600 Czecko-Slovak refugees who sought safety from the German army—an aim which only a handful achieved—was described tonight by Hermann Field, of Cambridge, Mass.

Field represented the British committee for refugees from Czecko-Slovakia in Cracow, Poland. He was one of the last foreigners to cross the Rumanian frontier in advance of soviet Russia's tanks.

"We walked day and night for twelve days until we were exhausted," Field said. "We begged food in villages and farms. We slept in barns, open fields, woods and along dusty roads.

"A half dozen times we were in villages and towns when they were frightfully bombed by German planes.

"And after experiencing all of that only a few of the poor devils ever escaped."

The Czecks, all refugees from German occupied Czecko-Slovakia, were fearful that capture by the Germans would mean immediate death before a firing squad.

Field said the small group escaped Poland at Zaleszczyki but most of the 600 still were wandering around in Poland.

"Many were killed and we saw several hundred wounded," Field said.

When German planes bombed Cracow for three days at the start of the German-Polish war, Field decided to clear the Czech encampment. The British committee previously had sent 1,600 Czechs to England but 3,000 remained in Cracow.

Field started the long and dangerous march across Poland with the 600, including old men, women, and children, on Sept. 4. Only a few crossed the border to safety in Rumania on Sept. 16.

Another group of several hundred Czechs also left Katowice afoot but Field said he had no information on their fate.

Shortly after leaving Cracow the wanderers were caught in an air raid at Sandomierz. While they were at Krasnik, he said, German planes bombed the Jewish quarter, killing 70 persons.

Many refugees were caught when the Germans suddenly cut across a road in a wedge which had been driven into the Polish lines.

ELEVATOR UNION KNUCKLES UNDER TO PARENT GROUP

Accepts Charter Changes and Audit.

All the demands made by the Building Service Employés' International union, headed by George Scalise of New York, on the Elevator Operators and Starters' union, local 66, of Chicago, were met last night when the Chicago organization met to vote on amendments to its charter.

The Scalise group, which has been the center of charges of attempts to steal the Chicago local and other allegations of racketeering, appeared to observers to have won hands down in last night's meeting. A point that impressed outsiders was that the amendments proposed and passed unanimously by about 1,300 members of the local, were supported, apparently, by Mathew Taylor, local president, who has long led the battle against the parent organization.

First Meeting Since Spring.

The meeting was the first held since the spring adjournment on May 17. Taylor presided over it at 205 West Wacker drive. The only business before the meeting was the amendments demanded by Scalise.

These amendments will cause the local's executive board in the future to be elected instead of appointed by the union's president. Hereafter the local president will serve for five years instead of ten under the old charter. Other officers will be elected yearly instead of for five year terms as heretofore. The next election by the local will be in May, 1941.

After the meeting Taylor issued a statement: "This will end the litigation between the local and the parent organization. We will go into court next week and seek to settle all the differences between us. The local already has agreed to accept the audit made last spring by the international."

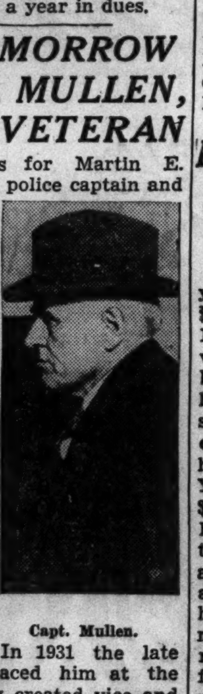
Audit Linked to Slaying.

It was in connection with this audit that Louis Schiavone, a minor figure in the old Capone gang, was shot to death on July 5. When slain Schiavone had in his pocket copy of the separate audit Taylor had made of the union's finances. A few hours before Schiavone's murder, the international union began its audit.

The local union claims about 3,600 members on its rolls, said to pay more than $100,000 a year in dues.

RITES TOMORROW FOR M. E. MULLEN, POLICE VETERAN

Funeral services for Martin E. Mullen Sr., retired police captain and civilian supervisor of the police morals division, will be conducted at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Ignatius church. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.



Capt. Mullen.

Capt. Mullen died yesterday in St. Francis hospital, Evanston. He was 64 years old. Capt. Mullen joined the police department in 1900 and was attached to the detective bureau for many years. In 1931 the late Mayor Cermak placed him at the head of a specially created vice and gambling detail. After his resignation in 1937 he was retained as civilian supervisor.

Surviving are two sons, Capt. Martin E. Mullen Jr. of the Racine avenue station, and the Rev. Gerald Mullen, athletic director of De Paul university, and a daughter, Dorothy.

H. W. DUBISKE, 49, RETIRED BROKER, DIES OF GUNSHOT

Harry W. Dubiske, retired Chicago broker, died last night in a hospital at Ogdensburg, N. Y., after being found shot through the head in the garage of his summer home near that city, according to advices received in Chicago. He had returned there on Tuesday from Chicago.

Dubiske was found by his brother, R. W. Dubisky, Ogdensburg merchant, who had gone to the St. Lawrence river camp to spend the evening. A note on the door read: "You'll find me in the garage," state troopers said.

Dubiske, who was 49 years old, once headed H. W. Dubiske & Co., investment brokers with offices at 220 South State street. Last year the United States Supreme court refused to review a federal court decision denying him the right to recover from the government $109,181 in income taxes for 1919. Recently he had been connected with a real estate company. Burial will be in New York.

DIRKSEN QUITS G. O. P. CONTEST FOR GOVERNOR

Sees His First Duty in Washington.

Seeing his prime duty as helping to keep this country out of European war, Congressman Everett M. Dirksen of Pekin announced yesterday that he will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1940.

Prior to leaving for Washington to attend the special session of congress, Dirksen issued a statement on his withdrawal from the race. Friends expect him to be in the front ranks of the house battle against changing the neutrality law.

Sees Duty in Washington.

"As a member of the congress," he said, "it is my clear duty to give undivided attention to the problems which will come before that body and to be diligent in the pursuit of the continued peace and welfare of our country.

"It would be incompatible with that duty for me to prosecute a campaign for governor with that degree of vigor, attention, and energy which such a campaign would demand. My first duty in a time of anxiety and concern is to zealously and wholeheartedly fulfill the obligations of my office. There is, therefore, no other choice save to retire from the field."

His retirement from the field leaves three avowed candidates, Richard J. Lyons of Liberyville, Edward A. Hayes of Decatur, and Dwight H. Green of Chicago. Others expected to enter the running are Wayland Brooks and Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, and State Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield.

ENOUGH MILTON! IT'S VANILLA NOW FOR MISS BADGER

Miss Fay Badger's account book yesterday showed expenditures of $500 because Milton Neff wanted to buy a race horse, $15 so he could entertain her New Year's eve, $25 after he had had a tough day at the track, and $30 so he could make a payment on a fur neckpiece for her.

Fay Badger.

Miss Badger, 35 years old, of Elmwood, Ill., is a vanilla vendor. She read from her account book to a jury of six men and six women in the court of Judge Ulysses S. Schwartz, where she is suing Neff for $4,000 she says she lent him between 1931 and 1937. Neff, who lives in New York City, is a lace curtain salesman.

When it all was over, she said, she never saw the horse, the neckpiece, or the little home Milton promised her—which could have been curtained so nicely out of his stock.

$76,500 ESTATE OF MRS. NIBLACK IS LEFT TO SON

The entire $76,500 estate of Mrs. Frances Herr Niblack, widow of William C. Niblack, will go to her son, Austin H. Niblack, 1441 Old Mill road, Lake Forest, under terms of her will, which was admitted to probate yesterday. Mrs. Niblack, who was prominent in society, died Sept. 10 in her home, 1400 Lake Shore drive. Mrs. Niblack's will explained that she had not provided for her daughters, Mrs. Narcissa Thorne, 1500 Lake Shore drive, and Mrs. Lydia Swift, 232 East Walton place, because their children have reached maturity, while those of her son have not. Austin Niblack was named executor.

Passersby on Michigan avenue peered with some alarm yesterday at the figure of a man clinging to the tip of the 90 foot flagpole atop Tribune Tower. But he didn't jump. He was up there on business. He had clambered to his perch 456 feet in the air at 9:15 a. m., adjusted his two ropes and two slings which made a step and a boatswain's seat, and before sunset had the pole shining with its annual coat of dark green paint.

R. R. OBENCHAIN, LAWYER IN NOTED CASE, DIES AT 49

Ralph R. Obenchain, Chicago and Evanston lawyer who successfully defended his divorced wife, Madalynne, from a charge of the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, her sweetheart, died last night after a short illness in the Evanston hospital. He was 49 years old and lived at 1523 Colfax street in the suburb.

Obenchain was graduated from the Northwestern university school of law in 1914 and practiced in Chicago until three years ago. After winning Madalynne's release he was married in 1924 to Mildred Schmitz Obenchain, who survives him, with two daughters and a son.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston. Burial will be in South Whitley, Ind., the home of his father, Abraham Lincoln Obenchain.

MOTHER'S DEATH STRANDS BABY IN BATHTUB 2 DAYS

Relatives Rescue Child Alone in Home.

Wausau, Wis., Sept. 19 [Special].—Relatives of Mrs. Genevieve Wentzka were surprised at the absence of activity about her farm home near Marathon when they drove there last night to visit her.

Her husband, Alexander, had gone to Milwaukee in search of work last week and their hired man quit last Thursday. The mother, 18 years old, and her baby girl, Genevieve, 1 year old, had remained at the farm.

Find Baby Nearly Dead.

Wentzka's mother, Mrs. Mamie Wentzka, and his two brothers, John and Bernard Wentzka of nearby Dancy, got out of their car and went up to the house. No one answered their call when they pushed open the front door. They walked through the empty living room and into the kitchen.

At first glance it appeared to be empty also. Then they noticed a tub of water. Sitting in the tub was the baby, nearly dead from starvation and exposure. Later investigation revealed that the baby had been sitting in three inches of cold water for two days.

A search was begun for the baby's mother. The relatives finally found her dead in an outbuilding.

Mother Believed Dead Two Days.

Coroner H. H. Fechtner said it was apparent the young mother had become ill while bathing the baby. Leaving the infant in the tub, she went outside, expecting to return quickly. Her tragic death left the baby helpless.

The coroner estimated, after an examination of Mrs. Wentzka's body, that she had died Saturday. He made arrangements for an inquest to determine the cause of death.

Although the infant still was not out of danger, attendants at the Memorial hospital here said today she was progressing satisfactorily, and that they had hopes for her recovery.

AMATEUR PILOT KILLED IN CRASH NEAR LA GRANGE

Charles Raispes of 3421 Kenilworth avenue, Berwyn, was killed last night when a plane he was piloting crashed 10 minutes after he had taken off from a flying field at 5801 East avenue, La Grange. He fell from the plane while it was about 200 feet from the ground.

Charles Raispes.

The plane was owned by Don Kruswick of Manitowoc, Wis., who arrived with it at the airport two days ago. Attendants at the flying field said they did not know why Raispes was flying it.

Raispes, an amateur pilot, had been flying about a year. The ship crashed half a mile east of the airport, in Hodgkins.

WIFE'S JEWELRY SEIZED IN CLAIM FOR $200,000 TAX

Jewelry and securities worth several thousand dollars were seized yesterday by federal agents in a raid on a safety deposit box held by Mrs. Julie Wainer. She is the wife of Hyman Wainer of Milwaukee, notorious bootlegger now serving two years in Leavenworth prison for alcohol tax dodging.

The government has a $200,000 income tax assessment against Wainer. Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who issued the search warrant, was informed that Wainer was attempting to escape his tax liability by transferring assets to his wife. His tax delinquency is for the years 1929 through 1932.

Mrs. Wainer was assessed $94,194 in 1932 incomes taxes on evidence that assets of her husband were held in her name. She has never paid. The raided box was in the Liberty Safe Deposit company, 3158 Roosevelt road.

AMERICA MUST SHUN WAR, LABOR DELEGATES TOLD

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP).—John E. Cassidy, state attorney general, in a speech before the 57th annual convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor here today declared that America must stay out of the war.

John E. Cassidy.

"The people of the United States," he said, "are a unit in their determination to remain free of this war, and we know from unmistakable expressions of public sentiment, that we will remain out of it so long as our national integrity or traditional policies are not seriously violated."

Cassidy praised Gov. Horner for his "devotion to the cause of organized labor."

This is the version of the G. O. P. elephant in the 1940 presidential campaign as conceived by Alfred D. Cookson, an appliance salesman of Green Bay, Wis. Since he began selling his plaster elephants to business men in Wisconsin last month, Cookson said, his idea has been received with enthusiasm. Alf M. Landon, the 1936 standard bearer for the Republicans, expressed his appreciation when he received one of the desk ornaments, Cookson said.

On the bottom of the base Cookson expressed his feeling about the big log, Constitution. It is so heavy, he wrote, that often many citizens have wanted to lay it down; but not the Grand Old Party, which has always carried it forward, holding it out of reach of those who would destroy it.

WOMAN PUTS UP RIFLE AND MARKS 100TH BIRTHDAY

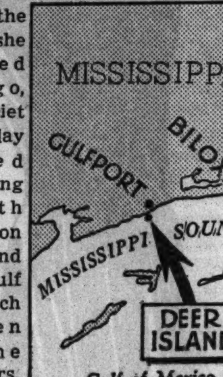
Deer Island, Miss., Sept. 19 (AP).—Surrounded by her own eight children and most of the 25 girls she adopted long ago, Mrs. Harriet Aken today finished celebrating her 100th birthday on this island off the gulf coast which has been her home for 77 years.



Scene of 2-day birthday fête.

So many friends and relatives yesterday rowed across Mississippi sound to extend greetings that she declared a two day anniversary and had the candles lighted again today on numerous birthday cakes.

Spurns Visit to Mainland.

Although still in fairly good health, Mrs. Aken has not left her seven mile long island since 1916. She says the mainland, a scant 1,000 feet away, can offer nothing that interests her more than her tidy home, her live stock and her oyster beds.

Those beds are particularly dear to her and in days past she sometimes took rifle in hand to defend them from poachers. Now, at 100, she has put her rifle away.

Married at Age of 12.

Born in nearby Pascagoula, Miss., Mrs. Aken became the bride of Peter Baker at the age of 12. In 1862 he took her to the island, where he cut timber for the home she thinks still is good enough. There she bore six daughters and two sons, and then began adopting babies, always preferring girls.

After the death of her first husband, she married Peter Aken on the island in 1913.

LIQUOR BOARD CITES 20 IN SLOT MACHINE CASES

Among the 20 tavern owners who appeared before the state liquor commission yesterday to argue their licenses should not be revoked because they operated slot machines were:

Alex Borchart of the Plantation Hut, Des Plaines; Frank J. Collins of the Knotty Pine tavern, Mannheim road and Medill avenue, Franklin Park; Harold L. Hartman of the Hartman house, Wheeling; Carl Kosel of the Pal-Waukee Airport restaurant, Mount Prospect; F. W. Newell of the Chicago house, Wheeling; Michael Nowakowski, 6839 Milwaukee avenue, Niles; Raymond A. Olson, 5400 North River road, Norwood Park; Armon Ouzounais of the Armon Canary tavern, 4824 Dempster street, Niles Center; William A. Pinger, 3458 River road, Franklin Park; Felix Rogalski of the Union hotel, Wheeling; Julius Weiss of the Mecca tavern, Des Plaines, and Marie Wolf of Wolf's tavern, Mount Prospect.

Seven tavernkeepers of Westmont, in Du Page county, were represented before the commission by State Representative Joseph Sam Perry of Wheaton. He said they had been mistaken in a belief that it was legal to operate pinball machines because the village had issued them licenses to do so.

ST. CHARLES GRAD TO FACE COURT ON 4 BURGLARIES

Four charges of burglary were placed yesterday against Fred Detty, 18 years old, 4334 Kimball avenue. Detty was released in 1937 from the St. Charles School for Boys after serving 13 months for the same crime. He was arrested Sunday and named two others, one of them his brother Wilburt, as his companions. Complaints were signed by four women who were attending parties at which the three are alleged to have stolen purses. The third suspect named by Detty still is being sought. Detty will be arraigned today in Boys' court.

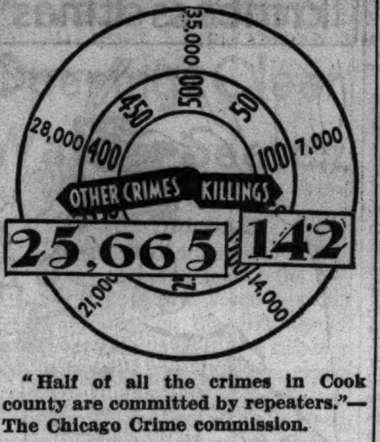
THE CRIME CLOCK

Chicago's Record Since Jan. 1



"Half of all the crimes in Cook county are committed by repeaters."—The Chicago Crime commission.

A WOMEN'S JURY WINDS UP WITH EVERYBODY MAD

Weary Panel Unable to Reach Verdict.

opinion, he told them, was their heritage. "Cherish it as such," he said.

But back in the jury room the jurors could contain themselves no longer. Oliver Cook of 2134 Maple avenue, Evanston, a salesman, spoke up fiercely.

"Women don't belong on juries," he cried. "Not in cases in Criminal court. They should be decided by men."

"Was that your stand before you served on a mixed jury?" he was asked.

Mr. Cook Reaches a Verdict.

"No," he said curtly. "It was developed since I served, because I don't think they showed good judgment or used all the evidence presented in this case."

"We did all we could to reach a verdict," said Mrs. Ferrante. "We took eleven ballots, five of them written. I surely do think women should be on juries. Mr. Cook thinks there was a lot of sympathy involved. . . . And the food was wonderful!"

"Mr. Cook is upset because we didn't agree with him," Mrs. Rose H. Walders, 3210 Berwyn avenue, 39 and tailored, observed with sarcasm.

"We fully agree with Mr. Cook," said Arndt Hagberg, 2451 North Avers avenue, a machinist, indicating Edward W. Hart, 4156 North avenue, a salesman, who nodded sternly.

"Rubbish," Says Adeline.

"It's a lot of rubbish," said Mrs. Adeline Renna, 244 East 116th street. "If a woman has enough brains to vote and knows who to vote for, she has enough brains to be on a jury and interpret the laws of the state."

"They should have only men jurors," spoke up Mrs. Mary Jenert, 62 years old, a widow, of 4442 North Albany avenue. "I don't think women ever belong on juries," she continued, her voice rising in anger, "and I'll never serve again!"

"They can't make up their minds to anything," she concluded, "and they never can come to a decision."

The vote, it developed, was 6 to 6 on all ballots. Three of the women arraigned themselves with the men for a verdict of guilty. The other six women wanted a verdict of acquittal.

GRAND JURY ASKS AGAIN FOR PEP IN GAMBLING PROBE

The Cook county grand jury held a two hour conference yesterday with First Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley. Although the prosecutor refused to discuss the secret session, it was reported the jurors wanted to know what steps they could take to put teeth into the gambling inquiry.

State's Attorney Courtney is expected to confer with the jurors today on their desires to put on a real gambling investigation instead of what some of them called a fishing expedition. Last week the jurors complained to Crowley that they thought their time was being wasted.

WAR TRIPLES AIR LINE'S BUSINESS TO MEXICO CITY

Land of Aztecs 1½ Days from Chicago.

BY FREDERIC BABCOCK.

Traveling by air, vacationists leave Chicago at 9 p. m., arrive in Brownsville, Tex., at 8:27 a. m. next day, transfer to another plane and leave there at 9:10 a. m., and reach the Mexican capital at 12:35 p. m.

The trip thus consumes fifteen and one-half hours. It takes nearly three and one-half days by train, and even longer by auto.

Figured in terms of a two weeks' vacation, the plane flight allows the holiday maker to spend all except one and one-half of the fourteen days in and around Mexico City, whereas the rail journey takes up almost half the time at his disposal.

Air Line Sponsors Tours.

In view of the rapidly growing interest in Mexico, an air line operating between Chicago and Brownsville has arranged a series of all-expense trips to the land of the Aztecs. In this it is coöperating with the line flying ships between Brownsville and Mexico City.

Departures will be made from Chicago nightly throughout the fall and winter. One excursion is to last eight days, and another nineteen. The price charged will include transportation, hotel accommodations, meals en route, sightseeing, and all other necessary expenses. With the peso currently quoted at about six for $1, the cost of touring Mexico leans to the economical side.

Guatemelan Trip Included.

The air line also has scheduled a series of tours embracing both Mexico and Guatemala. By plane, Guatemala City is only four and one-half hours beyond Mexico City.

For color and pageantry the two countries are perhaps unequaled in the western world. They have pyramids, temples, and cities older than Egypt's, and their ancient culture and customs are of widespread interest to the traveler. Scenic wonders such as the Floating Gardens of Xochimilco, in Mexico, and Lake Atitlan, in Guatemala, are accounted among the finest in the Americas.

Another attraction is the climate. Mexico City, about 7,500 feet above sea level, has an average daytime temperature of 85 degrees in the winter, but a light coat is usually needed there in the evening.

[For the name of the air line operating these tours, or any further information concerning them, call the Tribune Travel bureau, Superior 0200, local 707, or write the bureau at 1 South Dearborn street, Chicago.]

Tavern Keeper Arrested as Passer of Bogus Bill

Secret service agents yesterday reported the first arrest in an investigation of a counterfeiters' ring which has passed $5,000 in bogus $5 bills recently. The prisoner is Nick Rottuna, 47 years old, 2531 Superior street, a tavern keeper. He was traced through his license number supplied to the agents by a north side merchant who accepted one of the counterfeit bills. Rottuna pleaded not guilty before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and the hearing was continued until next Monday. Bond was set at $2,500.

CUBAN BASEBALL LEAGUE TO OPEN SEASON OCT. 21

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 19 [Special.]—Americans who never get enough baseball in their country can have more of it in this country after the world series has ended this fall.

The Cuban League of Professional Baseball will open its season on Oct. 21 and end it on Jan. 30. Games are to be played at the Tropical Gardens, Santa Clara, and Cienfuegos stadiums.

Expecting large crowds of Americans, prevented by the war from going to distant lands, Havana is arranging an elaborate schedule of sports events for the fall and winter. Night polo matches, yacht races, and other equatic sports are popular.

Three of us wish to tour Mexico this winter, and then go on a cruise to various islands in the West Indies. Will passports be required? D. L.

No.

In Dare county, North Carolina.

Some time ago I saw a reference to the Tinian stones. Please tell me what they are and where they are. F. B. A.

They are ten large pillars on Tinian, an island north of Guam. Made of hard rock, the monoliths are more than 5 feet square at the base, are 15 feet high, and weigh more than 30 tons each. They are regarded as among the most mysterious archæological remains in the Pacific. Experts believe they were once parts of great religious structures.

Now that travel to Europe is virtually closed, where, on this continent, can we get the best idea of what rural France is like? G. S.

The Gaspe peninsula, in eastern Canada, is generally accorded the honor of being the most perfectly preserved French country in North America.

How far is it between La Guayra, Venezuelan port, and Caracas, the capital? C. M.

Only 8 miles as the crow flies, but 23 miles by rail. The track between the two cities bends, twists, and makes hairpin curves as it climbs the 3,000 feet from sea level. The trip is one of the thrills awaiting passengers on the cruises to the Caribbean and the northern coast of South America.

OLD FAITHFUL PUTS GRIZZLIES IN BACK SEAT

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Sept. 19 [Special].—Geysers, more than any other attraction, interest visitors to Yellowstone. This is shown in the 1939 report of naturalist activities.

Most popular sport in the park is watching Old Faithful. More than 128,000 persons were counted standing near the cone while that prima donna went through its performances this season.

Ranking second to the geysers in public interest was the grizzly bear exhibit at Canyon. More than 46,000 persons were clocked entering the enclosure there to watch the animals consume their evening meal.

While the naturalists have no way of counting the number of those who visited Yellowstone canyon, they did count 28,463 who asked questions at two vantage points, Artists' Point and Grand View.

STREAMS STILL OPEN TO FISHING IN GLACIER PARK

Belton, Mont., Sept. 19 [Special].—Although the hotels and chalets in Glacier National park closed for the season last Friday, the roads will remain open until the snow becomes too deep for travel. So will some of the fishing streams.

These will be closed tomorrow: All waters in the Two Medicine, Swiftcurrent, Red Eagle, and Camas Creek valleys, the Belly river and Waterton sheds, and Howe and Avalanche lakes.

On the other hand, the middle and north forks of the Flathead river will be open to fishermen from the park side until closed on the other bank by the state of Montana. Whitefish may be taken from McDonald creek until Nov. 30. All other park waters, except Midvale creek, will be accessible to anglers until Nov. 1.

SEEK TO MAKE UPPER MICHIGAN A CENTER FOR WINTER SPORTS

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 19 [Special].—A project to make this region an outstanding winter sports center got under way here today at the fall conference of the Upper Peninsula Development bureau. Seventy-five men, representing all parts of the peninsula, were present.

Ishpeming, Marquette, and Iron Mountain have been developing such a program for several years. Now it is planned to extend it throughout northern Michigan.

"We have the climate and the terrain and the nearness to Chicago and other big cities," George E. Bishop, secretary of the bureau, told today's conference. "Through the coöperation of the transportation companies we are beginning to build up a following of winter tourists and amateur sportsmen. But we can do much more in providing facilities for the skiing and skating fans."

J. Joseph Herbert of Manistique is president of the association. Abbott M. Fox of Iron Mountain and William L. Burns of Ironwood are vice presidents, and C. J. McCauley of Wells is treasurer.

Coroner's Jury Absolves Killer of Wife Annoyer

A coroner's jury yesterday held that Walter Fridrich, 416 South Aberdeen street, was justified in shooting and killing Frank Rossi, 45, of 1245 Jackson boulevard, last Saturday. Testimony showed that Rossi had been annoying Mrs. Fridrich and that he threatened to kill Fridrich with a knife. The quarrel occurred in front of the Fridrich home.

Perfumes Have Therapeutic Value, Musician Believes

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

According to Vincent Lopez, celebrated pianist and conductor, perfume, like music, has its own therapy. The maestro, who recently made some fascinating discoveries with regard to the healing power of swing when applied to clouded intellects, firmly believes that perfume, too, can soothe the savage breast—or the breast not savage but momentarily distraught.

Says Mr. Lopez: "One of the most gratifying experiences of my entire professional career was bringing music to the unhappy creatures confined in a hospital dedicated to the healing of the mentally sick. To see the lethargy of years lifted from one, if only momentarily, to see a flicker of enthusasm dawn in the eye of another, to watch a third move his head delightedly in time to the music, that was to feel, very humbly, the intoxication of an almost divine power to benefit humanity."

Believing that perfume, because of its kinship to music, both in its flexibility of mood and in its effect on the senses, has some of the same ability to sway human emotions, even to soothe and heal where there are emotional and mental lesions, Mr. Lopez decided to investigate further. A visit to a perfumer's establishment was arranged and the maestro met a technician whose familiarity with perfume lore equals Mr. Lopez's knowledge of music. As bottle after bottle was placed before the musician, he became more certain that his theory was sound.

"I have always believed," said Vincent Lopez, "that certain exotic perfumes, like some exotic music, should have the power to stir and excite. This perfume," he continued, as a bottle of a certain delicious brand was placed before him and the stopper removed, "might be called a Hungarian Rhapsody in liquid form. It should, if my theory is sound, have much the same stimulating effect on human beings. There are types of music that have a charmingly mischievous humor and make you smile gently. Tschaikowsky's 'Nut Cracker Suite' comes under this heading," and, as the stopper was removed from another bottle, "here is a perfume which, it appears to a mere man, should have much the same effect."

Swanky Modes for Fall Make Exciting Show

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The shows go on and on and on . . . everything crisply new, with all the vivid shades, wasp waistlines and the swing of short skirts together with the swank of new streamlines to make the current fall showings of high fashion most exciting.

You'll like the varied daytime dresses—sleek black beauties to be used for backgrounds for the sensational gold jewelry of the hour. You'll spend your last penny for new hats and romantic gloves; you'll buy fur muffs and hats for the colder weather ahead, but you'll buy them now while the newest models are plentiful, for they'll probably never return.

The fur jacket ensembles are more luxurious than last season. Sable dyed pelts are stealing the spotlight, so lovely is their soft brown color. Dresses teamed with these fur jackets are smooth and decorative, for the silhouettes are fitted and the materials the softest, most feminine fabrics imaginable.

New dinner dresses sparkle with restrained trim, gold braid, cut outs of gold or silver kidskin, bangle beads, sequins, colored arrays of shiny beads, filigree buttons and fancy braid. The dresses are simple sheaths with narrow bands of embroidery or beading to match the decorative jackets, which fit like smart uniform jackets, to define the waistline.

Eye-blinding combinations of flaming red and black have taken the town . . . from daytime dresses to dinner suits. Silk jersey, thin wool, and satin in red give dash to dull black in the newest models. Red and black hats, bags, gloves, and belts are offered for wear with any black costume.

Fashion photograph . . . dress parade dress of heavy silk faille taffeta in combination with long panels of black velvet. It has elbow length puffed sleeves and a high round neckline. The tiny hat is trimmed with red gold and green feathers, the gloves are of black doeskin, and the narrow belt is of faille taffeta.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

From the notebook:

Before long one of the beauty houses will be offering "beauty sequins." It's the old "beauty spot" in a new guise. Maybe you can remember back when a tiny black heart or star or crescent worn on the face was considered pretty fetching. The 1939 version puts a lot of stress on color to harmonize with makeup, your own coloring, and your clothes. In the assortment we've seen there were a silver heart, a circle in brilliant red [to wear in the middle of your forehead, we're told], and several other patches in all shapes, sizes, and shades. Lots of gold and, of course, lots of little black patches.

Wonder how women will take to them?

In France, at least in the good old days, perfumed setting lotions were to be found in every little beauty shop. The French women, who undoubtedly knew more about artful ways to use perfumes than any other race, had a fondness for one hair lotion in particular, thin and nonsticky and scented in any one of a number of famous odors.

We've seen these lotions in more and more shops here lately. They come in individual, sealed flacons, and the perfume content is so high and so well blended that the hair is fragrant from one shampoo to the next. The wave lasts quite well, too.

These lotions are used only in beauty shops. So far as we know they're not available for home use. Some of the fragrances are extremely beautiful and there is a wide variety.

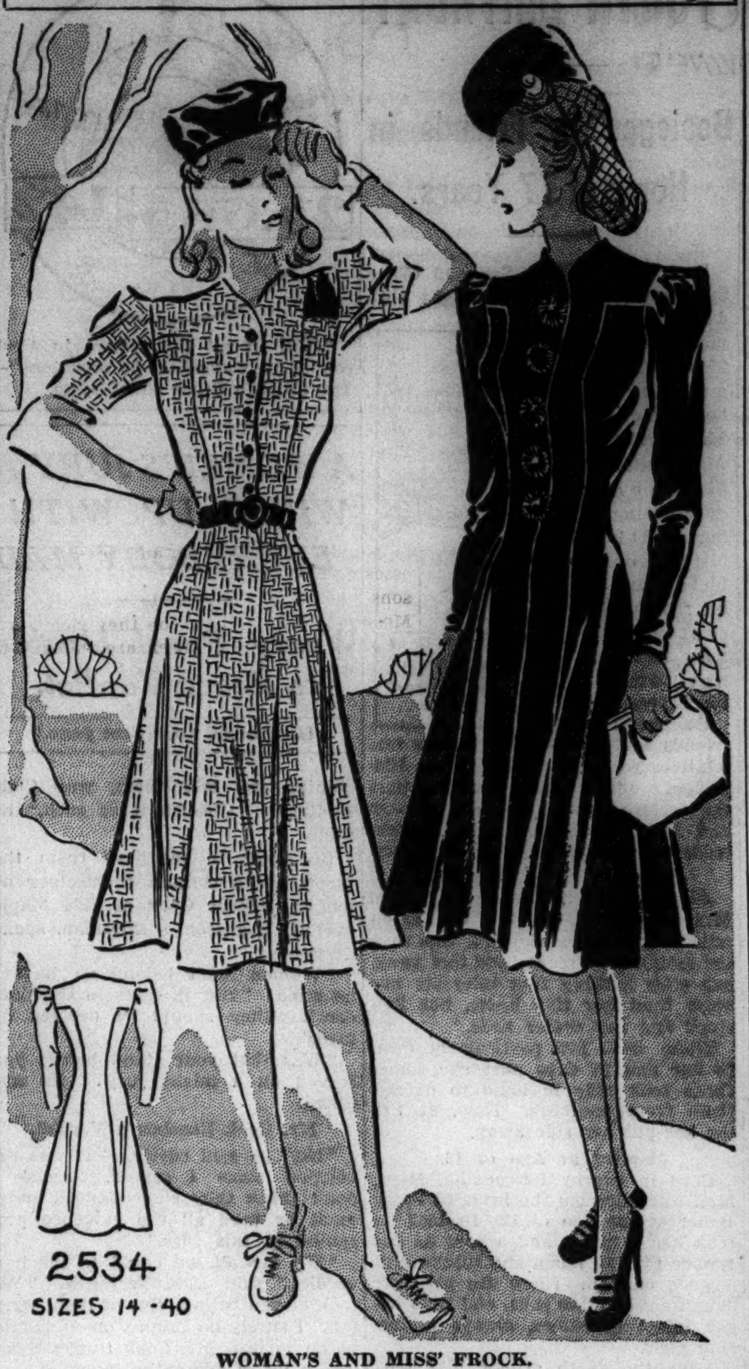
Princess Lines Predominating



WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

Princess lines predominate in this new frock for autumn, which may be made of silk or woolen. Velvet and velveteen are two fashionable fall fabrics which should be considered for this model, too. The puffed sleeves may be either long or short. A belt may be used, but is not necessary, since paneling fits the frock beautifully to the figure. On a tailored frock, small buttons should be used, but on a dress for social occasions, use fur or large novelty ones.

Style No. 2534 is designed for sizes 14 and 16, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material for the shortsleeved version.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central Annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Children Must Be Allowed to Let Off Steam

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1939: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Kitty just can't be on the table while we're eating, Don—that's a little too much!"

"You don't have to shout, Jack, I can hear you! Speak quietly."

"Stop slamming that back door, Molly—you'll break the glass!"

"No skates on indoors; that's one rule I insist on."

Of course you have to say things like these to the children. They are necessary when playful, vigorous young things live in a house with decent furnishings, the trappings of civilization, and grown people.

But often I believe they should be given the opportunity to cut loose. The occasions should be made for them to let off steam, to forego the restrictions we impose on them.

It won't make them wild. It will, instead, act as a safety valve, and there will be less pressure all around. Outdoors where eyes aren't on them every minute is a good place for them to be free. But if this isn't always possible you can have what I might call "overlooking spells" when you don't hear the door slam, or don't seem to notice that "thank you" and "excuse me" have been omitted.

If you have some ground around your house it will be easier, but even if you haven't you can do a little scheming to provide safety valves quite often. Here are suggestions:

Put the children in clothes they and you can forget much of the time.

Avoid the choice of delicate upholstery and other too perishable interior decorative equipment while the children are young.

Let them and their friends have a picnicy meal together once in a while without your presence

As long as they're not bothering any one—even indoors—let them be frisky and frolicksome and rackety whenever you can. But most of all, let them be out in the open as much as you can, because that is where freedom is natural.

Longs for Her First Love Now She's Married

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Away back in 1929 Lovey was engaged to a young man, the love of her life, she now claims. Suddenly he married another girl. Lovey's heart was broken. She moved away and met a man, years old, but he cared for her. She accepted his marriage proposal and now is the mother of two youngsters. Her first love has gone along all these years with his wife and family of two young boys.

Recently, however, he made a trip west to tell her she is his great love. Now she finds all the old feeling for him revived. In the meantime, the man she married has endeared himself to her. But the woman wonders if she is foolish not to throw everything to the winds and catch a breath of that first intoxicating love.

It is a problem, true. Some women never do get over that first love. But it is a great question whether one can or would achieve the expected happiness after a ten year alienation period.

From all appearances in this particular case we'd judge the second man the worthier one. There's too much at stake—the other woman's and her children's happiness, Lovey's husband and children—ever to recover the old joy.

SHAMPOO HAIR CREME

Both contain Nature's wonder oils—LANOLIN, OLIVE OIL, CASTOR OIL—the most beneficial of all oils for hair and scalp.

Cas-O-Lan Shampoo is the amazing result of a perfected method of emulsifying these beneficial oils—it is an oil shampoo—yet it lathers to a rich creamy foam. It has just the right amount of cleansing action to whisk away the dirt and loose dandruff—yet it leaves the natural oils.

Cas-O-Lan Hair Creme is a pure white creamy vanishing lotion that penetrates the hair shafts and scalp in just a few seconds. A few drops after and between shampoos make the hair completely manageable immediately after it is washed—and keeps it perfectly groomed always. Not sticky or greasy.

Cuff Notes.

Henry Field's mother, Mrs. Algernon Burnaby, sailed today for England to offer her services to her country. Mrs. Burnaby, who spent the summer at York Harbor, Me., where Mr. and Mrs. Field spent a month with her, will open a hospital for British war wounded in Leicestershire. Pinsold, one of the many homes owned by the late Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier who disappeared from his plane when it was flying over the English channel some ten years ago, has been offered to Mrs. Burnaby by Robert Loewenstein, his son, for the purpose. The hospital will be an annex of the one Lady Beatty, daughter-in-law of the late Admiral Beatty, who married Ethel Field of Chicago, has opened in their country place.

You can buy recordings from the Sherwood Pulitzer prize play, Lincoln in Illinois. The selections in the album tell of Lincoln's proposal to Ann Rutledge; his prayer for the dying son of an old friend; his worried indecision before marrying shrewish Mary Todd; his debates with Douglas, and his farewell to his home and friends when he leaves for Washington.

Those who read Escape, by Ethel Vance, when it ran serially should form a "We Won't Tell" club, now that it's out in book form, with members pledged not to reveal the exciting plot. . . . Thomas Wheelock has taken to smoking a fine pipe of which he is very proud. Pianist Alec Templeton, coming out of his apartment at the Seneca across from Mr. Wheelock's, sniffed the air and said, "Somebody's ironing." . . . Arthur Heun arrived home on the S. S. Private School Openings Clear Way for Season

BY JUDITH CASS.

AUTHORITIES differ as to which event each fall marks the beginning of the social season. They mention the first debut, the first meeting of St. Luke's fashion show committee, the first symphony concert, or the opening of the opera.

We offer the opening of the private schools as the real première of the season, for it is not until children are safely ensconced in school rooms and playgrounds for eight hours each day that mothers are free to devote themselves to outside interests. Contrary to popular belief, nurses and governesses do not care wholly for the little sons and daughters of the wealthy. Most mothers are alike, be they rich or poor, and their children are their main concern.

Several Schools Open; Others to Start Soon.

The Girls' Latin, the Boys' Latin, and the University School for Girls all started yesterday; the Harris classes meet today and the Francis Parker tomorrow. Monday was the first day at school for the students of the North Shore Country Day in Winnetka and of the Bell school in Lake Forest. The girls who are being taught at the Roycemore school in Evanston resumed their studies last Thursday.

Several of the very young men who are starting in kindergarten at the Boys' Latin are following in the footsteps of older brothers and fathers. Potter Palmer IV., little Robert Pirie; Nicholas, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William D. Cox; Charles Shedd, and one of the Press Hodgkins' three sons are among those who will be in the kindergarten at this school this year.

Mrs. Walter Field McLallen's two little boys are entering kindergarten and first grade in the Harris school where, as Ghita Watson, their mother attended preparatory school. Mrs. McLallen and the children moved back to their town apartment on Monday after having spent the summer with her mother, Mrs. Walter B. Wolf, in Winnetka.

Ginevra, the subdeb daughter of Mrs. King Mitchell and William H. Mitchell, is leaving tomorrow for her first year away at school. She will be at the Spence school in New York. Her brother, William H. Jr., left about a week ago for Trinity college in Hartford, Conn.

Morris Eddy, Mrs. Seymour Wheeler's elder son, went directly to Trinity for his sophomore year from Wianno on Cape Cod. His brother, "Bodie," is at the Fessenden school this winter.

Marjorie Mitchell, the Clarence Mitchells' daughter, has entered Miss Hall's in Pittsfield, Mass. Mrs. Mitchell is paying her mother, Mrs. Charles G. King, a visit before returning to her home in Hope Ranch, Cal.

Today's debutante is Miss Janet Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Brown of Wheaton. Mr. and Mrs. Brown and their daughter will be at home from 4 until 7 o'clock. They will receive indoors, but, if the weather is pleasant, the guests will enjoy the garden as well as the house.

The party will be a gay and jolly one, for the bud's older sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Ruth, and their brothers, Gardner and Keith, and the latter's wife will help to see that the guests are entertained. Among Miss Brown's assistants will be two of her former classmates at Farmington, Miss Roslyn Reed and Miss Joanna Mitchell of Cincinnati. Miss Marion Munson, Miss Edith Porter, and Miss Helen Mary Bryan are other assistants. Miss Brown will leave for Smith college this week-end.

Miss Ruth Brown was runner-up in this year's women's golf championship tournament at the Onwentsia, having lost to Mrs. Charles C. Dennehy. Mrs. Dennehy won the low gross for 18 holes in the first flight of the woman's powwow held yesterday at the Onwentsia. Mrs. D. Mark Cummings, Mrs. Stanley Field, Mrs. Henry Isham, Mrs. Wyndham Hasler, Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers, and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin II., were other prize winners among the 72 feminine golfers. More than 150 attended the special powwow buffet luncheon.

Miss Helen Burr and Henry Barth to Wed.

Today's bride is Miss Helen Wallace Burr, daughter of the William Brown Burrs of Hinsdale. She and Henry Wade Barth, son of the Carl Barths of Lakewood, O., will be married in the presence of their families at 4:30 o'clock at the Burr home. The Rev. Wilfred A. Rowell will officiate. A reception will follow at 5:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Gilbert Barton will be her sister's only attendant. Robert Barth of Rochelle Park, N. J., will be his brother's best man. Mr. Barth and his bride are going to Canada on their wedding trip. They are to spend the next twelve months traveling.

For a few hours this afternoon the courts at the Saddle and Cycle club will be a center of interest to all Chicago tennis fans. Several interesting exhibition matches will be played, starting at 2:30 o'clock, with a mixed doubles competition between Mrs. A. Watson Armour III. and Gene Mako, and Mrs. Marshal Fabyan Jr. [Sarah Palfrey Fabyan] and Jack Macy on opposite sides of the net.

A singles match between Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cook will follow, and a men's doubles game with Wayne Sabin, Mr. Macy, Mr. Cook, and Mr. Riggs participating, will bring the afternoon to a close. Mr. Macy, who is tennis professional at the club, and Mr. Riggs will be heard in a sports broadcast at 6:15 o'clock over W-G-N. There will be no entertaining for the tennis stars, as they are just stopping off between trains on their way from Forest Hills to play in the Pacific southwest tournament at Los Angeles.

The Charles H. Conrads, who used to live in Chicago but who now call Tryon, N. C., home, are at the Drake until Saturday, when they will leave for the south. Mr. and Mrs. Conrad usually visit Chicago at this season of the year. Mrs. Conrad was a director of the Service club for many years.

Seek Visas to Rejoin Their Husbands Abroad.

Mrs. Harold Hartog and Mrs. Ambrogio Cassinerio, who have been living in France and Italy, respectively, since their marriages, have been unable so far to get visas to return abroad. Mrs. Hartog, the former Miss Nancy Doering, was in the Netherlands when war broke out. Since she could not cross the border to France, she was obliged to sail for New York.

Mrs. Cassinerio, the former Edna Doering, was in Lake Forest with her parents, the Edmund J. Doerings, when war was declared. Her husband, Capt. Cassinerio, sailed for Italy on Saturday, and Mrs. Cassinerio hopes to join him soon. She and her mother and sister left for Washington, D. C., yesterday. Mr. Hartog is in Paris where his wife hopes to rejoin him soon.

Chicago friends of Mrs. LeRay Berdeau will be glad to learn that she and Mr. Berdeau are sailing in the Manhattan tomorrow for this country. They have been on the French Riviera at their home at Cap d'Antibes since their marriage in the early summer. It is probable that the former Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick and her husband will come to Chicago before they go to their Palm Beach home.

Expected in Evanston After Return on Rex.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Little and their daughter, Miss Olivia, are expected at home in Evanston tonight. They were abroad when war broke out, and finally landed in New York last Saturday on the Italian liner Rex.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Leonard of Winnetka are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter on Monday at the Evanston hospital. The baby, who has a 4 year old brother, Daniel Jr., has been named Sally.

Dr. and Mrs. Verne W. Swigert [Marjorie Helm] of Evanston are the parents of a boy born Monday at Evanston hospital. The baby, their first, has been named Charles Justin.

Good Morning!

No "Little Ceasar" this time, our Mr. Edward G. Robinson, but a fugitive from a chain gang—in a new sort of way. Not a blackmailer—but a blackmailee.

Convicted of a robbery he didn't commit, John Harrington had been sent to work out his sentence on a chain gang, had escaped, taken the name of Ingram, married and established himself in business as a putter outer of fires on oil fields. He is living happily with his lovely young wife—who knows all—and his small son, when, one day, William Ramey arrives.

◆

Ramey, who knew him way back when, had seen his picture in a news reel, shot while Ingram was putting out a fire. Ramey has come to feather his own nest or ELSE—the while disclaiming any ulterior design in renewing Ingram's acquaintance. . . . He, avers Ramey one day, is the man who REALLY committed the theft. He, Ramey, is willing to make a confession, IF——

From here on I shall let the picture tell the story. It's melodrama, stark and horrid, but excellently acted, well directed and photographed.

One thing about Mr. Robinson, he can be quite as convincing wronged, as wronging—and that's an art! Gene Lockhart is memorable as Rat Ramey. Ruth Hussey is perfectly charming as John's devoted wife and Guinn Williams does a splendid bit as Ingram's loyal assistant.

See you soon.

BLUMS-NORTH EVANSTON TOWN & COUNTRY

They Hunted a Fox

By Alice Campbell

[Copyright: 1939: By Alice Ormond Campbell.]

SYNOPSIS.

Alison Young and her fiancé, Dr. Colin Ladbroke, are week-end guests at Chenerys, the English country estate of Tom Bolore, to attend a fox hunt and ball. Wynn Marchmont, sister of Tom's wife, Pat, is informally engaged to Tom's brother, Derek, a veterinary. Alison overhears a love scene between Pat and Arthur Kingsclere. At the hunt-ball hilarity reigns. Later Tom Boldre defies death by riding his horse bareback up the slippery ancestral stairs. Chenerys is mortgaged to the hilt. Gregg, Tom's agent, urges him to accept an offer made for the estate, but Tom refuses to sell. At the hunt next morning, from a far off hill, Alison and Colin see Tom thrown and a man bending over him. When they reach the accident they find Derek stooping over Tom's prostrate form. A farmer, Glover, happens along and helps them take Tom to his house. Tom, revived, is surprised that Derek rather than his neighbor, Maj. Fitts, found him. Three weeks later Tom is again thrown in the hunting field and dies soon after.

INSTALMENT IX.

A RESTLESS WIDOW.

As Derek set off on a tour of his new property Wynn thought of how he had changed in three days, barely three days. Funeral only yesterday, and a dreadful flatness still making it impossible to resume ordinary life, and yet. . . . What was it? Derek seemed firmer, more braced. Better equipped for strain. . . .

She hadn't expected it. Through her very passion for honesty she must somehow have miscalculated his character. He was getting—"No, not more like Tom. That's not it at all. He's taking command, as poor, sweet Tom never was able to do."

He'd sell the place, of course. That was a foregone conclusion. Pat had her separate provision, as had the other two widows, both living abroad, so the sale of Chenerys would not affect her. No doubt when debts had been cleared a tiny bit of capital would remain, enough, possibly, to——

"Wynn! Do come in! I've something to say."

It was her sister, petulant, imperious. Chafing, now her first sodden weeping was over, against a moment's solitude. Poor girl, if only she had felt it decent to get on a horse and go for a gallop!

Wynn turned back into the lounge. "Yes, what is it?"

"O, you know!" Pat tapped a cigaret irritably against her palm. "I'll go crackers here in this house with just you and Derek. Can't we get some one down?"

"Why not? Any one you like."

"I like!" Peevishly Pat spread her hands. "You seem to forget it's not my place any more."

"Bilge," said Wynn shortly. "You talk as if it were mine."

"Well, isn't it?" Cool, handsome in her expensive black angora frock, Pat stared back at her sister. "You and Derek'll be getting married any day now. And about time, I'd say."

Wynn flamed to the roots of her hair. Her tone, though, was ice cold as she demanded, "And just what is it you're trying to suggest?"

"Well——! I've eyes, haven't I? Do you mean to stand there and tell me you and Derek haven't been living together all this while? You have. Isn't it so?"

Wynn tightened her grip. So soon after Tom's burial! Surely her brother-in-law's kind presence still lingered, would be hurt by this squabbling. . . .

"No," said she evenly. "It happens not to be true."

"O! Then the more fools you. With every one thinking how convenient this is, making a way for you and Derek too . . . why, they all see how you two feel about one another! Even poor old Tom——"

"Tom. And you. Who else?"

Pat shrugged. "Well, then, Fred Fitts. Asked me, last time you were down here together, when you were meaning to tie up. O, Fred notices!" She fidgeted to the hearth, faced round accusingly. "And, incidentally, it was he who told me about Tom's risking his life on those stairs the night of the hunt ball. The rest of you kept it dark for some reason."

"And did Fred," said Wynn dryly, "tell you Arthur was cheering Tom on with the rest?"

That got her. Or did it? You never could know with Pat. For a split second the sisters confronted each other and then, even as Wynn quailed to think what bomb anger had made her hurl, Pat snorted contemptuously and brushed the whole thing aside.

"Do stick to the point, Wynn. I don't feel like having any one close, if you understand. To visit here, I mean. Why can't you invite one of your London friends? That American girl might jump at the chance of a fortnight's riding."

"Alison Young? She's got a job, and anyway she's getting married soon and she wouldn't want to leave Colin."

"Well, you can find out, can't you? Get on to her now."

What Pat wanted was a buffer, thought the younger girl a little grimly as she went through into the seldom used office. A totally impersonal wedge between herself and her own awkward reflections. . . .

Derek was looking in at one of the horse boxes when Gregg appeared mournfully beside him. Neither found anything to say. Then, "I'll get rid of this tubed mare," Derek murmured mechanically. "No earthly use keeping her. Why she was ever bought. . . ."

The agent smiled, his eyes hollow and sad. "Hardly worth bothering now, is it, if the lot of it's to go?"

The new owner stiffened very slightly. "O, not so fast. I've some tall thinking ahead."

The jaundiced glance flickered with surprise. Gregg seemed taken aback.

"I see." A polite pause. "Well, any time you say I'll shunt along all the figures. From what you've always said I rather concluded——"

"Don't conclude, old man. I'll do all of that." Derek laid his hand for a second on his companion's shoulder, then passed on to the other boxes. "A deal of cutting down can be done right now," he remarked to himself. "All these good acres, just given over to grazing. . . . If the whole show was reorganized, then what?"

Hypnotized, Gregg stared after him. "Like me to come round with you?" asked he tentatively.

The agent remained where he was, rubbing a dry palm slowly over his emaciated thigh. His eyes held a queer, almost a cheated expression.

It had been raining in buckets. The lilac by Maj. Fitts' back gate hung in brown, sodden clusters which deluged Derek with cold drops as he shouldered his way through. Rounding the bricked terrace he beheld the major himself by a wide-open casement window seated at a table and energetically cleaning his guns.

"Don't get up," said the younger man. "I'll come this way." Hoisting his legs over the sill he joined Fitts in the small study, more strictly speaking a gunroom. "Shining up the armory, are you?"

"Something to occupy me," he explained. "Since that—that churchyard bit I'm all fidgets, you know." He blew his nose, depositing an oily smudge on his chin. Gruffly he continued, "What's the good, though, eh, old man? Got to keep in the saddle, however we may feel. Here, have a spot." Tilting a decanter he poured till a gesture checked him.

The visitor seemed seeking remarks. "Used that in India, I suppose?" He indicated the heavy Colt's revolver Fitts had taken up and was vigorously polishing.

"What? O, this fellow! Quite. No good to me now. Keep it loaded just for luck. No, it's clean as a whistle." Absently the major picked shells from a gray carton and clicked them into the chambers. "Supposing I did want to blow daylight through a burglar, this'd be the lad to do it, eh, what?"

Derek hefted the weapon, laid it aside.

September 20, 1939.

Make adjustments as philosophically as possible today. Not a stimulating year on the whole for those with this birth date—too much family and too many details to be worked out. Keep cheerful and don't feel too martyred by the problems that have to be worked out behind the scenes. This year is like an overcast day that can be dull and restless if you hang around fretting, but a pleasant lull in your activities if you make up your mind to catch up on the little duties.

Would you like to know what kind of a year this is for you? Send for your personal yearly, monthly, and daily guide.

Hygienic Cleanliness in the Bathroom

THE use of "Lysol" in daily cleaning of the bathroom does many jobs at once. It disinfects, deodorizes, helps guard against ringworm of the foot ("Athlete's Foot") from infected floors. "Lysol" makes cleaning easier because "Lysol" is soapy in nature; helps remove stains from tubs, basins, tiling. "Lysol" makes cleaning more thorough because "Lysol" spreads into every crevice to seek out germs.

The Housewife

If you're a nonsmoker and entertain a lot of friends who smoke everything from cigarets to pipes, you may like to know that there's a product on the market that gets rid of the stale tobacco odors left in your living room. It's a liquid that comes in a container with a little wick. You light the wick and let it burn for just a few minutes. The vapor acts as a deodorizer and is efficient and pleasant to use. This comes in several fragrances, the most popular being pine and sandalwood. You can get refills, too. EDITH WEIGLE.

Chopped peanuts are something different in the way of meat stuffing, but combined with bread crumbs, onion, and a little butter they give ground beef patties distinction.

Since ground beef never takes long to cook it's a favorite meat for hurry-up meals which must not require more than an hour's time for the whole preparation.

Canned Chinese noodles or shoestring potatoes, heated in the can, are good with such cakes, and in this menu mixed fresh fruits have been chosen as a simple and suitable dessert.

SHORT CUT DINNER
Ground Beef Cakes with Peanut Stuffing
Canned Shoestring Potatoes or Chinese Noodles
[Or buy them in bulk or package]
Buttered Turnips
Salad of Sliced Radishes and Shredded Spinach, French Dressing
Fresh Fruit Cup
Coffee

Ground Beef Cakes with Peanut Stuffing

[Serves four]

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped peanuts
½ cup bread crumbs
½ small onion, minced
2 tablespoons melted butter
Fat for browning

Mix beef with salt and pepper and shape into eight very thin patties. Combine peanuts with crumbs, onion, and butter, and place a spoonful of the dressing on each of four patties. Place the other four patties on top and press the edges of the meat together. Melt a small amount of fat in a skillet and brown the patties on each side, using fairly high heat. Turn heat to moderately low and let patties cook until done, about fifteen minutes longer.

BUTTERED TURNIPS.

Peel turnips and slice thinly. Drop slices into boiling salted water and cook until just tender, no longer, with no cover on the saucepan. Drain, add pepper, more salt, if necessary, and several teaspoons of melted butter. Cooked just long enough and not too long, seasoned properly and served hot, buttered turnips are delicious.

FRESH FRUIT CUP.

Any combination of fresh fruit in season may be used. Banana, Italian prunes, pears, grapes, and orange or pineapple juice are an excellent choice right now. Dice the banana or slice it rather thickly on the slant, wash and slice the prunes, dice the pears, and toss in a few grapes [seed them if they need it] for good measure. Sweeten with the tiniest amount of sugar or honey and pour about two tablespoons of orange or pineapple juice over each serving. Have the fruit very chilly.

Making jams, preserves, and conserves is an excellent way to take advantage of the large supply of fresh, ripe peaches on the market. You'll find many good recipes using this luscious fruit in "Mary Meade's Best Jams and Jellies." The booklet is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, for 20 cents, or it will be mailed to you for 23 cents in stamps.

WEDDINGS

Mrs. Ruth Hooker Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Hooker of Oak Park, became the bride of Jasper Frank Odell of Islip, Long Island, N. Y., on Aug. 29. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Lester F. Minion in River Forest Methodist church. After a wedding trip through the east Mr. Odell and his bride will be at home in East Orange, N. J.

The marriage of Miss Barbara Rivet to Guy Richard Shoemaker of Cedar Rapids, Ia., son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy T. Shoemaker of Chicago, took place on Sept. 16. The ceremony was performed in the chancel of Grace church in Oak Park by the bride's cousin, the Rev. Edwin J. Randall, assisted by the Rev. Harold Holt. A dinner for the immediate family followed at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Douglas Rivet of Oak Park. The former Miss Rivet, daughter of the late Maj. Rivet of the 61st U. S. infantry, is a graduate of Peloit college. Mr. Shoemaker was graduated from Purdue university.

Invitations are out for the marriage of Miss Vivian Cermak Graham to Thomas Carleton Hope, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Oliver Hope of Chicago. The ceremony will take place at 6:30 o'clock on Sept. 30 at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richey V. Graham of River Forest.

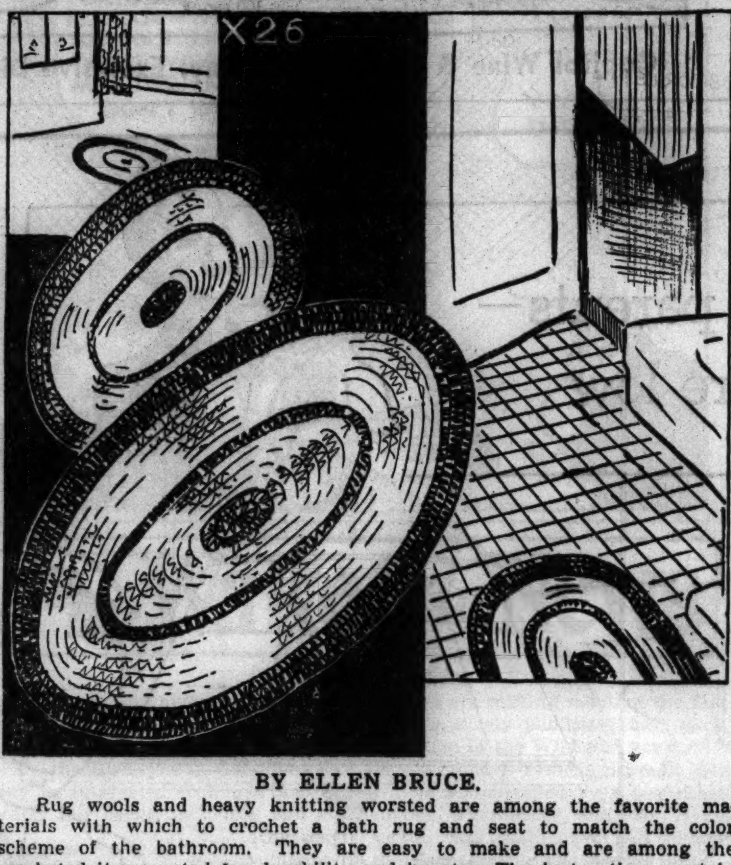
Crocheted Bath Rug and Seat



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Rug wools and heavy knitting worsted are among the favorite materials with which to crochet a bath rug and seat to match the color scheme of the bathroom. They are easy to make and are among the crocheted items noted for durability and beauty. The instructions contain illustrations of stitches and other detailed information.

For instructions in crocheting the bath rug and seat, No. X-26, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1939: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I claim that far too few bridge players properly evaluate the all important inferences from the bidding. The following is one of the best examples of this I've ever seen:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K Q 10
♥ K J 9 6 2
♦ 8 6 4 3
♣ 6

WEST
♠ 9 5 4 3
♥ 8 7 5 4 3
♦ 5 2
♣ 8 2

EAST
♠ 7 2
♥ A Q 10
♦ 9
♣ K Q 10 9 7 4 3

SOUTH
♠ A J 8 6
♥ None
♦ A K Q J 10 7
♣ A J 5

"The bidding proceeded as follows:

South	West	North	East
2 diamonds	Pass	2 hearts	2 spades
Double	Pass	Pass	3 clubs
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

"I was South. Obviously, East's two spade bid was just a psychic. He knew he would be doubled and intended to bail out in clubs.

"When dummy went down I saw that seven diamonds were cold and six surely should have been bid, yet my partner simply failed to grasp my effort to point out wherein I felt he had failed badly to read the inferences. This is where so many other players also fail.

"My two diamond opening was light and partner's two heart response indicated a misfit. So, over two spades, I chose to double for penalties rather than take my own game. I claim this should have had a depth of meaning for my partner that I did this without even dreaming that he [North] held three honors in the spade suit!

"Then, over three clubs, I bid my game. Here again I claim partner missed an inference—that his singleton club and four diamonds should have loomed very big. To my way of thinking, North never should have let me play at only three no trump. Four diamonds, or five, or even four hearts, would have been much more logical—anything except letting me die at three no trump. Don't you agree? J. L., Ohio."

Indeed, I do agree that North's pass to three no trump was atrocious, and this is aside from his apparent inability to grasp what might under other circumstances be subtle inferences. In this case there was no need for inferential reasoning. North simply should have bid his hand! After an opening two diamond bid by partner, a double of two spades, and a bid of three no trump over the adverse three clubs, North certainly might have come forward with a little action on his own account. Granted, he made a "positive response" to the opening bid, but this had no bearing on his final pass to a contract that should have seemed quite inadequate to him. As a matter of fact, he should have realized that his partner was very short or void of hearts, hence should have had no great fear in that department. A jump from three no trump to five diamonds would not even have been optimistic and, although the partnership might not have reached the laydown grand slam, it would at least have contracted for and made a small slam.

As indicated above, there are times when only the most abstruse and subtle reasoning from delicate inferences will guide a player to the proper bid, but in a case such as this all he has to do is look at his hand.

RUNS FOUR RED LIGHTS, CRASHES; GETS TEN DAYS

Joseph Siracusa, 23 years old, a barber, was sentenced to ten days in the Bridewell yesterday on a charge of reckless driving by Judge Joseph J. Drucker in Jury court. Siracusa's driving license was revoked for a year.

Siracusa was arrested by Park Policeman Frank Goldthwaite, who was directing trafic at Jackson boulevard and Ogden avenue when the barber zipped past him in Ogden avenue, ignoring a red light.

At Washington boulevard, it was testified, Siracusa disregarded a fourth stop light in succession, and careened around the corner into the car of William H. Wade, 220 South Maple avenue, Oak Park.

Siracusa failed to appear to answer a reckless driving charge in Safety court Aug. 15, and forfeited his $50 bond. He came in Aug. 19, demanded a jury trial, and was freed in $2,500 bond.

Yesterday, however, Siracusa pleaded guilty before the jury was sworn in. He asked for leniency.

"The courts have more than given you a chance," said Judge Drucker. "This time you are going to jail." Siracusa, who lives at 405 South Ashland avenue, has a police record showing arrests for vagrancy and for carrying a concealed weapon.

In Safety court, Judge Francis Borrelli imposed a sentence of 20 days in the county jail on William P. Novak, 36, of 3653 North Pulaski road, a chauffeur. Novak was charged with driving while intoxicated. Fred Schmilke, 23, of 4713 Elizabeth street, was sentenced to five days in the county jail on a reckless driving charge. Novak's license was suspended for six months and Schmilke's for 60 days.

PARK BOARD HAS FIRST MEETING IN NEW BUILDING

Members of the park board met yesterday for the first time in their new administration building at the north end of Soldiers' field. The four story stone structure recently was completed at a cost of $1,884,141, of which the federal government provided 45 per cent.

The commissioners met in the new board room, which is finished in oak veneer and is equipped with plush theater seats. There are seventeen private offices in the building. Escalators carry the 400 employés between floors.

WOMAN, 66, DIES; HURT IN UNUSUAL AUTO ACCIDENT

Mrs. Alma Jennings, 66 years old, died yesterday in her home at 3820 Greenview avenue of injuries suffered last April in an unusual automobile accident at Lincoln and Belmont avenues.

Mrs. Jennings was a passenger on a street car which went out of commission near the intersection. As she was getting off the car a rope, dangling from a passing truck, caught on a parked automobile. The automobile was jerked forward, striking Mrs. Jennings.

James Russell, 61 years old, 5227 North Long avenue, was killed last night when he was struck at Foster and Long avenues by an auto driven by Dominick Patti, 726 Scott street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 597 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 464 were killed in Chicago, where 15,527 were injured in the same period.

EXPECTS ARMOUR STRIKE PARLEYS TO BE RESUMED

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced yesterday in Washington her belief that negotiations could be resumed between Armour & Co. and the Packinghouse Workers' Organizing committee, an affiliate of the Congress for Industrial Organizations. The PWOC asked federal intervention to prevent a threatened strike in the Armour plants.

After conferring with company officials, Miss Perkins said she believed that collective bargaining discussions could be reopened "along the lines desired by the union." The PWOC is demanding a signed contract in the 14 Armour plants where it has been certified as bargaining agent by the National Labor Relations board.

Local 347, the PWOC unit in the main Chicago plant, last night informed Secretary Perkins that she had 24 hours to let the union know if she could "do anything with Armour" before a strike of the 6,600 workers is called. The PWOC unit in the Armour soap plant also notified the secretary that they were "ready to teach" the company to listen to Mme. Perkins.

PASTOR BATTLES LOUIS TONIGHT FOR TITLE

CARDINALS TRIUMPH, 6 TO 1; TRAIL REDS BY 2½ GAMES

PHILS BOMBARD CINCINNATI FOR 13 TO 1 VICTORY

St. Louis Wins from Dodgers.

If—

THE second place St. Louis Cardinals were two and a half games behind the leading Cincinnati Reds at the close of yesterday's play. If the Reds win half of their remaining 14 games, the Cardinals could take the title by winning nine of their 12. The standings then would be:

St. Louis	93	60	.608	...
Cincinnati	93	61	.604	½

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19 (AP).—The onrushing St. Louis Cardinals were within 2½ games of the Cincinnati Reds, National league leaders, tonight after they had whipped Brooklyn, 6 to 1, this afternoon while the pacesetters were being battered by Philadelphia, 13 to 1. This is the closest the Cards have been since they took up their chase of the Reds a little over a month ago.

Max Lanier, rookie lefthander, scored his first victory of the season in holding the Dodgers to five hits, no two of which came in one inning. The Cardinals picked up a run off Vito Tamulis in the third, chased him with a three run blast in the fourth and added single runs in the sixth and eighth.

REDS BATTERED, 13-1.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 19 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds, their defense shattered, pitching collapsed and attack missing, took a 13 to 1 drubbing today at the hands of Philadelphia's tailend Phillies.

Walter Higbe's six hit hurling alone might have brought victory to Philadelphia, but five errors—which ran the National league leaders' total to 17 in five games in the last three days—played a major part in the rout in which the Phils were away to a five run lead in the first before a man was out.

Tonight's contest was a pitchers' battle, with French outlasting Olson for the decision, the latter giving away in the eighth and Shaffer finishing up for Louisville. French yielded seven hits, the same number the Indians made, and held the Colonels scoreless after the first inning. Score:

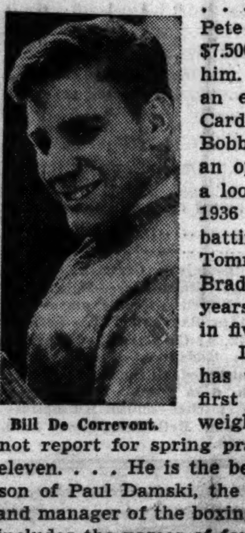
In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

OHIO State university's publicity directors are making much of the fact that Bill De Correvont, Northwestern's widely publicized half back, will enter Western conference competition in the Wildcats' game with the Buckeyes in Columbus Oct. 14. . . . Coach Francis Schmidt also may be interested to know that Bill will be accompanied by a few other pretty fair backs, including Red Hahnenstein, Paul Soper, and Jack Ryan. . . . Any major league club could have had Pitcher Pete Appleton of the Senators for the waiver price—$7,500—early this season. . . . Now $20,000 wouldn't buy him. . . . Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers, voted an emphatic "no" on the proposition to move the Cardinals to Detroit and make it a two club city. . . . Bobby Mattick, the Cubs' young shortstop, underwent an operation last winter to correct vision impaired by a loose bat. . . . While with the Los Angeles club in 1936 a bat slipped from the hands of a hitter during batting practice and fractured the youngster's skull. Tommy Thomas, who refereed the Joe Louis-James J. Braddock championship bout in Comiskey park two years ago, predicts that Joe will knock out Bob Pastor in five rounds tonight.



Bill De Correvont.

Italo Russo, promising Purdue sophomore tackle, has worked off approximately forty pounds since he first reported for football as a freshman. . . . He weighed 265 pounds then. . . . Jerry Dutcher, who did not report for spring practice, is proving a find at end for the Nebraska eleven. . . . He is the best pass catcher on the roster. . . . Fred Damski, son of Paul Damski, the fight manager, is a senior at Syracuse university and manager of the boxing team. . . . Marquette university's football roster includes the names of fourteen Chicagoans and only eleven boys from Milwaukee. . . . Two University of Illinois football players are presidents of their social fraternities—Tackle Tiny Cramer of Delta Tau Delta and Guard Wes Martin of Beta Theta Pi. . . . Scranton of the Eastern league has outdrawn the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 1, at the gate this season. . . . Only three states—Michigan, Louisiana, and Nevada—permit twenty round fights. . . . Wisconsin high schools have returned the goal posts to the goal line.

Sword on the Wall.

O sword, resting long in your scabbard,
Hanging silent and grim on the wall,
How eloquent still, though your silence
Can never be broken at all.

We know that in some fierce encounter
You flashed between slayer and slain;
That some one was orphaned or widowed,

You pose as a weapon of honor,
Though wielded to honor a throne;
A tool that made some one a victor,
Who somewhere is sculptured in stone.

But what of the brave who were vanquished,
And what of the millions who bled—
The homes that were wrecked by your fury,
And what of the tears that were shed?

The answer is only deep silence,
No eloquent boasting at all;
The questions return, but the answers

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Hank Leiber, who for the last two weeks has been using his bat to build up a swell salary argument for next season, let loose with another homer yesterday, his twenty-first of the season. And the homer wasn't only of value for Hank's personal account, but for the Cubs as well. It was touched off with a mate on base and proved a lethal potion for the Giants, who folded up by 3 to 2 in the opener of the series.

Leiber's smash was one of a skimpy total of seven hits collected by the light tapping Chicagoans against the pitching of Harry Gumbert. But the young man undid his own excellent performance by turning loose a wild pitch which became a third strike but at the same time an error by which the batter arrived safely at first base. Out of this grievous blunder and a single the Cubs registered a seventh inning run that was just enough to keep the Giants from going into a tie when they decided to chase Larry Lefty French out of the picture in the eighth.

Root Saves Larry French.

The Giants, who had a one run lead until Leiber's home run, made free use of French as a batting average tonic but usually quieted down after getting men on the bases. In the eighth, however, they carried their assault into three successive safe drives so French finally was yanked and the 40 year old Charles Root summoned to adjust a situation in which one run was home.

Three men were on the bags and only one was out when Root went to work. The old fellow put the crusher on two pinch batters and the trio waiting on the sacks went back to their fielding chores.

A two bagger dispatched into right by Demaree in the first inning netted the Giants nothing, but they did better in the second despite the intervention of a double play ball. Danning set this affair in motion with a single to center and French added to the disturbance by walking Seeds. Hafey tapped to French and this was where the twin killing was committed.

New York, Sept. 19.—The New York Yankees, out for their 100th 1939 American league victory, this afternoon found the White Sox the same ill-starred coterie they were in 15 earlier games when the Yankees were playing for something besides exercise. Chicago's valiant but slipping heroes were vanquished, 6 to 2.

Inasmuch as the Indians lost today, the Sox remained tied for third place with them.

The Yanks made only seven hits, the same number knocked by the Sox. But the Yanks wasted only one hit and didn't let the Sox get started except for a brief moment of relaxation in the seventh when a single by Luke Appling, a double by Eric McNair, a single by Gee Walker and an error by Frank Crosetti gave them their two runs.

Keller's Homer Opens Scoring.

The Sox had gone out in order in the first inning and Crosetti and Rolfe had supplied easy outs in their half of the opening session when Keller launched the scoring program with his tenth homer. Di Maggio followed with a single to center but Gordon flied to Walker.

Appling opened the Sox second with a single to right but McNair, Walker, and Kuehl couldn't get the ball out of the infield. In the third inning Bejma doubled after two were out. Then Rosenthal flied to Keller.

City Series Is Assured; Draw Up Plans Today

The Cub officials have decided that the team's mathematical chance for the pennant isn't worth thinking about so will meet with White Sox officials today to draw up plans for the city series. The meeting will be held in the office of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Bill Lee, seeking his nineteenth victory, will work for the Cubs today in the second of the series. The Giants' starter may be Carl Hubbell.

Mel Ott, the Giants' home run artist, is out of action except for pinch hitting purposes and probably will not resume fly chasing during the remainder of the season.

American Net Pros Home; War Cancels World Tour

New York, Sept. 19 (AP).—A quartet of American professional tennis players, headed by Bill Tilden and including Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines, and Lester Stoefen, today pondered their next move after their arrival in the United States following cancellation of their world tour due to the European war.

Badgers Have 22 Letter Men, Gloomy Coach

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—Loss of a quarter back with imagination, a game breaking full back, the entire right side of his team, including the half back, and a left guard who was good enough to be named on the Tribune's All-Star squad, weighs heavy on the mind of Harry Stuhldreher, head coach and athletic director at the University of Wisconsin.

A confirmed optimist with extreme confidence when he was calling signals for Notre Dame's Four Horsemen, Stuhldreher, as a coach, has become an accomplished pessimist. More encouraging prospects would prevail at Wisconsin than starting the season without Howie Weiss, Roy Bellin, and Vince Gavre in the back field, and Bob Weigandt, Gene Brodhagen, Johnny O'Brien, and Lynn Hovland in the line. But only one practiced in the art of disparagement can surrender to mournful foreboding after beholding Wisconsin's outlook.

Eleven Veterans Start.

For, despite the graduation of seven regulars from last year's team, Wisconsin's starting lineup will be composed of 11 letter winners, only one of whom weighs under 191 pounds, and among the remainder of the squad of 48 men there appears to be sufficient reserve material to prolong the athletic renaissance that began with the arrival of Stuhldreher two years ago and already has necessitated the enlargement of Camp Randall field to a capacity of 45,000.

In all there are 22 letter men on the squad which works out daily under the watchful eye of C. A. Dykstra, president of the university and the most rabid football fan in the state. Only at full back will it be

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 19.—Joe Louis, the home town boy who made good, defends his world's heavyweight boxing championship tomorrow evening in Briggs stadium, against the challenge of Bob Pastor of New York.

Five years ago, Joe Louis, winner of the Chicago Golden Gloves light heavyweight title, amateur boxing's greatest prize, quit his $25 a week job in a Detroit motor plant. In that time he has become internationally famous, he has knocked out five one-time heavyweight champions, and he has earned more than a million and a half dollars. Tomorrow night, each ringside customer will pay more to see this fight than the Brown Bomber ever received for a week's labor. It's Joe's first fight here since he became champion.

Gate May Exceed $350,000.

Fifty thousand, according to conservative revision of Mike Jacobs' estimate, will watch Louis' eighth defense of the title he won from Jimmy Braddock. Receipts, estimated at $350,000, may exceed that sum, and of the net amount banked by Jacobs, promoter of the battle, the champion will receive 40 per cent.

The rise of Pastor, three times Golden Gloves champion in New York, to the challenger's position, has been less spectacular than Louis' career only because it has been overshadowed by the man who has dominated the heavyweight ranks since he knocked out doddering Primo Carnera four years ago.

Pastor will stay in a downtown hotel tonight. Tomorrow morning Louis will drive in from Northville, Mich., where he has been training for 23 days.

Pastor Is Confident.

Louis, of course, is a prohibitive favorite to win, primary discussion centering on the round in which the bout will end. Comparison of records, which includes Pastor's successful ten round dash to remain out of range of Louis' heavier weapons in 1937, favor Louis beyond question. Pastor's greatest asset is his speed, but as has been pointed out, he uses his speed and boxing skill to avoid punishment rather than to administer it.

Pastor is courageous, ambitious, and thoroughly convinced he will knock out the champion. But of those who tried their courageous best, only Max Schmeling was successful. And the German was paid off later with a vicious, lethal attack which knocked him out in less than a round in the return battle.

Louis Proves He Can Take It.

Tony Galento startled the spectators by his surprise attack which knocked the champion down. But Galento, whose status was increased by his recent knockout of Lou Nova, was knocked out by Louis in four rounds. Louis has proved he can take a punch. Certainly he can deal a punch.

Pastor—he is 25 years of age—played varsity football three seasons for New York university. He has knocked out six of his last nineteen opponents, but his entry card for this title match is the ten round decision he lost in Madison Square Garden

THEY LIKE IT!

Thousands of followers of The Wake have hustled to their news dealers in the last few days to get the 1939 Wake of the News book, remembering that last year's edition was a sellout. Now they're chuckling over the quips of Jazbo and Hilary Haw. They're reading and rereading the fine verses of T. E. B. and Hilda Butler Farr. They're skimming through the breezy notes.

The price is 10 cents—13 cents by mail. Address mail orders to Tribune Public Service office. Don't miss the

That Louis failed to stop Pastor then is principal sales talk now for tomorrow's match. It has served to heighten interest in Detroit which is the site for a heavyweight championship fight for the first time. And for the first time in twenty years, twenty rounds have been set as the championship distance.

Few believe, however, that the bout will last half that long, although starting time has been arranged for 9:30 [Chicago daylight savings time], which also is a concession to the radio broadcast.

The fighters will report at noon tomorrow to be weighed and examined by the commission physician, Dr. Charles L. Tomsu. The routine, which will be held at the state fair grounds, will be in charge of the Michigan boxing commissioner, John C. Hettche. Pastor hopes to weigh 187 pounds. He finished his last day of boxing on Thursday weighing 182. The champion is expected to weigh approximately 202 pounds and he is conceded at least 15 pounds advantage over Pastor.

Pastor's chance for victory also rests on the fact that past performances mean nothing when the bell rings. If past performances meant more, there would be no excuse for this bout, nor would 50,000 attend. On past performances Jim Braddock never would have been champion of the world, and, for that matter, Louis never would have been knocked out by Schmeling.

You Never Know in Boxing.

Records mean little because no boxer ever is in the same precise mental and physical condition. Pastor, conceived to be a mediocre puncher, something less than brilliant in his boxing, may rise to superb heights. The champion, sometimes lethergic, frequently guilty of mental lapses, may fail to coördinate his attack. The reiterated criticism of Louis has been that he fights by rote and instinct, which may lead him into confusion when faced by a quicker, more agile athlete with a keener mind.

We would be agreeably surprised if Pastor gave the champion a fine fight. We hope that Pastor will not run, even if that is his only defense maneuver. Bob has proved once that he could escape. Now he must prove he can win, for this is his last chance.

But regardless of guesses, it is difficult to explain how Pastor can win except by retreat, and if there is anything more disappointing than a knockout by Louis in two minutes it would be a decision to Pastor after twenty rounds of retreating.

The Fight Crowd Arrives.

The greatest crowd since the Detroit Tigers put on their world series show is gathering tonight in downtown hotels. The American Airlines reported that twelve additional flights will be made from New York and Chicago tomorrow. In addition to special trains from nearby points, railroads are handling groups from Toronto, Charleston, S. C., Atlanta, and Dallas.

Since Briggs stadium accommodates 79,000 the fight cannot be sold out. There will be 12,500 ringside seats on the flat around the ring, which has been erected over second base. At 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, 8,000 general admission tickets at $2.50 each will be placed on sale. The ticket office in the Statler hotel reported today, however, that reserved seats in all price sections remain.

Following is the list of preliminary bouts:

PIRATES WHIP BEES, 5 TO 3, ON ROOKIE'S HOMER

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP).—Rookie Bob Elliott's home run with one on in the fifth inning gave Pittsburgh a 5 to 3 victory over Boston today.

Paul Waner, making a late drive for his fourth batting championship, singled and tripled to bring his string of hitting to 20 consecutive games. His .335 average now is second to Johnny Mize, who is trying for his first title. Score:

Indians Make Triple Play, but Lose to Senators, 10-9

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—The Washington Senators pushed across two runs in a wild ninth inning today to shade Cleveland's Indians, 10 to 9.

The game was featured by a Cleveland triple play, the first of the season in the American league. With Al Evans and Mickey Vernon on base and none out, Pitcher Early Winn popped to Ken Keltner. Keltner purposely dropped the ball, picked it up and threw to Shortstop Lou Boudreau who tagged Vernon. Boudreau whipped the ball to Oscar Grimes at first and Grimes tagged Evans, who had started for second. Grimes stepped on the bag to retire Wynn for the third out.

Kampouris, however, lined a single over short, scoring Danning.

Leiber Gets 21st Homer.

Gumbert wasn't damaged by singles from the bats of Hack and Herman with one out in the third, but he did suffer as the result of the next pair of Cub hits. These didn't show up until one was out in the sixth. Galan singled to left and Leiber thought so well of the first pitch that he slapped it into the left field runway for his season's 21st homer and a 2 to 1 lead for Chicago.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Tony Canzoneri beat Eddie Brink [8].

There were two out in the seventh when the Cubs suddenly drew a smile from Lady Luck. French swung for his third strike, but the pitch happened to be wild and bounced off the plate to the grandstand, French taking first and Gumbert being charged with an error. Gumbert feinted a toss to Bonura at first base and a balk was called, French going to second. Hack was passed purposely, but Herman refused to be the hand picked victim of the third out. He singled to center, French scoring.

French got Moore out of the way in the eighth and then was started on the greased slide leading to the club house. Jurges singled and hiked to third on Demaree's single. Bonura slammed a long fly to right and by some inartistic staggering Nicholson managed to let it drop for a two bagger, Jurges scoring. French gave an intentional pass to Danning before being removed. Root ended it quickly.

third. Rolfe fanned, but Keller beat out a skyscraping bouncer to Smith, Hildebrand scoring the third run of the inning.

Appling Stars 2 Run Rally.

The Sox broke into the scoring column in the seventh. Appling opened with his second hit and stopped at third on McNair's double. Walker beat out a hit to Crosetti, scoring Appling, and when Crosetti threw the ball past Dahlgren, McNair also scored. Kuhel hit into a double play, Tresh walked, and Steinbacher, batting for Smith, flied to Powell.

Rigney took over the Sox pitching assignment in the Yankees' seventh, and Rosenthal encouraged him by making a fancy catch of Dahlgren's drive to left center. Rosenthal also caught Hildebrand's fly, and Crosetti struck out.

Keller walked with one out in the eighth and went to third on DiMaggio's single, DiMaggio reaching second on a throw to third. Appling, playing in close, juggled Gordon's tap, Keller scoring, DiMaggio reaching third and Gordon first. DiMaggio scored on Powell's sacrifice fly to Rosenthal, and Rosar popped to Bejma.

Budweiser

WE MAKE THE SEAL TEST: Look in your Budweiser bottle cap. A thin aluminum disc in every one. Many laboratory tests have proved that the disc provides a perfect seal and prevents air and cork particles from entering the beer. Another expense—but Budweiser's goodness must have every protection we can give it.

YOU MAKE THIS TEST: Drink Budweiser for five days. On the sixth day try to drink a sweet beer. You will want Budweiser's flavor thereafter.

WISCONSIN HAS 22 LETTER MEN, GLOOMY COACH

Bellin, Gavre, and Weiss Will Be Missed.

They're a Husky Lot.

The Badgers are a hearty lot, husky, sturdy limbed, with a commendable amount of speed and ample ambition. Every man in the first two back field combinations can pass, and Don Peterson, a sophomore quarter back candidate from Oak Park, is regarded as the finest kicker enrolled at Wisconsin in the last 10 years. Against better passing, improved kicking, and a rugged personnel, Stuhldreher weighs inexperienced reserves and the rigors of a schedule which opens with Marquette a week from Saturday and includes Northwestern, Minnesota, Purdue, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Texas.

Wisconsin's strongest links will be at center and end. There perhaps is no team in the country with such excellent centers as Jack Murray and John Doyle, a pair of seniors from Pennsylvania who are roommates. Stuhldreher declines to make a choice between the two. They will share the brunt of the duty. Fred Ladewig, a rangy 195 pound sophomore from Milwaukee, is the No. 3 man at this position, out-ranking Orville Fisher, a senior.

Juniors Win End Posts.

Seven letter men and a sophomore, Ray Kreick, of Milwaukee, form the corps of end candidates, but the starting assignments belong to Gordon Giles, of Milwaukee, and Al Lorenz, of Oak Park, Ill., two juniors who already are being touted for All-American. Kreick, Ralph Moeller, a senior, and Ed Wegner, a junior, have the inside track on the relief assignments. All are 6 feet or taller and weigh over 190 pounds.

Two seniors will man the tackles, where Stuhldreher has six letter men and two sophomores to choose from. They are Bob Eckl and Al Dorsch, each 6 feet 1, and slightly over 200 pounds. Eric Fagerstrom, 218 pound sophomore from Madison, is making a determined fight for a starting position, but for the most part he will be limited to a relief rôle with Rex John, a 202 pound junior letterman.

The guard positions offer the most difficult problem in the line. O'Brien and Hovland in Stuhldreher's opinion were exceptional. Only two letter men are available to replace them. They are Robert Holloway, from Calumet High school in Chicago, and Richard Embick of Laurel, Neb., both juniors. Ralph Clapp, who prepped at Oak Park, and Donald Kolbusz of Green Bay, two sophomores, are the second team choices.

Quarter Must Block.

Three men, none of whom played quarter back in high school, will handle this all important position left vacant by the graduation of Gavre. Quarter backing has changed since Stuhldreher, a pint size master mind, directed the four horsemen with Napoleonic imperiousness. Quarter backs now have important blocking responsibilities.

Fred Gage, 210 pounds, and Claude York, 192 pounds, who are junior letter men, and Peterson, 197 pounds, were switched from other positions because they possess the physical requisites of blockers and because they were coached by three of the outstanding developers of prep talent in the middle west.

In George Paskvan, a 6 foot, 200 pound junior from La Grange, Ill., Wisconsin will have a full back who perhaps will prove even more valuable than Weiss. Paskvan possesses more power, will be a greater threat on line smashes and is a dependable defensive player. Backing up Paskvan is Bob Peterson of Aurora, Ill., a 193 pound passer and line smasher, who is the outstanding sophomore on the squad.

THREE PLAYERS SHIFTED AT N. U. TO BOLSTER LINE

In an effort to add reserve strength at the guard positions, Coach Lynn Waldorf shifted two players into these spots yesterday as Northwestern's football team went through another double workout in which fundamentals again were stressed.

Ashley Arnolds, 200 pound blocking quarter back and Charles Feingarten, sophomore tackle from Austin High school, were switched to guard while George Zorich, an end, went to tackle. Arnold, a junior, did not play as a sophomore because of a knee injury. Feingarten played guard in high school, but was shifted to tackle in his freshman year. A dearth of guard replacements caused the coaches to change him back to his original position.

BROCK DRILLS AGAIN.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 19 [Special]. —Lou Brock, Purdue's veteran triple-threat right half back, who has been unable to scrimmage so far this season due to an ankle injury suffered in softball, appeared to be considerably improved this afternoon when he tried kicking for the first time. Coach Mal Elward indicated that if Brock's condition continued to improve he would be ready for actual scrimmage some time this week.

GOPHERS TACKLE EXAMS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19 [Special].—Bill Johnson, star junior end, and Fritz Grewing, powerful sophomore guard, have passed one examination and are on their way to regaining full eligibility with the Minnesota eleven. Both have one more exam to take in addition to completing some makeup work.

The Gophers ran through their second brief scrimmage this morning.

ILLINI SHIFT HATHAWAY.

Champaign, Ill., Sept. 19 [Special]. —Ralph Hathaway, 195-pound senior letter man, was back at guard today as the University of Illinois football squad went through its last day of double workouts. Hathaway earned his letter last year as a reserve guard but was shifted to center in spring practice.

With several regulars out with minor ailments, End Bob O'Neill, Tackle Tom Riggs, Guard Landis Hurley, and Quarter Back Bill Kolens all moved up to the first eleven.

The squad devoted the morning practice to running plays and scrimmaged in the afternoon.

IRISH WORK ON PUNTING.

Notre Dame, Ind., Sept. 19 [Special].—Punting in all its phases was covered in Notre Dame's football drill today as the Irish prepared to meet Purdue's kicking game in the Sept. 30 opener here.

Coach Elmer Layden ordered live blocking and tackling in the workout, which was preceded by a line scrimmage. Bob Saggau, Harry Stevenson, Milt Piepul, and Lou Zontini handled most of the kicking.

Jimmy Thomson Shoots 63 for Skokie Record

Jimmy Thomson, Shawnee-On-Delaware, Pa., professional, yesterday established a new course record of 30—33—63 at the Skokie Country club. The previous record was 66, set by Dick Metz of Lake Forest last week. Thomson played in a foursome which included Horton Smith, Harry E. Radix, and T. G. McMahon.

Maroons Seek Employment for Idle Backs

An oversupply of full backs will make it necessary for Coach Clark Shaughnessy to figure out some suitable switches for his University of Chicago football squad in the next few days. There now are enough full back candidates to supply nine teams, and since the Maroon squad of 35 players can recruit only three elevens, there is unemployment among the line smashers.

Bob Howard, converted lineman letter winner, is sure of the number one full back post, and a pair of minor letter winners, Bill Kimball and Ted Howe, are fairly certain to be No. 2 and 3, which leaves several sophomores scheduled for transposition.

INDIANA SEEKS POWER.

Bloomington, Ind., Sept. 19 [Special].—More power in the Hoosier running attack was the keynote of today's practice as Coach Bo McMillin sent the Indiana back field candidates through a drill in the bucking straps. McMilllin hopes to have the Hoosiers ready to match power with power when Nebraska invades Memorial stadium for the Indiana homecoming game a week from Saturday.

Jim Logan, Gene White, and Joe Tifil were given individual attention in place-kicking practice while Mike Bucchianeri, Emil Uremovich, Jim [Tiny] Trimble, and White Tofil drilled on kick-offs.

PASSING PLEASES CRISLER.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 19 [Special].—Michigan's football men took to the air today in a prolonged offensive drill as three teams alternated on the attack. With Half Backs Tom Harmon, Freddy Trosko, and Dave Strong doing the passing, Coach Fritz Crisler momentarily forgot the injury jinx which hit his squad yesterday. That unfortunate session further complicated the reserve line strength problem as two men were put out of action. Dennis Kuhn, reserve tackle, suffered a dislocated elbow, and Al Wistert, reserve guard, brother of the former Michigan all-American, sprained his ankle.

Reds Open Series Sale; Ask Checks That Won't Bounce

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 19 (AP).—No sooner had the Cincinnati baseball club announced today that world series reservations were receivable than lines formed in banks all over town to satisfy a requirement that only bank certified checks would be accepted.

Conceding that the National league pennant race has not yet been decided, the baseball club announced that $16.95 would buy one ticket to each of three games that may be played here after the two opening contests in New York. If the fifth game is unnecessary, the club will refund a proportionate part of the money after the series. Tickets will be limited to two to a customer. Box seats are priced at $20.40 per strip of three, said the announcement, adding:

"None will be available to the general public because the supply will have been exhausted by allotments to season box holders, players, visiting clubs, other baseball clubs, press and officials."

Greyhound Sets Mark in 2¼ Miles Trot

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 19 (AP).—Greyhound, gray gelding from the stable of E. J. Baker of St. Charles, Ill., set another record today when he trotted two miles in 4 minutes, 6 seconds at the Indiana state fairgrounds.

His time was four and a quarter seconds faster than that with which Peter Manning set the old record at North Randall, O., near Cleveland, Aug. 15, 1925. Sep Palin drove Greyhound, who holds the mile trotting record of 1:55¼.

Greyhound's exhibition featured a one day Grand circuit meeting which included the championship stallion stakes for three year old trotters and pacers. These races were scheduled last month at North Randall, but the meeting was canceled.

Peter Astra, Hambletonian winner, took all three heats of the $7,049 trotting event. The bay colt, owned by Dr. L. M. Guilinger of Andover, O., did his second and fastest mile in 2:04½.

Blackstone, entry of B. C. Mayo of Tarboro, N. C., took the stallion pacing stake, for a total purse of $1,589.50, in straight heats. Best time was 2:06¾. Dr. Hugh M. Parshall drove both Peter Astra and Blackstone.

Twenty-seven holes will be played in the Auchtermuchty, which will be concluded with another 27 tomorrow.

C. D. G. A. Tournament Chairman Ted Quinn announced yesterday that the interleague competition also will decide possession of the Chick Evans trophy, for which, heretofore, there has been a separate event for teams from all member clubs.

Record 67 Sets Pace for 275 in Builders' Golf

The Builders' Tee club held its 11th annual fall tournament yesterday at Cog Hill, 275 members and guests playing both courses. Sidney Smith led in 18 hole scoring, with 34—33—67, five under par, over No. 2, to tie the competitive record. Other low scorers over the same course were Francis Berry, 38—34—72, and Walter Solomon, 37—37—74, all guests.

Leaders among the members were John Bodevin, 38—36—74; Harry Tobin 37—37—74, and W. T. Blackwell, 37—38—75.

The championship final, at 36 holes, also was decided, Tom Ryan defeating Bodevin, 1 up, at the 39. At the third extra hole Bodevin missed a putt of approximately two feet after squaring the match four times, the last rally being at the 35th and 36th.

More than 200 prizes were awarded for gross and net scoring and in competition around the putting clock.

KINGS BLUE GETS HOME BY NOSE IN HAWTHORNE DASH

Squaw Lady Just Misses in Closing Rush.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Kings Blue, owned by John Marsch of Chicago, beat several other eligibles for next Saturday's stake events in a six and one-half furlongs dash yesterday at Hawthorne. After he had conquered Double B., in a long hard stretch drive, Kings Blue was challenged again in the last forty yards. Under a hard drive he barely lasted to beat Squaw Lady by a nose, Chance Ray being a head further back.

Double B., the 9 to 5 favorite, was so thoroughly tired after his long duel with Kings Blue that he gave way swiftly in the closing stages and finished fourth. Kings Blue was the 3 to 1 second choice, paying $8.00, $3.80, and $3.60. Irish Setter, the 4 to 1 third choice, was pulled up after being caught flatfooted at the start.

Sirocco and Pompous Genie made up a $55.20 daily double. Sirocco, after getting away with the leaders in the six furlong first race, was unable to keep pace. He began moving up again while running near the rail on the turn. After being taken to the outside in the stretch, he came on swiftly to take the lead in the last furlong. Then he drew out to an advantage of more than a length over Prince Waygo at the finish.

In accounting for his half of the double, Pompous Genie led all the way in the mile and an eighth second race but he was forced to withstand a determined bid by Rosselli in the last sixteenth. Motion Picture, the favorite, was third.

Longest Shot of Meet.

The longest priced winner of the meeting scored in the eighth race, Orbedlu coming home at odds of nearly 90 to 1. His backers received $181.40 to win, $52.60 to place, and $18 to show.

Orbedlu had made only one previous start at Hawthorne, finishing sixth on that occasion, ten lengths behind the winner. Up to that time he had been idle since the Arlington Park meeting.

He got away with the trailers in yesterday's gallop of a mile and a sixteenth while Grand Waters and Jack W. were fighting for the lead. Under Eddie Elam's urging Orbedlu came up fast in the stretch to catch the leaders in the last 50 yards after which he drew out swiftly to win by a length. Colonel Joe was second and Jack W. third.

DONOGHUE AGAIN NAMED CENTRAL A. A. U. PRESIDENT

George T. Donoghue was reëlected president of the Central association of the A. A. U. for the fifth term at the annual meeting held yesterday in the Palmer House. Vice presidents named were T. N. Metcalf, Frank E. Nelson, Harry Berz, and Livingston E. Osborne; secretary-treasurer, Fred L. Steers, and co-handicappers, Jack B. Nisberg for track and field and Clark Leach for swimming.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—ADVICE TO THE SHOVEWORN

CAN'T I? IF THEY TRY TO ENTER OUR SHELTERS I SHALL ORDER MY MEN TO SHOOT THEM DOWN!
DO AS YOU LIKE! I CAN'T STAND TO HEAR THEM SCREAMING! FOLLOW ME, YOU MUGGS!
TELL THEM TO LIE CLOSE TO THE ROCK IN A SINGLE LINE! THE EXPLOSIONS GO UP—WE'RE SAFEST FLAT IN THE ANGLE OF ROCK AND EARTH!
THE WHITE GENTLEMAN MAY NOT LISTEN TO THE WORD OF A RENEGADE—BUT I PROMISE THIS KINDNESS WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN!
AS ONE BUM TO ANOTHER—FORGET IT! AND KEEP YOUR HEAD DOWN—OR YOU WON'T HAVE TO BOTHER!

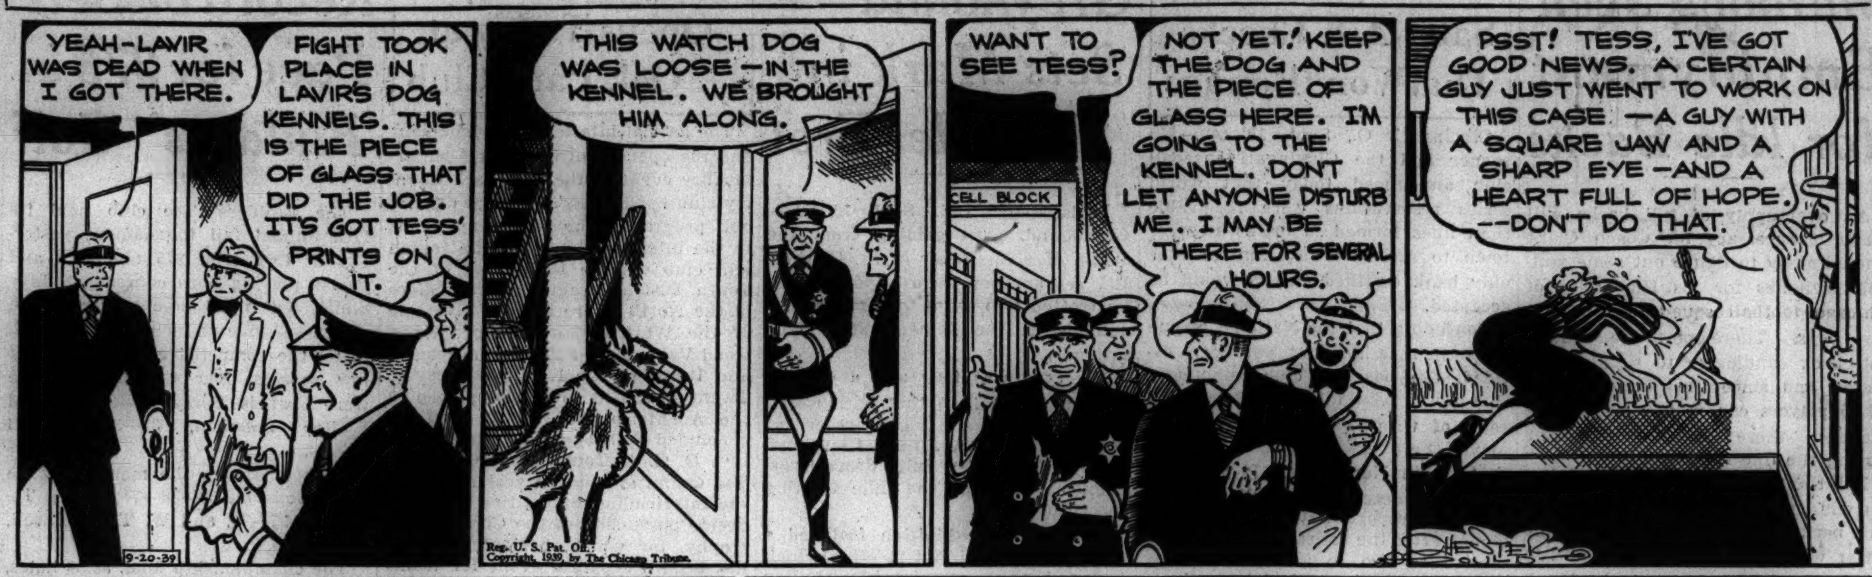
DICK TRACY—Through Tears



YEAH—LAVIR WAS DEAD WHEN I GOT THERE.
FIGHT TOOK PLACE IN LAVIR'S DOG KENNELS. THIS IS THE PIECE OF GLASS THAT DID THE JOB. IT'S GOT TESS' PRINTS ON IT.
THIS WATCH DOG WAS LOOSE—IN THE KENNEL. WE BROUGHT HIM ALONG.
CELL BLOCK
WANT TO SEE TESS?
NOT YET! KEEP THE DOG AND THE PIECE OF GLASS HERE. I'M GOING TO THE KENNEL. DON'T LET ANYONE DISTURB ME. I MAY BE THERE FOR SEVERAL HOURS.
PSST! TESS, I'VE GOT GOOD NEWS. A CERTAIN GUY JUST WENT TO WORK ON THIS CASE—A GUY WITH A SQUARE JAW AND A SHARP EYE—AND A HEART FULL OF HOPE. —DON'T DO THAT.

HUNTERS URGED TO USE DOGS FOR CRIPPLED BIRDS

Study Shows Retrievers Save Thousands.

BY BOB BECKER.

"Use a dog to get the crippled bird," is the message being broadcast to thousands of sportsmen by conservation departments now that the hunting season for about 7,000,000 hunters is at hand. Pennsylvania, always a leader in conservation policies and research to improve hunting for its sportsmen, is one of the leaders in this movement to stress the importance of some kind of a retriever to catch the wing tipped birds, thus saving thousands of cripples which otherwise would be lost.

The study which Pennsylvania has made of how a retrieving dog [any breed] saves a conservation department many dollars every fall by finding birds that otherwise would be lost is of vital interest to every hunter and every game commission.

Findings Are Startling.

The state sent men into the pheasant country to check on the birds shot by novice, average and veteran hunters. These men talked with groups using dogs and those that hunted without retrieving dogs. Their findings were startling to say the least. For example, they learned that 52 sportsmen who used dogs lost only 50 out of 249 birds shot, or 20.1 per cent, while 124 dogless gunners [veterans, novice, and average] failed to get 152 of 382 birds hit or a loss of practically 40 per cent! In other words, the hunters without dogs crippled and lose twice as many birds as those who use trained hunting dogs. Mindful of these figures in bird losses the state recently sent out the following message to sportsmen:

"The use of dogs as retrievers is recommended as a further means of cutting down crippling losses."

Small Loss Percentage.

In the Pennsylvania study of how hunters without dogs lose many birds it was found that the veteran hunters with retrievers had a percentage loss of only 15 per cent. Novice shooters using no dogs lost almost one-half of all the birds they dropped.

Pennsylvania found that one of the principal reasons why the veterans didn't lose many birds was because they didn't shoot often at out-of-range birds. Many hunters believe that extremely long shots at pheasants and especially ducks prove a shooter's skill. Actually successful long shots usually represent luck rather than skill. These long shots account for millions of cripples in upland game and especially duck hunting in the course of a season.

St. Rita, Leo Play Charity Game Oct. 29

St. Rita and Leo, members of the south section of the Chicago Catholic High School league, have been named to appear in the annual Sisters of Mercy charity football game in Soldiers' field on Oct. 29. St. Rita opens its league campaign on Oct. 1 against Mount Carmel in St. Rita field. Mount Carmel also will be Leo's opening opponent in Shewbridge field Oct. 8.

Marshall, west section team in the Public School league, which was routed by Fenger, league champion, 25 to 0, last Saturday night, will play its second game of the season against Waukegan Friday afternoon on the latter's field.

Lindblom, which played a scoreless tie with St. Rita last Saturday, will travel to Toledo, O., to play Waite High Friday night.

Don Fleming, left half back, Clifford Aberson, full back; Seymour Cousin, right half, and Bob Frederick, quarter back, are four of the nine letter men who have returned to Senn High. The north siders open their league season against Schurz in Winnemac park on Sept. 30.

Three night games on Friday's schedule will bring together Decatur and Proviso at Maywood; Maine and Elgin on the latter's field and Morgan Park and Thornton at Harvey.

PLAY TWO GAMES.

CHICAGO RUGBY SQUAD INCREASED FOR OCT. 8 GAME

Since announcing its Oct. 8 game in Soldiers' field with Victor McLaglen's Hollywood Light Horse club, the Chicago Rugby football squad has been increased from twenty to thirty-five players, Coach Alex Crawford said last night.

To make sure that his team will be in top condition for the Californians, Crawford has ordered nightly practices on Tuesdays and Thursdays and afternoon drill on Sundays. Workouts are held on the Skokie play field in Winnetka. The rules of the game require that players have endurance, since no substitutions are allowed.

TEXAS RANGERS BEAT BOSTWICK POLO TEAM, 10-8

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 19 [Special]. —Two mighty free shots from the mallet of the ten goal Texan, Cecil Smith, gave the Texas Rangers a 10 to 8 last chucker victory over the bostwick field combination as play in the Monty Waterbury memorial cup tournament, polo's most important handicap event, began today.

STEEL INDUSTRY EXPANDS ANEW AS ORDERS RISE

Steel industry operations, already at the highest level since 1937, continued to expand yesterday. American users of steel placed orders in the belief that war business may force prices higher and may even make the filling of ordinary needs difficult. Other industries also were reported to be expanding their operations.

In Chicago, the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced that it had blown in its No. 1 blast furnace at the South Chicago works. This will give the corporation 16 of its 23 blast furnaces in the Chicago district in operation. The number is the largest since the first week of October, 1937, when 17 were running. The corporation is continuing to rehire its men in the Gary and South Chicago districts.

Boosts Pittsburgh Output.

Carnegie-Illinois in addition is resuming operation of three more blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district, raising the number in operation to 24 in that district.

Meantime heavy buying is expected to raise the Alabama pig iron rate to 100 per cent of capacity, the first time that this will have been attained since the world war, steel executives at Birmingham said.

The part of iron and steel scrap in steel industry operations from now on will be of increasing importance, Edward C. Barringer, executive secretary of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, Inc., said. He explained that the country's capacity to produce steel ingots is much larger than its capacity to produce pig iron. Both pig iron and scrap go into the making of ingots.

The steel making capacity of the nation from 1920 to 1938 was expanded from 56,600,000 tons to 71,000,000 tons, but iron capacity in the corresponding period decreased from 51,000,000 tons to 50,000,000 tons.

Working Near Capacity.

The increased demand for steel is reflected in the iron ore region of upper Michigan. Ishpeming, Mich., reports that the Morris mine of the Inland State company has been put on a five day week basis instead of four. The five mines of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company in the Ispheming-Negaunee district have been stepped up from a three day week operation to five, and the James mine in Iron River has been stepped up from three to four days.

Another large Chicago company operating at a high level is the Electro-Motive corporation, General Motors subsidiary, whose plant at La Grange has about 2,600 men on its pay roll. This is the largest number in the company's history. The plant is working two full shifts, with a few working a third shift to keep production on an even keel. Electro-Motive, which builds Diesel-electric locomotives largely for railroad use, is turning out about 15 or 16 locomotives a month.

Reopens Six Mines.

At Joplin, Mo., the Eagle Picher Mining and Smelting company, a subsidiary of the Eagle Picher Lead company, has reopened six of its major mines which have been closed due to unprofitable operations. The National Lead company has opened several of its mines in the Waco area and other mines producing nonferrous metals are starting heavier operations.

North American Aviation, Inc., announced in Los Angeles that it planned to expand the capacity of its plant by 50 per cent. After completion of their new plant the company will have approximately 700,000 square feet. The improvements will include a large unit for production and assembly and two smaller buildings to house a die foundry and a drop forging shop. They will cost between $500,000 and $1,000,000. The company has just received a navy department contract for airplanes and spare parts to cost about $676,400.

Among other southern California aviation companies that have building programs are the Vultee aircraft division of the Aviation Manufacturing corporation, which reports that a major plant expansion has already been authorized, and Northrop Aircraft, Inc., which has awarded a contract for a $500,000 plant at Hawthorne, a suburb of Los Angeles.

The navy department has awarded a $1,998,420 aircraft contract to the Vought Sikorsky division of the United Aircraft corporation at Hartford, Conn.

White Sewing Machine Boosts Wages 5 Per Cent

Cleveland, O., Sept. 19 [Special].—A general wage increase of 5 per cent will be given to the 600 production workers of the White Sewing Machine corporation, effective immediately, J. M. Rebscher, treasurer, announced today. The increase was voluntary on the part of the company, he said.

Bantam Car Seeks Loan of Million for Expansion

Butler, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP).—The American Bantam Car company today announced stockholders had authorized a $1,000,000 bond issue for expansion purposes, due to increased demand. Export orders have risen since outbreak of war, said the announcement, and domestic orders continue to gain.

Manufacturer Group Says We Can Avoid War

New York, Sept. 19 (AP).—The National Association of Manufacturers asserted tonight that "peace must be the national objective" and "industry opposes profiteering."

Howard Coonley.

"American industry hates war.

"War destroys lives. War wrecks homes. Economic chaos and years of crushing depression are its inevitable aftermath. It imperils representative democracy.

"American industry wants peace. Peace must be the national objective.

"The United States can stay out of war.

"Emotionalism can betray us into war.

Urges a "Will to Peace."

"A public will to peace, coupled with wise public policies and affirmative action to this end by our government will keep us out of war.

"Europe's problems do affect us, but our domestic problems still must come first.

"If yesterday industry was the only source of prosperity and reëmployment, today it is as well the keystone of preparedness and peace. Under any condition, America must depend on a smoothly functioning, efficient industrial system."

On the problem of profits and prices, the association said this:

"Industry opposes profiteering—the utilization of war psychology to boost prices for the purpose of making excessive profits.

"As manufacturers, we recognize it to be our responsibility and moral obligation to conduct our businesses so that the prices of the products we produce and sell are related equitably to production costs.

Lashes "Emergency" Talk.

"We pledge our energetic support to this policy. The use of this crisis as an excuse either to extort unjustifiable profits or to pursue partisan political objectives is not only indefensible and dangerous but reprehensible morally. Nor should pleas of 'emergency' be utilized as an excuse for reaching objectives which the American people would not otherwise sanction.

"The present situation calls for agreement on common objectives, but the democratic process of consultation and criticism must never be abandoned. Otherwise we shall be following in the footsteps of those who believe in government by coercion.

"In a world distraught by force the best way to preserve representative democracy is to practice it."

TREASURY UNIT CALLS FOR BIDS ON MANGANESE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 [Special].—The procurement division of the treasury today asked for bids on management under authority of an act of the last congress to use $40,000,000 over a period of four years for purchase of "strategic and critical" raw materials.

The request for bids cautioned that manganese in American warehouses could not be supplied to fill this requirement. Bidders will have to be prepared to supply the metal from sources outside the country. Prices on lots ranging from 5,000 tons to 40,000 tons were asked.

The procurement division some time ago asked the war resources board to advise regarding execution of the congressional instructions. This board, which is headed by Edward R. Stettinius Jr., chairman of the United States Steel corporation, recommended that the $10,000,000 to be spent this year be spent exclusively for metals—manganese, chromium, tin and tungsten.

Inventories of Used Cars Reported Larger Sept. 1

Inventories of used cars in Cook county on Sept. 1 were equal to a 31.8 day supply, compared with a 29.6 day supply on Aug. 1, and a 28 day supply on July 1, the Chicago Automobile Trade association reported yesterday. The July 1 figure was the lowest for any month this year. Dealers' used cars on hand Sept. 1 totaled 6,304.

TREASURY'S 2½ MONTH OUTGO $2,088,868,262; DEFICIT NEARS BILLION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19 (AP).—Treasury expenditures today passed $2,000,000,000 for the fiscal year which began July 1.

The $2,088,868,262 spending total for the two and one-half months was nearly twice the revenue total, and left a deficit of $932,273,417. On the corresponding date last year, the treasury had spent $1,884,783,619, and had a $704,419,935 deficit.

Because somewhat better business conditions boosted excise taxes on automobiles and other manufactured products, revenues since July 1, totaling $1,156,594,845, were within about $24,000,000 of the corresponding figure last year.

Quarterly income tax receipts which have been coming in since Sept. 15, however, may temporarily widen the margin, because this year's income taxes, based on last year's business, are known to be below those collected last year.

The federal debt now is at $40,869,020,615, which is about $2,500,000,000 more than it was a year ago.

Canada's New Rules Puzzle Chicago Banks

Much confusion existed yesterday among Chicago foreign exchange dealers and banking officials over Canada's wartime regulations affecting money. Official copies of restrictions imposed by the new Canadian foreign exchange control board had been received by only a few dealers. Most were awaiting official clarification of the regulations and refused to interpret them pending further study.

Opinion was, however, that the board would not interfere with normal business transactions between Canadian and American companies or by an American firm with Canadian branches.

Board Has Wide Powers.

The Canadian foreign exchange control board was created last Friday. Headed by Graham Ford Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, it was given wide powers over Canadian money, securities, and exports of goods. It immediately issued a list of technical regulations, which Chicago foreign exchange dealers said yesterday still needed official interpretation.

One banking official in Chicago said he believed the Canadian board's rulings were made on the basis of residence rather than citizenship. He took the view that Canadians living in Chicago would be considered nonresidents of the dominion and, therefore, could withdraw funds on deposit in Canada without restriction. This banker said his interpretation probably would apply also to American corporations with Canadian branches.

Bureau Delays Interpretation.

The Chicago office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce said it had been advised by the Ottawa office of the bureau to withhold interpretation of the regulations until the Canadian board issued an official clarification of its rules. Copies of the restrictions, however, had been received at the local office.

Meantime two new developments were reported in connection with the regulation of Canadian securities trading.

The Montreal Stock exchange and curb market issued rulings that dividends payable in foreign funds and collected by a broker for his client will be payable in the future in Canadian funds at the same rate of exchange as that obtained by the broker. This ruling rescinded by-laws of the two exchanges which held that dividends collected by a broker were to be made in the currency of the country where the company's dividend checks were payable.

Consider Closing Branches.

New York brokerage firms with branches in Canada were considering the advisability of closing their Canadian offices following the control board's ban on Canadian trading of American or other foreign securities. Representatives of the New York Stock exchange and its member firms were in Montreal inquiring into the new regulations. They sought a clarification of the rules as an aid in deciding how long it may be advisable to keep branch offices in operation.

One New York firm, E. A. Pierce & Co., closed its branches at Ottawa, Toronto, and Hamilton on Sept. 15. Its accounts at those offices were turned over to the Canadian branches of Thomson & McKinnon. Officials of the Pierce company said, however, that the change had been planned several months ago and that the new regulations of the Canadian control board were not the governing factor.

INT. NICKEL GETS PERMIT TO PAY 50 CENT DIVIDEND

New York, Sept. 19 (AP).—The executive committee of International Nickel Company of Canada, Ltd., announced today it had received a permit under Canada's foreign exchange control regulations for payments of the recently declared common dividend of 50 cents a share in United States dollars. The payment will be made Sept. 30 to stockholders of record Aug. 31.

The company also said it had received a general license authorizing export of its products from Canada and the necessary license to use its foreign exchange for business requirements.

The new Canadian controls, it was said, were not expected to hamper the company's business.

FOREIGN BONDS FALL AS MUCH AS 28 POINTS AFTER HITLER SPEECH

New York, Sept. 19 [Special].—Hitler's threat to France and England that Germany would continue to fight even if the war lasted several years caused foreign dollar loans to break sharply today on the New York Stock exchange. Bonds of the belligerent nations tumbed as much as 28 points.

Sydney 5½s slumped 28 points to lead the downslide. Silesian province 4½s lost 18¼; Rhine Westphalia 6s, 15⅝; Poland 8s, 7⅝; German government 7s, unstamped, 6⅞; Berlin 6½s, 13⅜; Estonia 7s, 18, and Canada 3s, 5½.

Obligations of the Italian government and corporations reversed the trend in the foreign list by advancing. Italy has steadfastly declared her neutrality in this war.

Domestic bonds were steady, although some sales of United States government issues resulted in net declines of 1-32d to 7-32ds point. Railroad, utility, and some convertible bonds gained fractions to 2 or more points.

The number of stores in operation decreased from 1,104 in 1938 to 1,079 on Sept. 9, 1939. Average sales per location gained 17.69 per cent.

RETAILERS FIGHT I. C. C.'S FREIGHT FORWARDER RULE

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations yesterday launched a campaign against recent Interstate Commerce commission orders which, according to a statement by the federation, may force freight forwarders to cease theirs services except between large cities. Under the present forwarding system, the federation said, retailers make large transportation savings.

Members of the federation were urged to support a congressional bill to alter the rulings. The ICC held that forwarders do not come under its jurisdiction as such, and must be considered as freight shippers. They were ordered to cancel their rates as of Oct. 10.

'MISTAKE' BY AAA SENDS 12,000 CARS OF CORN ROAMING

A misunderstanding among agents of the Agricultural Adjustment administration last week resulted in the shipment of 1,200 cars of loan corn to Chicago, downstate sources reported yesterday.

Downstate agents were reported to have notified farmers prematurely that deliveries of loan corn in the Bloomington area would be accepted for shipment. The order later was revoked. Shipment of the loan corn has since been stopped. The 1,200 cars will be stored in Chicago until the proper time for release.

Large shipments of flour figured in a general upturn in carloadings last week, although the general western grain movement was not considered large, railroad officials said.

British Pound Rebounds for 10 Cent Gain

The value of British currency rose in terms of the dollar yesterday at New York. "Free" sterling recovered in early trading to $3.94, or 12½ cents above the preceding day's closing price. It closed at $3.91½. Speculative selling of the last week had vanished from the market, dealers reported.

Dealers said the upward trend of the pound followed a general realization that sterling, the French franc, and the Canadian dollar had become "virtually blocked currencies." These currencies may continue to fluctuate erratically in free trading, dealers explained, but rigid control measures by foreign governments have left little free exchange to fill commitments.

Causes of Improvement.

Some dealers attributed improvement in the British currency to reports from Washington that the United States treasury was "watching" fluctuations of the pound for possible effects on American export trade. Talk of a possible peace move by Germany was also reported among the forces reflected in the upturn. Exchange circles, however, were generally inclined to minimize the importance of the "free" market, asserting wartime controls and "blocked" sterling arrangements covered most business with England.

The Canadian dollar advanced .12½ cent, ending at 91.00 cents. The French franc rose .05 cent at 2.23 cents. The German mark was quoted .20 cent higher at 40.00 cents in a nominal market. Dutch, Swiss, and Belgian currencies rose slightly. The Italian lira fell .05 cent to 5.15 cents. Trading in the unit was extremely light, however.

A dispatch from London said the National Bank of Denmark had increased its discount rate. The rate, it was reported, was boosted to 4½ per cent from 3½ per cent. This move was designed to discourage shipment of funds from Denmark, according to the London report.

Foreign Securities Restricted.

Trading in foreign securities exchanges continued on a restricted basis. The London stock market closed generally lower. General firmness developed near the close of the Amsterdam bourse. Trading was quiet, however. Final prices on the Paris bourse were generally lower, continuing the preceding session's decline.

Gold totaling $4,471,000 was engaged for shipment to this country, the New York Federal Reserve bank announced. Of this total $4,182,000 was taken in Canada and $289,000 in India. Gold imports of $9,952,000 from Canada and $2,100,000 from Colombia were reported in the bank's daily gold statement.

The price of gold at London was posted unchanged by the Bank of England at 168 shillings an ounce. Bullion dealers at New York boosted the price of silver 1¾ cents an ounce to 38⅛ cents. The treasury department continued to offer 35 cents an ounce for foreign mined silver.

TRANSAMERICA ENTERS ARIZONA, BUYS TWO BANKS

New York, Sept. 19 [Special].—Transamerica corporation has reported to the Securities and Exchange commission that it had acquired control of two banks and an insurance agency in Phoenix, Ariz. Although it controls banks in California, Nevada and Oregon, these are the first it has had in Arizona.

On Aug. 3 and 8, it reported, it acquired 15,820 shares of the stock of the First National bank of Arizona in Phoenix. These gave it 21,965 shares and, with the 14,500 owned by its subsidiary, the Occidental Life Insurance company, 66.30 per cent control of the bank's 55,000 shares.

On the same dates it bought a like number of shares in the Phoenix Savings Bank and Trust company. Phoenix Savings bank owned all 6,000 shares of stock, $1 par value, in the National Insurance Agency, and this also became a Transamerica subsidiary.

'WAR BRIDES' GO ON BIG PARADE IN STOCK MART

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 19.—Apparently interpreting Reichsfuehrer Hitler's speech to indicate that Germany is willing and prepared to wage a long war, traders rushed into the stock market with heavy buying orders today and pushed prices up 1 to more than 8 points.

Although nearly all types of shares were bought, interest centered on stocks of companies considered to be in a position to profit most from "war" buying. These included steels, metals, aviations, chemicals, and shipbuilding shares.

Volume totaled 1,832,630 shares against 1,733,630 yesterday. About one-third of the total came in the final hour, when a deluge of buying put the ticker behind.

Bethlehem Takes Leadership.

Bethlehem Steel led the parade of revived "war brides" with a gain of 8⅛ points. It closed at 92¼. United States Steel added 6¾ points. Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Crucible were among other steel stocks which showed gains running to more than 5 points.

Reversing yesterday's trend, aviation shares spurted forward under the lead of Douglas, which jumped 5¼ points. Gains of between 2 and 3 points were made by Consolidated Aircraft, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Sperry, and North American Aviation.

Anaconda, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, International Nickel, and American Smelting led in the metal section with advances up to 3¾ points.

The list started strong, partly in reaction to yesterday's setback and partly because of better domestic news. Early gains ranged from 1 to 3 points, with strength in steel shares spreading to other sections.

Buy After Hitler's Talk.

When Hitler began to speak, operations slowed considerably and the list developed a nervous tendency. On the completion of the German leader's speech, fresh buying came in to swing the list to the highest levels of the day.

Oil stocks developed uniform strength and activity. Texas corporation was conspicuous with a jump of 4 points.

Other "war issues" to come to the fore again were American Shipbuilding, up 1, and Electric Boat, up 1⅝. Warehousing issues made gains running to 2⅝ points in New York Dock.

Carrier shares were active. New York Central was one of the day's volume leaders and spurted 2⅛ points. Other gainers included Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern preferred, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, and Union Pacific.

Rail Equipments Strong.

Rail equipment shares found a wide following on the proposal of Jesse Jones that the government lend the railroads 75 million dollars to finance repairs. Baldwin Locomotive, Pressed Steel Car, Pullman, and kindred issues made gains running to about 3 points.

Gains in chemical shares ranged to 3⅛ points in Allied. In the motors, Chrysler rallied 5 points and General Motors 2½ points. Rubbers made gains running to more than a point in Goodyear and Goodrich.

Power and light shares swung forward with the general list. Advances were limited in most instances.

Future Prices in Commodity Markets Rise

Commodity future prices moved upward in New York trading yesterday, hides leading the advance with gains of 0.43 to 0.45 cent a pound. Spot hides at Chicago were quoted ½ cent a pound higher at 15½ cents.

Wool tops trading was active, sales totaling more than 2,000,000 pounds. Cash wool remained unchanged, but futures scored gains of ½ to 1.7 cent a pound. Strength in securities inspired buying in this market.

Copper moved upward for nearly ¼ cent a pound, cottonseed oil scored similar advances, and smaller gains were made by sugar, coffee, and cocoa.

Refined Copper Steady.

Refined copper held unchanged at 12 cents, although metal interests reported buying activity was at the lowest ebb since the war started. Refiners continued to discourage excessive buying by allocation of tonnages.

Silk futures were irregular, while cash silk sank 8½ cents a pound to $3.00½. Rubber was also irregular, but in this division the cash staple moved upward, with sales at 22 cents, up ¼ cent a pound.

Lead and tin were lower. The latter closed unchanged to 2.15 cents a pound lower in futures trading. Cash tin was quoted at 65 to 70 cents, compared with the last posted quotation of 70 cents.

World Supply Dwindles.

The American Iron and Steel institute reported world supplies of tin dropped 4,899 tons in August to 34,608 long tons.

Reflections of the recent boom were seen in the finished goods field when the United States Rubber company announced upward price revisions on all mechanical rubber goods, effective Oct. 1. The amount of the changes was not announced. Last week the B. F. Goodrich company announced a similar increase. It was also reported in trade circles that prices of rubber tires for export have been boosted 5 to 10 per cent.

Caterpillar Tractor company yesterday announced price increases of 10 to 12 per cent for its smaller tractor models. The price of the company's smallest model was boosted $100 or 10 per cent, and the price of the next to smallest model $250 or 12 per cent.

Both models are sold principally for agricultural purposes. A general increase in its prices is not expected, according to the company.

The increases were put into effect, the company said, to adjust a discrepancy between the prices on its smallest models and the rest of its line which has existed since a broad reduction in prices was made last June.

RAILROADS PLAN LARGE PROGRAM OF REBUILDING

Prepare to Spend Up to 100 Million.

Railroads belonging to the Association of American Railroads plan to start at once on a program of repair and rebuilding of present equipment. This will cost $75,000,000 to $100,000,000, according to an announcement made in Washington yesterday after a special meeting of the association. The various roads will also buy new equipment to meet all trafic demands on them, it was said.

F. E. Williamson tells N. Y. Central's plans.

Railroad executives attending the meeting said that the railroads had ordered, planned to order, or would repair a total of about 25,000 freight cars. One of the largest equipment programs discussed was one for the New York Central which would total about $10,000,000, largely for freight equipment.

Prepare for Future Demand.

"The railroads are putting themselves in readiness in advance of demand," the formal statement by the association said. "They do this despite the fact that in late years, trafic has not required, and earnings have not been sufficient to permit them to keep all facilities in immediately serviceable shape.

"As they did in 1923, however, the railroads have determined to spend money which they have not earned in order to meet the demand on the faith that there will be hereafter a square deal in public transportation policies."

F. E. Williamson disclosed that the New York Central has obtained a commitment from the RFC to advance the amount necessary to finance its equipment purchase program. Although the sum has not been set definitly it is expected to run about $10,000,000.

Will Buy Many Cars.

Williamson said the road hopes to purchase 3,500 of 55-ton steel hopper cars and 500 of 50-foot box cars. He said that the road has under way a substantial equipment repair program and that a large number of men has been recalled to work.

The Pennsylvania let the contracts for the 50,000 tons of rail which it is buying under its recently announced $17,000,000 improvement program. The order was divided as follows: Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, 25,000 tons; Bethlehem Steel company, 22,000 tons, and the Inland Steel company, 3,000 tons. The rail will be principally 152 and 131 pounds to the yard.

Among the car purchase and repair programs not previously announced are the following: Baltimore and Ohio, to buy 2,000 new cars; Western Maryland to build 900 cars; Missouri Pacific, to rebuild 1,500 cars; Virginia railway, to rebuild 1,500 cars; Reading, to build 300 new freight cars.

COTTON

American cotton markets were unsettled yesterday. An early advance of over 50 cents a bale on mill and speculative buying was followed by a sharp reaction late in the session. The South and hedgers were good sellers on the way down. Closing trades on futures were .09 cent higher to .02 cent a pound lower.

Spain was reported to have taken 50,000 bales of American cotton, representing part of the 250,000 bales that country is expected to purchase with the aid of the Export-Import bank.

Demand for textiles was reported as rather slow. Resellers were said to be offering at ⅛c a yard under mill prices.

English mills were reported to have asked for a relaxation of the overtime restrictions in England due to the pressure of large government contracts.

Spot cotton closed .03 cent higher to .02 cent lower with New York, 9.05; New Orleans, 9.03; Houston, 8.82, and Galveston at 8.80 cent a pound. Prices follow:

GIVE BUSINESS MORE FREEDOM, BANKERS URGE

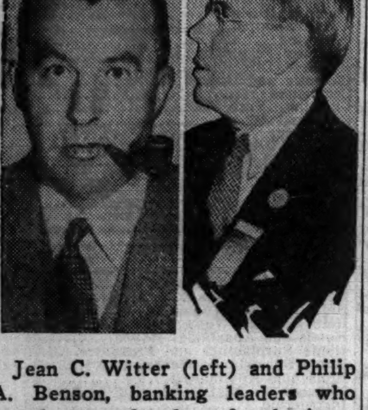
Ask Legislative Curbs Be Eased During War.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 19.—[Special].—Immediate action to put the nation's economic machine in perfect running order as a protection against repercussions from Europe was demanded today by the heads of the two largest organizations of bankers.

Philip A. Benson of Brooklyn, N. Y., president of the American Bankers association, and Jean C. Witter of San Francisco, president of the Investment Bankers Association of America, made the demands in addressing the fifty-second annual meeting of the American Institute of Accountants.

Would Free Creative Forces.

To meet the problems of economic recovery and the European war, Benson proposed "an indefinite moratorium on legislation, burocratic regulations, reform and industrial strife." Attacking "antibusiness, anticapital policies of government," he declared the nation must "release the creative forces of capital and industry if we are to keep our freedom."



Jean C. Witter (left) and Philip A. Benson, banking leaders who urged more freedom for business enterprise.

Failure of the federal government to achieve prosperity through vast spending, he said, was the result of "such extensive interference with business as to impair confidence in the future of profits."

Assails Legal Technicalities.

Witter, in his address, called for removal of legal technicalities which he said hamper the capital markets and limit the flow of investment funds into new productive enterprises, thereby limiting employment. He advocated revision of the national securities acts to permit the sale of stocks and bonds immediately after their registration with the Securities and Exchange commission, and favored abandonment of the present waiting period.

"There would be no delay and no unnecessary interferences" under this plan, he said. "But the responsibility for full disclosure of all pertinent facts to the investing public would remain.

Opposes Private Placements.

Witter said restrictions of the securities laws were largely responsible for the growing trend toward private placement of new capital issues, rather than their sale through public investment channels.

"I am definitly opposed to the trends and causes which are leading to private sales of securities to a few large insurance companies and banks," he said, "not because it hurts accountants and investment bankers, but because it is contrary to the interest of industry, of insurance policyholders, and of the public generally."

Witter estimated that 16 per cent of all the corporate bonds issued between January, 1934, and June 30, 1938, were placed privately.

SCANDINAVIAN STABILITY CITED AS PEACE URGE

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 19 [Special].—The stability enjoyed by neutral Scandinavian countries should convince the United States it is necessary to remain out of the European war, Dr. Frank G. Dickinson, University of Illinois economic professor, said here today. He spoke at the sixtieth anniversary banquet of the Western Underwriters association.

"From the mountain peak of the last world war, the avalanche of depression in the 1930's was inevitable," he said. "Why repeat the process of war and depressions?

"The American post-war deficit in production equals three and one-half times the nation's entire economic output in 1929. That is an irreplacable deficit."

CARGILL LOSES SKIRMISH OVER C. & A. TESTIMONY

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 19 [Special].—Skirmishes over admissibility of evidence marked the hearing here today by the federal department of agriculture of charges against Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis grain firm. Cargill is accused of violating the commodity exchange act in 1937 by alleged manipulation of a "squeeze" against sellers of September corn futures in Chicago.

A series of objections and arguments began with testimony of the first government witness, William R. Buster, senior member of the division of violations and complaints of the Commodities Exchange administration.

His testimony got into the record over objection of attorneys for Cargill. Buster read from copies of entries in books of Cargill and some of its subsidiaries, dealing with transactions in question.

This testimony was branded as hearsay by Cargill attorneys, who asked that the original books be certified as evidence. The objection was overruled. They contended that use of only parts of the records would bar testimony relative to other transactions. The hearing opened yesterday.

Chicago-Houston Freight Schedule Slashed One Day

The time required for the shipment of package freight from Chicago to Houston, Tex., is being reduced by one day, effective today, the Chicago Association of Commerce announced yesterday. Hereafter freight will be delivered in Houston on the morning of the third day instead of the fourth, the association said.

The city council declared the granaries to be a public nuisance. City officials said a court injunction will be sought to sustain their action.

NLRB EXAMINER LASHED IN FOOTE GEAR'S APPEAL

Prejudiced, Incompetent, Company Charges.

Petition for a review of a National Labor Relations board decision which favored two C. I. O. unions was filed yesterday in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals by the Foote Brothers Gear and Machine corporation, Chicago. The company alleges incompetence and prejudice on the part of the NLRB trial examiner and numerous errors of law in the finding.

Three unions are involved in the controversy. They are the United Office and Professional Workers union, local 24; the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America, lodge 2048, and the Independent Union of Gear Workers.

Complaint Filed in 1937.

The first two organizations, affiliated with the C. I. O., contend they are the regularly elected bargaining agents of the employés. They filed a complaint before the labor board in December, 1917, charging that the company had refused to deal with them. They also charged that various employés had lost their jobs because of union activity and that the Independent Union of Gear Workers is a company dominated union.

Although hearings on the complaint were concluded Feb. 14, 1938, the NLRB failed to announce its decision until late last month. The company was ordered to reinstate two of the discharged employés with back pay; cease and desist from alleged unfair labor practices with regard to the C. I. O. unions, and to withdraw recognition of the Independent Union of Gear Workers.

Ask Ruling Be Set Aside.

Asserting that this ruling is unfair and based solely on prejudice, the company is asking the Court of Appeals to set it aside and dismiss the original complaints. The petition for a review was drawn by Attorneys George B. Christensen and Grier D. Patterson of the firm of Winston Strawn and Shaw, 38 South Dearborn street.

Their brief opens with an attack on Lawrence J. Kosters, trial examiner for the labor board. If his findings are upheld, the petition states, the company will lose many of its constitutional rights.

"The trial examiner was incompetent and not qualified to act in a semijudicial capacity . . . and was unable to accord the petitioner [the company] a full and fair hearing guaranteed by the law," the petition says.

Argument Is Criticized.

"In making its decision, the labor board made a lengthy and disconnected argument in which it is impossible to ascertain upon what, if any, alleged ultimate facts the ruling is based."

The petition also complains of what it terms the high handed methods employed by Martin B. Madden, labor board chairman, while conducting a hearing in Washington, and the unnecessarily long and costly cross-examination of certain company witnesses. Records show company officials told the committee they were required to pay a board approved stenographer $1 a page for a 3,250 page record of the hearings.

PRICES OF HOGS RECOVER FROM EARLY SLUMP

Cool weather and a better outlet for fresh pork yesterday caused a rally in the market for hogs after a 10 to 15 cents break at the start of trading. All of the earlier losses were recovered. The "practical" top of $8.15 per hundred pounds was off 10 cents, but several loads on final rounds reached $8.20 and $8.25, the latter equaling the peak of the preceding session.

Sufficient transactions were made at the lower level to pull the average price down 5 cents to $7.60. Supplies of hogs were larger at nearly all of the leading packing centers.

A broader demand for pork resulting from the cooler weather halted the long decline in wholesale markets.

The cattle run was heavy for a Tuesday and carried an unusually large tonnage of beef because of the liberal supply of steers over 1,100 pounds. Light steers and hefers held steady, but anything carrying weight ruled weak to unevenly lower. Some final sales of steers over 1,100 pounds were off 35 to 50 cents.

Britain Offers Lower Rate on Ship Cargo Insurance

New York, Sept. 19 [Special].—The British government has arranged to underwrite eastbound cargoes on all ships operating between New York and other Atlantic ports and the United Kingdom, at a rate below that offered by the underwriters here, it was disclosed tonight. Regardless of the nationality of the ship carrying cargo to British ports, war risk insurance is available at 2 per cent of cargo value. Shipping officials here said they understood unofficially that a similar rate had been placed in effect on westbound cargo out of United Kingdom ports.

ILLINOIS OUTPUT OF OIL SETS NEW WEEKLY RECORD

National Output Also Up, Says Journal.

Daily average production of oil in Illinois last week rose to another new peak at 331,416 barrels, an increase of 9,624 barrels over the daily rate in the preceding week, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday.

Production for the entire country was estimated at an average of 3,430,710 barrels daily, an increase of 117,228 barrels over the daily rate of the preceding week.

Most of the upturn in Illinois output was caused by a jump in production in the Louden field in Fayette county, the magazine said. Output in the highly productive Salem field remained at its recent level, and operations increased in the Sandoval area.

66 Wells Are Completed.

Sixty-six wells were completed in Illinois during the week, raising to 2,508 the number developed since the beginning of the year. The state had 3,968 wells in operation at the close of last week.

The American Petroleum Institute estimated that production throughout the country averaged 3,422,350 barrels daily during the week, a drop of 193,700 barrels from the institute's estimate of the daily rate of the preceding week. Texas, California, and Oklahoma were the only states producing more oil than Illinois, it said.

Stocks of finished and unfinished gasoline at refineries, terminals, in transit and in pipe lines were reported at 71,869,000 barrels, against 72,244,000 the week before and 69,961,000 a year ago. Imports of foreign crude and refined oils totaled 1,278,000 barrels, compared with 1,142,000 the week before.

Oil Studies Pushed.

J. J. Hallihan, Illinois director of registration and education, announced in Springfield that experts of the state geological survey are now conducting an investigation of the oil possibilities in the extreme southern section of the state.

The Texas railroad commission, which regulates the oil industry in that state, issued an order fixing average daily production at 1,375,000 barrels, or 33,200 barrels below the market demand for Texas crude oil as estimated by the United States bureau of mines.

The market for Pennsylvania lubricating oil continues strong, according to a report from Oil City, Pa. Advances ranging from ½ cent to 3½ cent a gallon have been posted in the prices of neutral bright and cylinder oils, used in blending lubricating oils.

FEDERAL BARGE LINES LIFT PAY 35 CENTS A DAY

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 19 (AP)—The government-owned federal barge lines announced today a wage increase of 35 cents a day had been granted 3,500 union boatmen and dock workers under a contract signed last night.

The contract, ending a wage controversy which had been going on for months, was made retroactive to last May 17, when the barge lines' employés ended a three week strike.

Wage scales, which will be increased $10.50 a month, have been $80 a month for deckhands, $95 for firemen, $100 for assistant engineers, $250 to $300 for engineers, and 38 cents to 55 cents an hour for dock workers.

GENERAL FINANCE REPORTS BIG GAIN IN NET EARNINGS

Owen L. Coon.

Net earnings of the General Finance corporation, automobile sales financing company with headquarters in Chicago, were nearly doubled in the nine months ended Aug. 31, stockholders were informed in a report issued yesterday.

Owen L. Coon, chairman of the company, said net income for the period was $242,316, against $129,973 a year ago. After preferred dividends, the earnings were equal to 23 cents and 10 cents a share on common stock in the respective periods. Volume of business for the nine months increased to $25,444,251, from $12,533,727 a year ago.

Coon announced the company had acquired the business of the Guardian Fidelity corporation and would continue that agency's operations at Cleveland and Youngstown, O. With these additions, wholly owned subsidiaries operate eleven branches in Illinois, Michigan, and Ohio.

Coal Company Earns Less.

The annual report of the United Electric Coal companies of Chicago showed lower earnings for the year ended July 31, although production was the largest in the organization's history. Net income was $167,197, equal to 32 cents a share on common stock, against $226,795, or 44 cents a share, in the preceding fiscal year. The recent fiscal year's figure was reported before a write off of $146,240 against contracts acquired in 1929—but since abandoned—for additional coal reserves and mineral rights.

Frank F. Kolbe, recently elected president of the organization, attributed the lower earnings to a reduction of 10 cents a ton in coal selling prices, partly offset by a decrease of 6 cents a ton in operating costs. Although national bituminous coal production was slightly lower in the twelve months, United Electric's output rose to 2,078,696 tons, or 13 per cent above that of the preceding twelve months. It was above the previous peak established in 1930.

Bank Debt Is Reduced.

Kolbe told stockholders the $2,100,000 indebtedness to banks arising from a plan effected in October, 1938, had been reduced to $1,703,824 as of Sept. 15, 1939.

The Wayne Pump company, Fort Wayne, Ind., reported net income of $666,717 for nine months ended Aug. 31, against $833,381 a year ago, equal to $2.30 and $2.87 a share on capital stock in the respective periods. The company created a reserve of $75,000 out of earnings against possible losses in foreign exchange growing out of the European conflict.

NORTH WESTERN TO PAY INTEREST OF TWO UNITS

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday approved the recommendation of Charles M. Thomson, trustee of the North Western railway, that overdue interest be paid on the Des Plaines Valley railway and the Sioux City and Pacific Railway company bonds. Both lines are units of the North Western system.

Judge Barnes also approved the trustee's recommendation for payment of $510,000 in principal payments to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, together with unpaid interest on the RFC loan. Total payments to the three creditors amount to $1,863,850. Thomson said the payments could be made without injury to the North Western's cash position.

Trustees of the Milwaukee road were authorized by Judge Barnes to spend $139,300 to enlarge 398 freight cars to accommodate 1940 model automobiles. The trustees' petition said $350 will be spent on each car to modernize the loading device and increase the height of the car.

November Butter Futures Rise; Eggs Firm to Lower

November butter futures advanced 0.05 cent a pound to 27¼ cents on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, but the February delivery closed unchanged. Cash prices declined ¼ to ⅝ cent. Egg futures finished unchanged to 0.30 cent a dozen lower, the deferred deliveries showing the losses. The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation bought 65,000 dozens of fresh eggs in the cash market.

WHEAT BREAKS, THEN RECOVERS ON WAR NEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yes'day.	Monday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$ .84⅞	$ .85	$ .64⅛
Corn	.54¾	.55⅞	.40⅝
Oats	.33¾	.34⅜	.25⅝
Rye	.53	.53	.43⅛
Soybeans	.80½	.81⅝	.77

Conflicting reports regarding possible developments in the European war dominated the action of the wheat market yesterday. Prices swung within a range of about 3 cents a bushel. "Peace talk" during the early part of the session led to a general selling and a decline of about 2 cents a bushel. The loss was recovered later when Adolph Hitler finished speaking at Danzig without offering peace.

Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were ¾ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower, the former on September. Winnipeg wheat futures closed 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents lower.

Corn Market is Lower.

Corn showed a heavy undertone from the start and closed 1⅛ to 1¾ cents lower. Increased country offerings of cash corn had a depressing effect. Farmers were reported to be showing much more disposition to sell new crop corn for October shipment.

Scattered liquidation developed in the corn market. There was a fair rally at one time in sympathy with wheat, but it was quickly lost. Cash houses were on the selling side. Farmers sold 175,000 bushels of cash corn for shipment to Chicago.

The bulk of the corn crop in the states of largest production is reported safe from frost and much grain is already in the shock.

Crop News Ignored.

Crop news had little influence in shaping the trend of the wheat market yesterday. Continued dry weather was reported in the winter wheat belt. Seeding was delayed in the southwest and traders forecast a shortage in fall and winter pasturage.

Lack of export business and the continued refusal of the government to restore the export subsidy on American wheat was said to be preventing this country from making liberal sales to neutral countries. Mention was made yesterday of a scarcity of cash wheat in Belgium. Current prices for American wheat are materially above those asked for Canadian and Argentine grain.

COLUMBIA GAS.

Please send me information on Columbia Gas and Electric. How are its various classes of securities rated?

D. L.

Answer: Columbia Gas and Electric company is a public utility holding company. Its subsidiaries are grouped into seven major divisions, serving Cincinnati, Dayton and Columbus in Ohio, Charleston, W. Va., Pittsburgh, Binghamton, N. Y., and the Atlantic seaboard states. The major interest is the production and distribution of gas.

Net income, earnings a common share and dividends a common share in recent years have been as follows:

Year.	Net income.	Earned.	Paid.
1937	13,573,490	0.57	$0.45
1936	13,223,242	0.53	0.40

In the six months ended June 30, 1939, the company had a net income of $8,513,145, equal to 43 cents a share, against net income of $6,333,902, equal to 25 cents a share, in the same months last year.

Funded debt at Dec. 31, 1938, was $104,450,900 and subsidiaries had a funded debt of $77,559,000. Fixed charges were earned 1.90 times in 1938, 2.23 times in 1937, 2.16 times in 1936 and 1.99 times in 1935. Interest has been paid regularly on all bond issues and they are rated as "business man's investments."

There are three classes of preferred stock: 940,664 outstanding shares of 6 per cent $100 par series A preferred, 38,695 outstanding shares of 5 per cent $100 par preferred and 121,668 outstanding shares of convertible cumulative 5 per cent $100 par preference stock. The conversion privilege on the last mentioned stock has expired.

All three classes of preferred are cumulative. Full dividend requirements have been earned yearly on these stocks and payments have been made regularly. They are considered of fair grade.

Financial position is adequate. Current assets at Dec. 31, 1938, were $39,549,186 and current liabilities $17,533,248, leaving net working capital of $22,015,938.

No dividends have been declared on the 12,223,256 outstanding shares of common stock so far this year. Speculative elements predominate in this issue.

STOCK OF NEW YORK.

What is the "corporate stock" of New York? Some of this stock may be given to holders of traction securities in that city. What is it?

H. L.

Answer: The term "corporate stock" is peculiar to New York City. It is the long term securities of that city as distinguished from the short term issues running to about 10 years. It is not stock in the common meaning of the word but a long term debt obligation.

Day by Day on the Farm

By HOMER NEISZ

Corn Bins Shipped.

Sept. 19, 1939.

THOUSANDS of government owned corn bins are being shipped to Illinois and other corn belt states this week to help store corn that farmers are delivering to the Commodity Credit corporation in payment of loans made last fall at the rate of 57 cents a bushel on corn from the 1937 and 1938 crops. The loans were made through the Agricultural Adjustment administration.

The government has bought 32,200 steel bins with a total storage capacity of 57,426,000 bushels to supplement storage space rented from private elevators. Officials of the AAA said today that the bins are being delivered in quantity for the first time this week.

Although farmers are beginning to deliver loan corn to the government, there still is much uncertainty among growers, grain dealers, and AAA officials as to the amount that will be delivered in payment of the loans. More than 257 million bushels were sealed last fall as collateral for government loans.

Many Renew Loans.

Before corn prices began going up at the start of the European war, farmers were said to be preparing to turn over most of the sealed corn to the government. Now many are renewing their loans.

This is complicating the storage problem on farms. Apparently there never has been enough storage space on the average farm for big crops. Much corn is stored in temporary cribs nearly every fall. Storage space is expected to be scarcer than ever this fall, because farmers soon will be harvesting a near record crop and many cribs still are filled with loan corn from previous years.

Many farmers throughout the corn belt are said to be building new cribs and buying metal ones. Elevators are building additional storage space for loan corn that will be taken by the government and stored in rented space in private elevators.

Much Due from Tenants.

A large portion of the loan corn delivered to the government in payment of the loans is expected to come from tenant farmers who are reluctant to provide additional storage space in order to keep the loan corn and also store this year's crop.

In addition to the big corn crop, the largest acreage of soybeans on record is to be harvested this fall. The yield per acre of soybeans is expected to be higher than average. The big crop of soybeans will further complicate the storage problem, both on farms and in elevators.

The corn crop in Illinois has matured earlier this year than ever before. Virtually all of it already is considered safe from frost. Some farmers have started hogging down corn and others are picking corn to feed.

Local Loan Gives You the Service You Want

75% of our loans are Signature Only Loans to employed men and women. LOCAL LOAN originated and perfected this service because the steady bond of employed people —young or old and regardless of occupation—are entitled to a simplified loan method.

Our aim is to offer you whatever plan will enable you to borrow most easily. LOCAL LOAN makes liberal Furniture and Automobile Loans too. But if you are steadily employed we prefer to make you a loan On Your Signature Only without mortgages or endorsers. You may borrow $25 to $300—

On Your Signature Only

You make your own repayment terms [repaying any time within 20 months] and you are charged only for the actual time you have the money.

When you deal with LOCAL LOAN you borrow without the knowledge of your employer, friends and relatives.

We cannot tell you all about our service in our advertisement. Just phone one of the following offices. Your loan request can be taken over the telephone so you can obtain the money more quickly when you call in person.

Commonwealth's rate is less on all loans than the maximum rate permitted by law. You do not have to be an "executive" or have a "special" credit standing to qualify for OUR reduced rate. Commonwealth's monthly rate of 2½% on loan balances of $150 or less and only 2% on loan balances above applies to ALL TYPES AND CLASSES OF LOANS. Any one who can qualify for a loan can borrow here; there is no discrimination. EVERYBODY GETS THIS SAME RATE. Of course, persons whose incomes are above average can afford to make larger payments and thus make substantial reductions in their loan cost.

No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. Applications received by personal call, letter, or telephone will receive immediate attention.

Can You Set Aside $1.34 to $1.52 Per Week FOR A $100 LOAN?

That's actually all you need to pay off in full a $100 cash loan, including all charges on a 20 month loan at Personal Finance Company. And we take no wage assignment.

$1.34 a week on the average is all you need to set aside for every $100 borrowed on Personal's new amazing "Special" loan plan of only 1¾% per month on the actual balance owed. This plan is for persons with a steady income or salary sufficient to meet payments promptly without undue credit strain and a good credit record. You don't need co-makers, life insurance or bankable securities.

For persons without established credit and employment ratings and who wish to carry a loan larger than 8 to 12% of annual salary or income, Personal offers its "Regular" loan plan. On this plan an average of $1.52 set aside per week takes care of everything on a $100 loan—the charge is based on 3% monthly on unpaid balances of $100 and less, and 2% monthly on unpaid balances over $100.

Loans up to $300 on either plan on your personal note, or with furniture or auto. Co-maker loans are also available on "Regular" plan. Seize this opportunity to save on loan costs. Come in or telephone today.
